Boys Left in Charge of Photograph Gallery, in Hoboken, Suggest Mock Fight to Amuse Spectators.

William Dato, eighteen years old, son of Joseph Dato, proprietor of a photograph studio, at No. 301 Madison street, Hoboken, was shot and killed in that city last evening by Samuel Lonsette, eighteen years old, of No. 615 Monroe street, that city, as the result of a friendly duel.

Photographers Barred

Rigid preparations were made to curb any undue appearance of curiosity at the pier. The order issued by the steamship line that no cameras should be allowed on the France during her trip up the bay was enforced, one camera being taken from a photographer who attempted to smuggle it to the dock.
