

The Vice President presided at the commencement from the Secretary of War relative to the acquisition of sites for coast defenses, with an accompanying bill. Referred to Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Morton offered a resolution requesting the President to communicate to the Senate the names of the officers of the United States Army, by whom assigned; their costs by whom incurred; and their present condition.

Mr. Murray called up a bill to abolish the Franking privilege, a question being on the amendment. Mr. Murray offered a resolution to allow newspaper exchanges to go free of postage.

Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, said this bill had come from the House through with much haste, and with some heat. No bill of this importance should be passed without careful consideration.

Mr. Morrill said that he had no objection to the bill, but that he had some amendments. He proposed to amend the bill so as to allow the Secretary of War to make such regulations as he might think proper.
