

THE STEAMSHIP URANIUM FAST ON THE ROCKS OFF CHEBUCTO HEAD.

When the liner stranded as she was seeking to enter Halifax Harbor in a fog on Sunday last she had 839 passengers on board, all of whom were taken off safely; most of them later came to New York. The liner is so far in that it seems almost possible to jump ashore.

out of the state and arrested him in order to bring him back. The legal and proper attempt to subpoena Sipp is called an attempt to rescue him from the District Attorney. These false newspaper tips are being given out by public officials. The surprise to me is that newspapers swallow them so eagerly and quickly...

When the Mayor's statement was shown to District Attorney Whitman, with a request for his comment upon it, he dictated the following: Had Mr. Sipp been brought back to New York under indictment for the crime which the police charged he had committed, he would have been so thoroughly discredited that his testimony against Fox would have been worthless...

I hold no brief for Mr. Sipp. He may or may not have been guilty of some of those crimes which have been charged against him for police protection. But the fact remains that it was not until after the four years ago that he was known to be an important witness for the people against a police officer...

Not Hampered by Mayor. Mayor Gaynor's latest attempt to discredit the activities of the District Attorney's office did not hamper that force in its preparatory work to any noticeable extent yesterday. By reports from his investigators, as well as by personal complaints and letters...

Two lawyers who have been concerned in the Sipp case, from different angles, are in imminent danger of indictment under Section 2,440 of the penal law. That section provides that "a person who gives or promises to give to any witness or any person about to be called as a witness any bribe" is guilty of a felony...

High Police Officers in Danger. The police end of the combination "ring," which numbers among its most active members at present an inspector, a captain and a former inspector now holding a captaincy, is also in danger of indictment for conspiracy in addition to the graft charges. Conspiracy charges may be laid against these po-

ASK WILSON TO PUT NEW YORKER IN CABINET

Senator Roosevelt and Committee Back Thomas F. Conway for Attorney General.

Senator Roosevelt and Committee Back Thomas F. Conway for Attorney General. Eight days before his arrest, Sipp said, a lawyer came to him at the Continental Hotel, in Newark, and told him $250 "had been supplied" and $500 more was coming if he would take a trip South...

At that time, Sipp says, he was willing to "go South" for the sake of protecting his friends in the Police Department. The scheme was that he was to take the Merchants and Miners boat from Philadelphia to Tampa, Fla., but just as he was about to follow out the arrangement he was "tipped off" that the police had planned to "double-cross" him...

At the same time, Sipp said, a lawyer appeared at the Newark hotel with an affidavit for Howard Sipp to sign. The two Sipp's examined the paper, and found it was to the effect that Howard had never paid or witnessed his father's paying any money to Fox. Young Sipp refused to sign.

The purpose was, of course, said Sipp, "to destroy Howard's value as a corroborative witness, and it was from that moment that I began to be suspicious that the police would go to almost any length to discredit me in any way they could."

Says Fox Knows Who "Got It." The former Harlem hotelkeeper asserted that Fox could tell exactly where the graft money that he collected went to, and for that reason, he added, the "system" was panic-stricken since Fox has been put under actual arrest and indictment.

DOUBLE HEARTS IN FOUR Mother and Three Children Nature Freaks. (By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Easton, Penn., Jan. 16.—A case of remarkable interest to medical men discovered here is that of a mother and her three children, all with double hearts...

Dr. James A. Morgenstern, who was called to the home of Berton Perkins to attend a child with chickenpox, made the discovery. He was amazed when he listened to the heart sounds. He first found a heart on the right side and further examination disclosed one on the left side also...

WILSON PUTS FOOT ON INAUGURAL BALL

Gov. After Careful Study, Decides to Save Uncle Sam $95,000.

Gov. After Careful Study, Decides to Save Uncle Sam $95,000. Governor Wilson disapproves of the "inaugural ball," he said, "there is no doubt that Congress will pay serious heed to the suggestion, and the entire plan probably will be abandoned..."

President-Elect Astonished at the Cost, He Holds It Is a Public Duty to Stop Them. President-elect Wilson took his request for a simple inauguration into his own hands to-day when, in a letter to William Corcoran Kustis, chairman of the inaugural committee...

Want New Yorker in Cabinet. We came here to confer with President-elect Wilson in regard to the representation of New York State in his Cabinet. We believe that its population and important interests entitle it to consideration...

Each member of the committee was willing to allow the impression to go forth that Governor Sulzer approved of Mr. Conway's selection, although none of them would say very much on the subject. The committee expressed itself as pleased with the reception the President-elect gave to Mr. Conway's name...

CAPITAL WANTS ITS BALL. Wilson's Decision Causes Contention in Washington. Washington, Jan. 16.—President-elect Wilson's decision that an inaugural ball is inconsistent with the idea of Jeffersonian simplicity was received in Washington with much consternation on the part of the local inaugural committee...

Representative Robert L. Henry, of Texas, and Robert H. Brownson, of Louisiana, were among the President-elect's visitors to-day. Both came on the invitation of Mr. Wilson, and while neither of them would say what was discussed, the President-elect said he had talked over the special session with Mr. Henry and the retention of the Commerce Court with Mr. Broussard.

Representative Morris Sheppard, chairman of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and author of the customary resolution to permit the use of the Pension Building for ballroom purposes, announced that his committee would proceed to-morrow with the previously arranged hearing at which members of the inaugural committee intended to appear in support of the plan to convert the Pension Office into a temporary ballroom.

O'Gorman and Sulzer, It Is Said, Favor Former Lieut. Gov. — Wilson May Keep Taft's Commerce Court. Mr. Conway's name was presented to President-elect Wilson this afternoon for consideration in regard to this most important post, and it had the backing of most of the prominent New York upstate Democrats...

It is not known whether or not Senator O'Gorman formally endorsed the name of Mr. Conway at his recent conference here with President-elect Wilson, but it is known that the Senator from New York was the one who arranged with the President-elect for the visit of the committee which to-day presented Mr. Conway's name.

Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt, of Dutchess County, who was one of the leaders in the fight against Sheehan, which resulted in the election of Mr. O'Gorman to the United States Senate, was a member of to-day's delegation. The other members were Senator Loren F. White, of Schenectady; ex-Senator George R. Hurd, of Buffalo, and Judge John R. Riley, of Plattsburgh...

While the omission of the inaugural ball will no doubt cause a good many heartburnings in Washington society, the federal government will be some $95,000 ahead as a result. About ten days ago James I. Davenport, the Pension Commissioner, made public some statistics he had gathered in regard to holding the ball in the Pension Building...

NEARER THE PERFECT MAN Six Years Added to Life, Too, Says Dr. Wainwright.

NEARER THE PERFECT MAN Six Years Added to Life, Too, Says Dr. Wainwright. Man is handsome, better housed, fed and clothed, more charitable and is more rarely assailed with gout than in "ye olden times," according to Dr. John W. Wainwright, in "The American Practitioner," out to-day. In fact, man has had on an average of six years added to his life in the last century.

"No doubt the stress and strain of life to-day are conducive to nervous complaints," says Dr. Wainwright, "as well as to arterial, cardiac and gastrointestinal disturbances. And yet with all of this hurry one is amazed at the outward calm, the poise, of the man of affairs to-day."

"Wives and children are better cared for, better educated, dressed, entertained, are healthier, happier, more beautiful than in the history of the world as we know it," the writer asserts.

E. PRENTISS BAILEY DEAD. Dean of Newspaper Fraternity of New York State. Eton, N. Y., Jan. 17.—E. Prentiss Bailey, L.L.D., dean of the newspaper fraternity in New York State, died about 1 o'clock this morning at his home in this city. He had been out of health for some time and semi-conscious for nearly two weeks.

Mr. Bailey was editor of "The Utica Daily Observer," and last month completed fifty-nine years of service with that paper. He was one of the foremost Democrats of the state, a close friend of ex-President Cleveland and twice named postmaster of Utica. In 1886 he was named by President Cleveland as a commissioner to inspect the portion of the Northern Pacific Railroad in Washington Territory. For four years, beginning with 1887, he was president of the New York State Associated Press.

In 1882 he was appointed a State Civil Service Commissioner and was president of the board resigning upon the inauguration of Governor Morton, January 1, 1882. In 1883 he received the degree of L.L.D. from St. John's College, Fordham. Mr. Bailey was born in Manlius, N. Y., August 15, 1854. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

Need of Light and Air. "There are two reasons for keeping windows clean; they look better and they let the sunlight in. As to ventilation, it is well to have the shade fasteners six inches below the top of the window, then the window can be down without making the shade flap, which is always a nuisance."

DON'TS AND MUST NOTS FILL HYGIENIC FLAT

DON'TS AND MUST NOTS FILL HYGIENIC FLAT. "Household Sanitation." Dr. Riegleman talked about the kitchen and cellar, Dr. Young about the living-rooms and Dr. Shively about sleeping-rooms and the bath. Dr. Magy was chairman. Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the Housewives' League, was on the platform, and after the four doctors had exhausted themselves talking about how all wall surfaces ought to be smooth and unornamented, so as not to catch the dust, she stood up and glanced at the walls of the room in which the meeting was held. The few square feet that were not covered with portraits in fluted frames were decorated with ornate moldings.

"The women folks know more about that," he said. "What does a lone secretary of a county medical society know about living rooms? Still, a doctor does go into a room many times. And what strikes me in the most of them is the number of useless things they contain. I recall one in which there were, I estimated, five hundred pieces of bric-a-brac; heavy carpets on the floor and rich draperies shutting the sunlight out from the windows. Why, the word hygiene would have died on the tip of your tongue in that room."

The three essentials of a living room are fresh air, sunlight and cleanliness. However, a hospital room has those, and you wouldn't want to live there. A living room must also be so pleasant that you feel more at home in it than anywhere else in the world. Have a few pieces of furniture—the best your purse will afford; hardwood floors, or, if not hardwood, stain them; rugs that can be easily cleaned. In close your books in glass; I didn't used to think that necessary, but I do now.

Always remember when you start to buy bric-a-brac that if that bric-a-brac isn't kept clean it is a menace to health, and if it is kept clean it takes a lot of somebody's time.

Nothing authentic could be learned last night regarding the number of passengers on the steamship Uranium, which went on the rocks off the coast of Nova Scotia last Sunday morning, arrived yesterday at the Grand Central Terminal. A trainload of 255, most of them third class passengers, came in a little after noon.

JEWISH REPORTERS STRIKE

JEWISH REPORTERS STRIKE. Four Principal Daily Papers Affected by Walkout. Members of the New York Jewish Writers' Union, No. 4, chartered by the International Typographical Union, composed principally of writers on the four leading Jewish dailies, "Warnet," "Forward," "The Jewish Morning Journal" and "The Jewish Daily News," struck yesterday, demanding a minimum wage of $25 for a week of six working days, a maximum of three columns daily for each man, recognition of the union, and that "no man shall be discharged without good and sufficient reason."

About one hundred men and one woman were included in the strikers. Max Pine, of "The Forward," said last night that, while he could not give in at present, he was in accord with the strikers' views. Abraham Cahon, one of the editors of the paper, is not an antagonist of labor unions, but he maintains that mental workers cannot be governed by the same rules that regulate manual laborers.

Second and Perhaps Last Trainload from Uranium Arrive. The second consignment of passengers from the steamship Uranium, which went on the rocks off the coast of Nova Scotia last Sunday morning, arrived yesterday at the Grand Central Terminal. A trainload of 255, most of them third class passengers, came in a little after noon.
