

SMALL HOUSE PRODUCTION IS PARLEY TOPIC

Private Interests Get Support of Delegates

(I.N.S.) The "small house" was thoroughly looked into today by delegates attending the local residential construction conference being sponsored by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Five speakers went into ramifications of small house construction from viewpoints ranging through market stimulation, real estate taxation, determination of need for small houses, and the problem of local civic bodies stimulating construction of small houses.

BACKS PRIVATE WORK

Wilson Compton, manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, inferentially attacked Government enterprise in small housing, and contended private interests can provide modest homes as cheaply as Government.

State laws establishing maximum limits for real estate taxation were urged by John Mowbray, of Baltimore, chairman of the housing committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Howard Whipple Green, director, Real Property Inventory of Metropolitan Cleveland, gave the delegates a detailed description of Cleveland's experience in determining housing need.

HITS HOMESTEADERS

The Government was advised to "discontinue and get out of those unsound, unwise and unsuccessful ventures such as subsistence homestead, Greenbelts, Tugwell-towns and PWA apartments" if private enterprise is to successfully undertake a boost in small housing activities by Gerrish Gassaway, secretary of the Wilmington (Del.) Chamber of Commerce.

Gassaway also struck out at labor for permitting internecine and factional strife which makes private capital afraid to enter the housing field.

Greenslade, who previously had been promoted to a vice admiralty with command of the entire battleship force.

Rear Admiral Charles A. Blakeley was detached as commander of Carrier Division 2 and assigned to command the aircraft scout force, with the additional duty of commanding Patrol Wing No. 1. Admiral Blakeley succeeded Rear Admiral E. J. King in the new assignment.

Illicit Still Costs

Farmer Property

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (I.N.S.).—Because G-men found an illicit still, John Jursich lost a 150-acre farm, valued at $18,000, today. Jursich did not own the still, but his tenant did. So the Federal Court jury returned a verdict in favor of the Government in its condemnation proceedings.

Typical CCC Boys "On The March"

TYPICAL of the Civilian Conservation Corps workers in the camps along the Skyline Drive in Shenandoah National Park, where scores of the boys are reported to have deserted or gone on strike, are these youths pictured "on the march" from the mountains to Luray, Va. To this community the youths come for recreation during their time off. The youths shown have no connection with the desertions.

deserted in a group, refusing to work.

CAMP 2. Eight men given dishonorable discharges for desertion and refusal to work.

The bulk of the deserters and malcontents are from Pennsylvania, officers said, most of them from either Scranton or Philadelphia, youths who were only recruited into the CCC last month.

Included among them were many troublemakers, the camp commanders said, who had enlisted apparently under the impression they were going to a Southern resort for the winter.

When they arrived to find snow and ice and plenty of work the trouble started. At Camp 10 a group of 20 refused to work. One of the youths informed the commander:

"Up where I come from no one of my class works with a pick and shovel and I don't intend to start."

Another told the captain: "Why should I work? My mother is on relief, and she will support me."

Capt. R. S. Lawson, Naval Reserve officer in command of the camp, pleaded with the youths to live up to their enlistment oaths and return to work. But they refused, and he was forced to discharge the entire group for insubordination.

The desertion at Camp 12, known as Camp Byrd, was followed by serious consequences. Some of the deserters informed their families they had left because there were riots in the camp.

Indignant parents complained to authorities, and heavily armed officers were rushed to the camp.

preparing to call out troops if necessary to restore order.

Arrived there, they found the camp in perfect order, with no rioting and no trouble after the malcontents had "gone over the hill" and deserted.

The strike yesterday came when the food truck from Camp 10 had gone out taking lunch to the youths working on the road.

The lunch menu yesterday was pork and beans, stewed corn, lettuce salad, bread and jam and coffee.

One of the strikers asserted that in another camp where he had served, the men were returned as far as 10 miles in trucks for their lunch.

To this Captain Lawson replied: "What is done in other camps does not apply here. You men must live up to the regulations of this camp, or you must get out. We can not have shirkers and trouble makers here. Any valid complaint will be considered. But orders must be obeyed. You must make your decision. Return to work and live up to camp regulations or leave here."

The majority of the men in the camps are disgusted with the mutineers, who they brand as "quitters who can't take it."

Some of the youths have been in the camps for two years or more, and they scoff at the claims of the mutineers that the food is insufficient and of poor quality.

2 NAVY OFFICERS MOVED DOWN ON PROMOTION LIST

Action Result of Neglect in Grounding Ship

(I.N.S.) Capt. Howard B. Mcleary, commanding officer of the cruiser Omaha, and Lieut. Comdr. Edgar R. Winckler, the ship's navigator, today were placed far down on the Navy's promotion lists for negligence in causing the cruiser to run aground in the Bahamas in July.

SWANSON ORDER

Upholding the verdict of the court-martial that both were guilty of neglect of duty, Secretary of the Navy Swanson ordered that Mcleary's name be reduced 25 numbers on the promotion list for officers of his rank, or almost to the end, and Winckler's name be dropped 75 numbers or to about the center of the list.

HEAVY DAMAGE

In running aground the cruiser suffered damage costing $200,000, the Navy Department said.

It happened to me

—maybe, I was lucky.

It happened this way: I found myself in a run-down condition... I was listless... despondent... my appetite was lagging... I was losing weight. I wasn't desperate, as I knew I had no organic trouble... but I was puzzled as to why I was losing ground.

I was lucky because a friend suggested that I try S.S.S. Tonic... she said it had greatly benefited her in building back her strength and now she felt like her old self again.

An interesting fact about S.S.S. Tonic is that 47.2% of those who take it, do so upon the recommendation of others who have themselves benefited by taking this great tonic.

There is a special reason why S.S.S. Tonic is beneficial in helping people get back their health... because it contains the precious mineral elements so vitally necessary for restoring deficient red-blood-cells. Moreover, S.S.S. Tonic whets the appetite and improves digestion, making for better use of food—a very important step back to health.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to maintain your red-blood-cells... to restore lost weight... to regain energy... to strengthen nerves... and to give your skin that natural health glow.

Take the S.S.S. Tonic treatment and shortly you should be delighted with the way you feel... and have your friends compliment you on the way you look.

At all drug stores in two convenient sizes. The larger size at a saving in price. There is no substitute for this time tested remedy. No ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good."
