Tollefson of Washington, regular third baseman. This decision was greeted with enthusiasm.

But there was a catch in this situation, which was pointed out to the co-managers by a representative of The Star.

"Who." it was asked "will decide whether Davis shall be taken out of the box if he weakens or who will replace Tollefson if he bobbles a couple of easy chances at third?"

"That," they agreed, "is a good question."

They withdrew for a two-man caucus and returned to report a plan.

Tollefson, acting as spokesman declared:

"We ove that lovely lady a lot," ommented Davis. "Sometime we should do something nice for her."

Preceding the game, there will be a variety of interesting activities. There is no other show one earth like it.

Tickets are on sale at the Capitol by members of the Congressional Secretaries' Club and at the business counter in the loby of The Star Building. Mail orders will be filled from Room 720 in The Star Building. Prices are $1, $1.50 and $2.50.
