

MILLER FAVORS A STATE FORCE OF DRY SLEUTHS

Believes Prohibition Law Should Be Upheld by New York's Own Men.

FOUR TOWNS HEAR HIM

Farmers Turn Out in Large Numbers, as Do Women Voters Up-State.

PRICE FIXING ASSAILED

Nominee Indorses Cooperation Among Agriculturists Similar to Citrus Growers.

By a Staff Correspondent of THE HERALD. GENEVA, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Former Judge Nathan L. Miller has put a new prohibition plank into the platform upon which he is running for Governor on the Republican ticket. After his recent announcement in New York that he is out and out for enforcement of the prohibition amendment, he tied an audience here to-night that one of his first acts if elected would be to call upon the Legislature to enact a State prohibition enforcement law.

He contended that since the Supreme Court has upheld the prohibition amendment, it should be enforced, and that the State of New York is not willing to have the enforcement of that law within her confines placed in the hands of an army of Federal agents.

Judge Miller said he does not believe Federal enforcement is the most efficient means, and that the enforcement of a sumptuary law such as this should be enforced by the peace officers of the State and not left to the Federal Government. Judge Miller swept by automobile to-day through a country of wonderful farms, and met and talked to farmers about their problems and what the State may be able to do for them. Because it was Saturday most of the farmers combined the opportunity to do their week end trading and hear the candidate.

Judge Miller spoke at Canaan, Canaan, Waterloo and Seneca Falls this afternoon and addressed a big audience at Geneva to-night. He was greeted by parades and brass bands everywhere, and up in Ontario county the old John Raines quartet, composed of Judge Bob Thompson, his brother Harry, Charlie Beardsley and Judge Harry Duncan, which made ripples famous in those parts fifteen years or more ago, hash reorganized and is whooping things up for what up-State Republicans declare will be one of the biggest Republican victories the State ever saw.

Harding Picture Up Everywhere.

It was a significant fact that as Judge Miller's automobile sped through villages and past farmhouses nearly every window had a picture of Senator Harding and Judge Miller displayed as service flags used to be during the war. Judge Miller told the farmers his views upon their problems and raked Gov. Smith's agricultural programme fore and aft.

"Gov. Smith's programme on agriculture, in so far as I have been able to discover such a thing," said Judge Miller, "is to Tammanize the State Department of Agriculture, to kill the State taking the department out of politics and to fix the prices of farmers' products. I am against fixing the prices of farmers' products, or anybody else's products."

"The first thing to be done, it seems to me, is to stimulate cooperation among the farmers, so that they may hold their crops for gradual distribution on a stable market, thus getting better prices for themselves and helping to give food to the consumer at more reasonable figures."

"A statute passed by a Republican Legislature legalizes the establishment of farmers' cooperative societies. We must develop these societies not only for greater production but to facilitate marketing. The plan may be difficult, but there is no reason for failure to undertake it. The thing can be done. The citrus fruit growers of California, for instance, have demonstrated that. Their industry is stabilized for a market that includes the whole United States."

Through the work of their organizations they get better prices and the consumers pay less.

Better Transportation Needed.

"To assist in the development of such a movement we must have improved transportation and terminal facilities so that the great waste can be cut to a minimum. Particularly must terminal facilities be improved at New York and cheaper means of distribution devised there, for that is the greatest market for your farmers and it is where the consumer needs help."

"When I become Governor of this State I purpose to employ the best brains available to study this situation and work out and execute the best solution that can be found."

The meetings were attended not only by farmers but by the business and working men of the communities. A notable feature throughout the Judge's upstate trip has been the large number of women who have attended. The women's Republican committee of Ontario county met Judge Miller and gave him a reception at Canandaigua at noon to-day.

The Republican nominee did not confine himself to the farmers' problems, but discussed other State questions, and stressed the national issues. His argument against the Wilson League of Nations covenant, his exhortation of the Democratic "carnival of waste" at Washington and the mounting expenditures of the State government drew warm approval.

Other speakers appearing with Judge Miller to-day were Secretary of State Hugo, who is speaking in Judge Miller's behalf; Jacob Wendell, Republican nominee for State Comptroller, and Representative Norman Gould, who is standing for reelection in the Thirty-sixth Congress district, through which Judge Miller's battle route lay today. Judge Miller will pass Sunday at his home in Syracuse and will speak in Rome Monday.

MARINES ROUT BANDITS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Another encounter between American marines and Haitian bandits occurred about ten days ago and resulted in the death of the bandit chief and the complete rout of his forces, according to a report received by the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Harry S. Knapp. Admiral Knapp recently was sent to Haiti at the request of the State Department to investigate conditions there.

75,000 FLIERS URGE WOMEN TO REGISTER

Old Suffrage Party, Now Non-Partisan League, Begins Enrollment Drive.

Seventy-five thousand registration fliers will be distributed, beginning to-morrow, by the League of Women Voters. This organization, formerly the Woman Suffrage Party, is non-partisan and its workers will help all the political parties to get the new voters out to perform their national and State obligations.

The fliers have at the top this appeal: "Women, your country needs your vote. You must register to vote."

Then follow the registration days, which are October 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, from 5 P. M. to 10:30 P. M., and October 9 from 7 A. M. to 10:30 P. M. Any information desired will be given readily by members of the league at their headquarters, 37 West Thirty-ninth street.

Among the settlements which are cooperating in this work are Hartley House, Union Hill and Lenox Hill. They will distribute fliers. The Girls Friendly Aid, the Y. W. C. A. and the Vacation Association also have agreed to help. The members of the civics classes at the Washington Irving High School will receive 2,000 fliers to take home to their mothers. Teachers College and other schools and colleges as well as churches have agreed to cooperate in this work.

Ministers have offered to see that notices of registration are given out from the pulpit to-day and to permit the use of their parish halls as distribution centres. Several of the big department stores have taken large numbers of the fliers to give to their women employees. The League of Women Voters will circularize the women's clubs in various districts and have notices posted in tea rooms and other gathering places.

Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany, Manhattan Borough chairman of the league, is supplying registration slides to motion picture theatres. At some of the theatres women will give brief talks on voting as a duty of good citizenship.

The speakers' bureau will send out a number of political instructors and lecturers. They will address hospital nurses and training schools, settlement clubs, telephone operators and various social and religious gatherings.

MERCHANTS FOR HARDING.

Uptown Dry Goods Association Supports G. O. P. Nominee.

The Uptown Dry Goods Association, 354 Fourth avenue, which has been active in every Presidential election for the last quarter century, are contributing $22,000 to the Republican campaign chest in 1916, is actively campaigning for the election of Senator

Harding and Gov. Coolidge. The association is made up of men in the wool, cotton and silk industry.

A special committee is now making arrangements to have a delegation of 2,000 march in the Harding parade to be held October 25 by the Business Men's Republican Association.

HELD AS BANK ROBBER.

Man Said to Have Received $3,000 From Accomplice.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 2.—Elwood J. Baird of Holyoke was arrested here today charged with complicity in the theft of $10,000 from the West Side State Bank of Denver, for which Arthur Cahill, a former teller in the bank, was arrested in Plattsburg, N. Y. Baird and Cahill, the police say, were together in service during the war and after the robbery of the bank last July Cahill came to Holyoke in August, where he gave Baird $3,000. Private detectives have since been trailing Baird in this vicinity, assisted by the police.

Her Trousseau Costumes

need not be restricted to this carefully chosen but necessarily limited list. There is endless scope and variety in our large assortments.

A Misses' Suit of Navy Blue Velour de Laine has all the distinction a bride could wish her going-away costume to have. The youthful box coat has an all-over blocked design of fancy stitching. A large collar of Australian opossum adds warmth and becomingness, besides harmonizing prettily with the silver gray satin lining of the coat. Other suits of individual styling for women and misses are obtainable at this price—our reg. $95.50 85.00

A Sport Suit is immensely smart and practical for traveling and for morning wear. New ones of plain chevot or plain tone mixtures—come in this season's shades of blue and brown, and are stunningly tailored in straight or belted styles. There is a good variety of styles, including tweeds for women and misses—our regular $52.75 42.50

A Tricotine Dress, by all means, agrees the bride-to-be. We suggest a novelty dress of fine navy blue tricotine with fascinating motifs of roses embroidered in red beads. Another style with eyelet embroidery is also delightful—Special 53.50

A Satin Afternoon Dress is also suitable for informal dinner and theatre wear. A recent model which may be had in brown, navy or black has striking side panels of embroidery in Oriental design, giving handsome color to the dress—our regular $54.75 47.50

A Separate Skirt is an indispensable part of the winter's style. One of real individuality is of plaid wool in the new Oriental blue and drayd shades. Front and back are knifeplicated and sides show a bias arrangement of the plaids—our regular $26.97 22.50

A Wrap Coat of sumptuous beauty and luxurious comfort is one of the foremost trousseaux items, and one of the newest shown is fashioned of Oriental blue chamoisette with Russian blouse back. Doiman sleeves and a large collar of dark gray squirrel—our regular $150.00 120.00

An Evening Cape Wrap for the after-wedding occasions, when she wears her wedding dress, may be chosen, lined with white satin and having a shawl collar of sealine—our regular $89.00 75.00
