Mrs. Hoover Attends Morning Musical, Vice President Host to President and First Lady Last Night.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt came to the Barnsdall Opera House last night, where Sir George Grosz's painting of the District of Columbia was on exhibition. President Roosevelt's speech was a masterful tribute to the Stationery and Exhibition of the Arts Committee, the committee responsible for the exhibition. The President praised the committee's work and expressed his gratitude for their contributions.

Mrs. Roosevelt also delivered a speech, highlighting the importance of art in society and the role of the arts in promoting national pride. She thanked the committee for their efforts and encouraged the public to support the arts.

The event was well-attended, with many prominent figures in attendance. The evening concluded with a reception, providing an opportunity for guests to mingle and discuss the arts.

Mrs. Roosevelt's speech was met with enthusiasm, and the event was considered a success. The committee will continue to work on future projects, with the goal of promoting the arts and culture in the nation.
