Points for Parents By Edyth Thomas Wallace

Good behavior, as the result of an inner willingness, is more to be desired than is that obtained by threats of punishment.

Mother—If you are a bad boy while your grandfather is here, I'm going to whip you after he goes home.

Mother—I am counting on you to help daddy and me make grandfather's visit at our home a very happy one.

Traveler Stranded Here With 13 Dogs, 2 Children

Kurt Mayer was stranded in Washington last night when his car broke down. So were nine great danes he was chauffeuring, three Mexican hairless, one Weimaraner and two children.

The Animal Rescue League rescued the pooches; Traveler's Aid aided the humans.

The problem of getting all those great danes into one automobile was greatly lessened by the fact that eight of them are puppies. They were born somewhere "between towns," Mr. Mayer said, and their mother died in childbirth.

They have been riding with the Weimaraner as wet nurse. The danes' father, Astor Vomhauskuhn, a spotted giant, is also along for the ride.

The doggy travels of Mr. Mayer and two of his children, Marie, 9, and Pat, 7, began a month ago in San Francisco, he said. Bad luck all the way, with car breakdowns, flat tires and one thing and another. Their destination is Greensboro, Vt.

He hopes, if expected funds arrive tomorrow, to move on toward Greensboro, where he will operate a resort, he said.

The animals ride in the back of the station wagon, on a set of mattresses, except for two of the hairless, who travel up front with the family.

Mr. Mayer raises the dogs as a sideline. Those aboard are not for sale; they're his breeding stock.

His wife and another child, Larry, 4, are on their way to Vermont by bus.
