

Clubwomen Defer Stand On Polio Vaccine Issue

By a Star Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The General Federation of Women's Clubs voted today to recommit a resolution growing out of concern over the polio vaccine situation after a number of delegates expressed the fear it would be interpreted as a criticism of the vaccine and the medical profession.

The vote was taken on the motion of Mrs. William Dick Spörberg of New York, who said she thought delegates were "emotionally upset" and not in a position to decide on a suitable resolution at their annual meeting here.

The original resolution deplored "premature announcement of medical discoveries" and demanded that "research scientists, manufacturers, distributors and the governmental agencies concerned work together untiringly in order to exercise every possible means to assure a safe, effective plan of use of medical discoveries." Failure to do so, it charged, brings confusion, lack of confidence and heartbreak to the families of America.

G. O. P. Biased, Butler Charges

By the Associated Press
Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said last night the Eisenhower administration is bringing "partisan political bias" to traditionally bipartisan Government agencies.

Mr. Butler told a meeting of the Young Democrats of the District of Columbia that the regulatory commissions created to regulate business in the public interest "are fast coming under the dominant influence of business and financial interests, contrary to the laws of Congress which created them."

He cited a recent statement by George C. McConaughy, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, as what he called "the most recent example of partisanship in the wrong place."

He said Mr. McConaughy urged members of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters to "bend every effort to have President Eisenhower address you for the next five succeeding years." Mr. McConaughy spoke to the association after an address by Mr. Eisenhower.

"The broadcasters," Mr. Butler said, "cannot stay in business without the licenses granted by the commission Mr. McConaughy heads."

ignored. "While your attention was riveted on Europe, you woke up to find that Russia had conquered China."

He urged that it not be forgotten that Lenin wrote that the road to London and Paris is through Peking and Calcutta, meaning, Gen. Romulo went on, that Soviet Russia, to conquer the world, first must conquer Asia.

Eugene M. Zuckert, a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission, urged today that this country must work "to make a full scale nuclear war impossible."

Mr. Zuckert told the assembly this should be done both because of the great and increasing potential destructiveness of modern weapons and because atomic energy promises "the world's first world-wide industrial and economic revolution."

vaccine was a statement that announcements "comparable in importance to that of the discovery of the Salk polio vaccine formula with its inestimable values" may be expected at any moment from research programs in the fields of cause, prevention and cure of diseases.

The action on the resolution, automatically defers it to the next board meeting in January.

Gen. Carlos Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United Nations, in addressing the General Federation's convention last night, told the clubwomen that grave events that affect their lives are taking place in Asia.

He said Asia has too long been
