REPORT LINER SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The SS liner Clonitinas of 3,870 tons, has been sunk, presumably by a German submarine, according to dispatches received here today. Fifty of her passengers and crew are reported to have been saved and are being brought to shore.

No information regarding the reported sinking of the Clonitinas has been received by the State Department. Nor is it known whether any Americans were aboard the liner.

Armenians Herded In Gallipoli's Trenches To Stop the Allies

Artillery of Turks in Deporting Thousands From

In Asia Minor to Slaughter at Dardanelles

Moves American Ambassador to Action

Hundreds of Families Slaughtered.

BY KENNETH WOOD

DEDICATION, Bulgaria, July 29 (Dedicated)—Arms that fired the encounters of Abdul Hamid are being inflicted on the 2,000,000 Armenians in Turkey by the Young Turk government. Official claims in Turkey are using every possible means to prevent the news reaching the outside world. I have come here from Constantinople to cable a story of conditions as they were told me by sources in the Ottoman capital whose reliability cannot be questioned.

Thousands of Armenians have been deported from their homes in Asia Minor. The women and children, and their families broken up. Young Armenians have been hurriedly drafted into the army and shipped to Gallipoli Peninsula to make up a naval defense of the Dardanelles. Wives, mothers, and young children have been left behind in the streets or transported to事宜 cities and abandoned to the mercy of the Ottoman police.

MIGHT LEAD TO REBELLION.

This situation, according to my sources, is making for a rebellion in the future. The government's policy in dealing with the Armenians is not only a violation of the pledge given the Allies but a breach of the convention agreed to by the United States in 1918. It is reviving the memories of the massacre of 1915.

It is possible that the Turks may attempt to deprive the Armenians of their property and the result may lead to a rebellion.
