

Success Shorthand Again a Winner

National Champion Writes Success (Pitmanic) Shorthand

G. A. MARSHALL, of New York, Graduate of Chicago Success Shorthand School. Winner of national speed contest, open to writers of all systems, held at Denver, with a net average speed of

268 WORDS A MINUTE
for 5 consecutive minutes, exceeding by 98 words a minute record made at Commercial Teachers' Convention, in this city, in April, 1910.

Success Shorthand is a full, modernized, practical shorthand, combining the best sanctioned Pitmanic contracting principles of the twentieth century with the feature of writing strictly according to clearly defined principles, and the elimination of "arbitraryisms," writing all outlines of whatsoever length strictly in the positions of the accented vowels; and securing the greatest possible advantages of speed and legibility.

Success Shorthand Is Best Because

It Is the Most Thorough—

"Success" lessons are in loose leaf form, and students are not given a new lesson until they have completely mastered the old. "Success" is not an easy-going, 30-day system. The best method of individual instruction is used exclusively.

It Is the Most Practical—

"Success" lessons were compiled and edited by Frank R. Hanna and W. L. James, reporters of long experience and national reputation, and the system is taught in Washington by shorthand reporters. No time nor energy wasted; all effort directed to the mastery of the best practical shorthand.

It Is Best Adapted to Modern Needs—

The graduate in "Success" shorthand has a system which is easily adaptable to either the most intricate commercial or professional correspondence, or the most rapid and difficult verbatim reporting.

It Is Indorsed by Expert Reporters Everywhere—

The President of the National Shorthand Reporters' Association says: "It is the best in method, arrangement, and results and is easily grasped." 180 expert reporters were graduated from the Chicago "Success" school in five years.

Success Shorthand taught in Washington only at
