The Second Regiment and the Scotch Battalion of the Sixth Regiment held picnics last Wednesday. There was a small turnout of troops in both commands.

Capt. Robert Vierling, Company E, Sixth Regiment, requests permission to take his company to Sandwich from Sept. 18 to Sept. 25, the occasion of the county fair.

The annual encampment of the New Hampshire National Guard will be by brigades this year, and the First Brigade will go into camp for four days at Concord Sept. 13.

Capt. G. M. Holmes, Company F, First Regiment, recommends the honorable discharge of Privates Joseph Beemer and Abbott Thompson, on account of business engagements.

Capt. P. E. Holcomb, Company G, Fifteenth Battalion, at Greenville, recommends the honorable discharge of Privates John C. Jones and Oscar L. Lipton, on account of removal from jurisdiction.

H. W. Mahan has been elected Captain of Company D, Ninth Battalion, at Champaign, vice J. R. Prevett, term of service expired. Sergt. Theodore N. Johnson has been elected First Lieutenant of the same company.

There is to be a regular meeting of the staff officers of the First Brigade at headquarters tonight, at which business of importance is to be brought up. It is desired particularly that every member of the staff will be there.

According to General Regimental Order No. 20, the company commanders are hereafter required to report to the Regimental Surgeon the deaths, casualties, and discharges for disability occurring in the several commands.

Capt. J. M. Martin, Company B, Fourth Regiment, at Galesburg, recommends the honorable discharge of Private Eugene Moulton, Frank Waldron, E. H. Cushion, and D. C. Willoughby, on account of removal from jurisdiction.

Private Samuel J. Shorer, Company B, First Regiment, has applied for a discharge on a surgeon's certificate of disability. The name of disposition was made with the application of Private John Graham, Company I, First Regiment.

Companies F and H, First Regiment, Capts. Holmes and Diehl, will go to Bloomington for one day, starting tomorrow night. Company H intends to compete for one of the prizes in a drill. Each will take down about thirty-two men.

Second-Lieut. James C. Miller, of Champaign, Company B, Ninth Battalion, tendered his resignation last week, but it was disapproved by regimental and brigade headquarters, and Lieut. Miller is still in the service, where he properly belongs.

Capt. William J. Laird, Company K, Third Regiment, Naperville, requests the discharge of thirteen men on account of removal, and the honorable discharge of Privates William C. Fisk and Frank Grimes, "for the good of the service."

Capt. P. E. Holcomb, Company G, Fifteen Battalion, Greenville, recommends the dishonorable discharge of Privates William K. Urbain—"a camp-lawyer, a very great disturbing element in companies"—and William W. Johnson, for the good of the service.

Maj.-Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain, commanding the First Division Maine Militia, has been directed to order an encampment of the volunteer forces at Augusta for four days, commencing Sept. 13. The First Vermont will hold its thirteenth annual encampment near Rutland, Sept. 9.

Company D of the Sixth Regiment, Capt. Foster, it is understood, will go to Bloomington to compete for one of the infantry prizes. The First Cavalry, Lieut.-Col. Weiter, and a section of artillery, Battery D, under command of Maj. Tobey, are expected to take part in the tournament at Bloomington.

It may as well be understood that no tents will be furnished to visiting companies to the reunion, as all that belong to the State are required by the Second Brigade in camp. The reunion managers and the Bloomington people have, however, agreed to see that all visiting troops are provided for.

Company K, First Regiment, Capt. Quinn, who received and entertained the Spaulding Guards in this city while the latter were on their way from Buffalo to New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras, last week received a set of resolutions of thanks handsomely engrossed, which will hereafter ornament the company room at the armory.

Capt. George W. Taylor, Company B, Sixth Regiment, recommends the honorable discharge of six privates on account of removal, and the dishonorable discharge of Privates Albert G. Webb, Michael F. Queenan, W. F. Tebbrick, William E. Gadey, Peter Miller, Arthur C. Fulton, Frank Wright, and Charles W. Emerson, for the good of the service.

Several companies of the Second Brigade are said to be drilling night and day, almost, with the hope of securing a prize at Bloomington. Among these are mentioned the Peoria Guards of Peoria and the Celestial Guards of Pekin. The members of the latter company are reported to have suspended all business, and delay drilling only long enough to procure their meals.

One platoon of D Battery, I. N. G., in command of Lieut. Stephen Atny, will leave Chicago for Bloomington, Ill., this evening at 9 p. m. via Chicago & Alton Railroad, and will go into camp for one week, attending the soldiers' reunion. All friends of the battery are cordially invited to call at the battery headquarters, Bloomington, Ill., where a hospitable welcome awaits them.

Brig.-Gen. Torrence and staff have received an invitation from Brig.-Gen. Reece to attend the encampment of the Second Brigade, to commence at Bloomington today, and last four days. It will be decided tonight whether it will be practicable to accept the invitation. All the members of the staff are desirous of going, but business may detain some, and the rest do not care about taking the trip without a full representation.

AN UNCALLED-FOR CRITICISM.

Alex C. Graham, who resigned from the Second-Lieutenancy of Company A, First Regiment, a short time ago, was made the target for severe criticism by the military writer of a certain paper, who usually goes off at a half-cock. He was accused of securing the position and then immediately resigning, and it was stated that he procured a discharge for the same reason assigned only a short time before. The facts are these: Mr. Graham was a member of Company A for nearly six years, having been one of the charter members of the First. His business then assumed such shape as to keep him from the city the greater portion of the time. In consequence of this he resigned his position of First Sergeant and obtained an honorable discharge from the service. Without his authority or acceptance he was elected Second-Lieutenant of the company, and his commission was forwarded to him before he knew that he was elected.

PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS.

If Illinois would do as much for her National Guards as Pennsylvania does for hers, the State would have a body of troops far superior to that of the Keystone State, for the reason that the rank and file is made up of better material as a class. The Second Brigade, P. N. G., went into camp Aug. 10 at Gettysburg, and, though Pennsylvania, under command of Brig.-Gen. Beaver, Judging from the report given of proceedings by the Army and Navy Journal, neither the officers nor the men could have understood their duties very well. It seems that Gen. Beaver failed to enforce discipline; his orders were obeyed at the option of the subordinates; military courtesy was a foreigner in camp; the men drilled or not, and the officers did not know their business. The rooms were inspected indiscriminately by the Assistant Adjutant-General, Colonels, and Majors, just as it happened; the roster was off, so was the guard-mount; the camp was filled with women, the men and officers ran wild at night, no police duty was done, and, all in all, it was not much of a camp, although the writer evidently did not intend to convey such an impression, but, on the contrary, called it a "success," and apologized for criticising such "little things." Would it be fair to ask what he considers large things? Or was he afraid of making himself unpopular among the troops? The troops turned out over 83 per cent of their number.

THE BURGESS CORPS,

an independent organization composed of the very best and staunchest citizens of Albany, will arrive in this city for a two-days' visit between the 7th and 12th of October, and, in view of the character of the guests and what they are entitled to at the hands of Chicago, they should be formally received and thoroughly entertained not only by the local military but by the citizens as well. The matter was brought up in the Council a short time ago, but either through an insufficient understanding or some more culpable reason the proposition was not entertained, favorably. It may not be remembered that Chicago as a city owes this celebrated military command all the courtesy that it can possibly bestow, even of the most substantial kind, but it is nevertheless true. The anniversary of the corps is the 9th of October, the same as our anniversary of the great fire. On Oct. 9, 1871, the members of this command were on the point of taking train for their annual western trip, when news came of Chicago's terrible affliction. The men assembled at their armory, held a meeting, and agreed to give up their pleasure excursion and send all the money which had been set aside for the trip to the homeless sufferers. Thousands of dollars were sent, as well as all the blankets belonging to the company, and they further volunteered to come here themselves to assist. In preserving order should this be necessary. Now, the city authorities, the citizens, and particularly the military, neglect to show their appreciation and gratitude now that they have a chance would be an exhibition of niggardly parsimony seldom heard of. The freedom of the city should be extended to the visitors, and the military commands should set about taking some concerted action to entertain the distinguished guests. It might be well to call a meeting at Brigade Headquarters of the officers of the several commands of the city and have some concerted action. The First Regiment has decided to receive the strangers formally, but it should be assisted by at least the officers of the other organizations, and the burden of entertainment should not be thrown upon one command.

THE BLOOMINGTON REUNION.

There appears to be not a little trouble in the camp of the veterans concerning the encampment at Bloomington, and the militia seems to be the indirect cause of complaint, although the reunion managers are directly charged with the blame. In making up the program there is no provision whereby the "vets" may compete for a prize without the competition being open to the line of troops, who are known to be more proficient in the drill than the old soldiers, and consequently the latter fear they will have no chance. For this reason, it is rumored, the gallant old Nineteenth will not go down as an organization. The remnant of this historic command has drilled and taken a prize at every reunion heretofore, and it is too bad to shut it out this time. But is this really a serious matter after all? Cannot the small point of discussion be amicably settled by a sort of tacit understanding between all parties interested? It seems as though it could. As it is understood, the committee is all upon one basis in the program, that which provides a prize for the best drilled company in any tactics. It is clear that it was the intention of the committee having the matter in charge to provide for the veteran organizations, and a mistake in the wording caused the whole trouble, for the National Guard drill but one tactics, and they were not in use at the time of the War. Let the matter be once fairly understood among the militiamen and not an officer or private will care to enter in competition. It is also complained that the managers in their zeal to make the reunion a stupendous success in point of numbers overstepped themselves by inviting too many National Guard troops. In other words, fears are expressed that the militia will swallow the reunion dog. It is possible that more troops have accepted the generous invitation of the managers than the latter were led to expect, and they may prove a grievous burden, unless great care is taken to prevent annoyance and ill-feeling. It is earnestly hoped that the officers and men composing the State troops will so conduct themselves as to sustain the high reputation which they now enjoy, and not cause their liberal hosts to regret having invited them to participate in their huge blow-out.

The program, so far as it will interest the militia, will be as follows: Monday, company drills and dress parade at sunset; Tuesday, 9 a. m., individual and team rifle contests begin, and will be renewed daily until completed. Wednesday morning gun guard-mount, skirmish, infantry, artillery, and cavalry, and street-fight, at 11 a. m. At 2 p. m., infantry prize drill. Thursday, at 9 a. m., a grand review of all the military and veteran organizations by his Excellency Gov. Cullom, Commander-in-Chief of the military forces of the State of Illinois, Gen. Grant, Gen. John Pope, and others, followed by a military and civic parade through the city. At 11 a. m., addresses by Gen. John A. Logan, Gen. John M. Palmer, and the poem "Vicksburg," by the Rev. C. A. Hobbs. At 3 p. m., a cavalry prize drill, and at 5 p. m., an artillery prize drill. At sunset, a dress parade, and at 7:30, bombardment of Fort Donelson, night battle, skirmish, and general assault. Friday, at 9 a. m., competitive rifle practice; at 10:15, band prize contest; at 3 p. m., grand battle, all commands, military and veteran organizations participating; at 7:30 p. m., grand contest by all the bands, and presentation of the prizes awarded. The night movements of the armies will be controlled by signals and rockets under the United States signal code. Every soldier or veteran must bring his own blanket.

The prizes will be as follows: For the best drilled company, Upton's tactics, first prize, $300; second, $100. For the best drilled company, Upton's tactics, open to any National Guardsman, first prize, gold medal, valued at $50; second prize, $30; and third prize, $10. For the best drilled cavalry company, $100. For the best drilled section of light artillery, one piece, commanded by any officer of the battery, Upton's tactics, $100. For the best reed band, $200 and $100. Best cornet band, $100 and $50—except United States Army bands. For the best United States Army band, $100. Also, prizes ranging from $30 to $5 for rifle-shooting.

Whittier Post, No. 7, G. A. R., held their final meeting to finish their arrangements for Bloomington at the Grand Pacific Hotel at 8 o'clock tonight, and, as this will be the last opportunity to enroll with the veterans so as to get the veteran rate of $1.50, all G. A. R. commanders and other veterans desiring to accompany this post are desired to report. It will be remembered that Whittier Post, accompanied by Nevins' Band, starts Tuesday evening on the 9 o'clock train, so as to be in Bloomington early in the morning of Wednesday to participate in the street fight of that forenoon, and without which no veteran will be satisfied, and also to witness the infantry prize drill Wednesday afternoon.

Commander Wilson expects to take about 100 of his post and their friends and some from other posts, who are requested to report at G. A. R. Hall, 167 Washington street, at 7 o'clock p. m. Tuesday. Leaving the hall at 8 o'clock, they march via Clark street to Adams and to the Chicago & Alton depot at Canal street, where cars will be reserved for them.

A COURT-MARTIAL ASKED FOR.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 3.—Today Thomas A. Clayton, a member of the Gate City Guards military organization of Atlanta, who a short time since was notified that he had been expelled from the company for some cause not known to him, preferred charges against J. F. Burke, the commander of the Guards. These charges were made to Governor Colquitt in writing, and Clayton asks that a court-martial be held. There are three specifications in the allegation under the general head of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman." Clayton claims that he was notified of his dismissal before he ever knew that he had violated any rules, and that he never was asked or ordered to appear before the company and answer charges of any character. The Guards, it will be remembered, worked up the reception to the military of the North and South which was held in Atlanta about a year ago. The Governor will look into the matter the coming week and decide upon the question of holding a court-martial. Clayton, when expelled, denounced Burke in the strongest terms, with the hope of getting some kind of satisfaction out of him, and, failing to do this, has instituted charges as above.

SERIOUS CUTTING AFFRAY.

Paul Thorson, who lives at No. 283 North State street, was cut four or five times in the head and body at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning in Peter Conrad's saloon, No. 304 Rush street, by Thomas Goodman, a coachman employed by Mr. O. F. Fuller, of No. 325 Dearborn avenue. The quarrel grew out of a drunken dispute as to the respective merits of the two men as drivers, and Coachman Goodman ran away and was afterwards arrested at his employer's barn. Thorson was taken to his home and attended by Dr. Henry Ogden, who says that the man's wounds are not dangerous, though they consist of a six-inch gash across the top of the head, three cuts in the left arm, one of them about six inches long, and one stab in the left side. The last is but a flesh wound, the knife having struck a rib. Goodman is locked up at the Chicago Avenue Station where he will be held to await the result of his victim's injuries.

WANTED IN KENTUCKY.

Charles Donoto, a colored convict who escaped from the Penitentiary at Frankfort, Ky., while under sentence for robbery, was recently arrested in this city by Detectives Ender and Long, and is being held at the Armory to await the arrival of officers who are to escort him back to that institution.

Garibaldi.

The Radicals in Italy are making sorry use of Garibaldi, now that he is broken down utterly and little better than an imbecile mentally. A Genoese gentleman says his popularity and name are made use of for most unworthy purposes, and he asserts that the radical and revolutionary letters to which the old hero's name is attached are not written, and but imperfectly indorsed by him. The gentleman was present at his reception in Genoa, where he was trotted out by his son-in-law, Stephen Canzio, a revolutionary leader and compatriot of the Universal Republic. He presented a terrible spectacle, thus described:

"He lay stretched on a sick bed, placed with difficulty in an open carriage. A striped shawl enveloped his thin, wan figure, and a red skull-cap, ornamented with Masonic emblems, rested upon his snowy head. He could not even move his hand. He seemed half-dead. Curious once more to see this 'leader of men,' I easily obtained an interview. I found Garibaldi reclining upon an invalid chair in the handsome salon of his son-in-law's house. I never in all my life beheld a living being so death-like. If I had not seen his eyes and lips move, I should have believed him to be dead. His face was absolutely livid, the yellow-white of a corpse, and his hair and beard are perfectly white. His eyes, however, retain fire, and move about from side to side, following people around the room, without, however, his changing his attitude in the least degree."

CONTUMACIOUS KNIGHTS.

How the Members of Germania Lodge No. 2, K. P., Evaded the Sabbatarian Edicts of the Grand Chancellor by Meeting, Not as Members, but as High Privates, and Forming a Social Club.

The row of the Knights of Pythias, growing out of Damon Lodge No. 4 making an excursion to Milwaukee several Sundays ago, goes bravely on. A full account of the trouble to date has been heretofore given, but there is to be added what transpired yesterday, or rather what did not transpire.

Some of the strict Sabbatarians, it appears, have been making themselves very busy in condemning the Milwaukee excursion because it took place Sunday, and they are met by the more liberal-minded, who take issue with them, and hold that they had a right to do what they did under the law of their Order. But to discuss the question and get at an expression of opinion, a meeting of Knights, under the auspices of Germania Lodge, No. 2, was called to be held at Klare's Hall yesterday afternoon. The attendance was not large by any means, but both sides were represented, and there were evidences of considerable bitterness of feeling, which was not softened any by the presentation of the following dispatch by one of the Sabbatarians:

"To J. C. Goepferd, No. 207 West Randolph: You will at once say to all officers of lodges under your jurisdiction, and to all members of such lodges, that I absolutely forbid them to take any part in the mass-meeting called by Germania Lodge, No. 2, for Sunday, Sept. 4. I peremptorily forbid the holding of said meeting on Sunday, and you will so notify the officers of Germania Lodge at once.

"G. W. HERDMAN, Grand Chancellor."

Mr. Herdman resides at Jerseyville, and is the law-officer of the Order in the State, and the effect of the springing of his message upon those who had come to attend the meeting can be BETTER IMAGINED THAN DESCRIBED.

They were all law-abiding Knights, they maintained, but the surprise had been too great for the liberal element, and they acted accordingly their discomfiture in sundry gesticulations. Some wanted to go on and hold the meeting whether or no, but upon a sober, second thought it was agreed to obey the order technically, and at the same time get some comfort out of it, if possible. They would not meet as Knights, it was agreed, but meet they would, and they did, after a new plan of action had been agreed upon.

When they met Hermann Sieler was called to preside, and announced that it was proposed to form a social club, the first condition of any one becoming a member to be that he was a Knight.

Mr. Kennedy, one of the ultra-Sabbatarians, and who is accused of having made all the trouble, arose to speak, his object being to warn those present against the danger of proceeding as they propose. But the Chair would not listen to him, and he subsided.

Mr. Kennedy took the floor, and urged that the qualification for membership of the proposed club was contrary to the law of the Order, etc., and finally the qualification was so changed as to admit any one of good moral character, and who had liberal ideas, or who had not been born on Plymouth Rock.

Everything thereafter ran smoothly, but there was no great desire manifested upon the part of any one to join the club. "Commander" Wilson, however, was not satisfied with the condition of things, and further order from the Grand Chancellor into the assembly, which, it will be seen, he was ordered to read:

"JERSEYVILLE, Ill., Sept. 1.—A. B. Wilson, Esq.—DEAR SIR AND BROTHER: I have been this day informed that Germania Lodge, No. 2, Knights of Pythias, of your city, has called a mass-meeting, or a meeting of the lodges, the 4th inst., at Karl's or Klare's Hall, on Clark street. Send a telegram to me by 10 a. m. within the spirit, if not within the strict letter, of the law of this Grand Jurisdiction, which forbids Sunday demonstrations by and in the name of the Order, unless it be a funeral demonstration. I therefore strictly and peremptorily forbid the holding of such meeting on the 4th inst. This I do in the name of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias of the Grand Jurisdiction of Illinois. The law must be obeyed, so long as it stands unrepealed, as a law of this Grand Jurisdiction. You will, therefore, at once notify all officers and members of lodges under your jurisdiction not to attend, or take part in said proposed meeting on the 4th inst. You are further directed to go yourself to the hall where said meeting is proposed to be held on the 4th inst., and in my name, and in the name of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of this State, to command all officers of Pythian lodges, and there assemble to desist from holding said proposed meeting, to transact no business in the name of the Order of Knights of Pythias, or relating thereto, and to disperse. Any member of the Order of Knights of Pythias present at said proposed meeting, in holding said meeting, or in doing or transacting any business thereat relating to the Order of Knights of Pythias, you will and the name and number of his Lodge, and report the same to me at once.

"Say to the officers and members of Germania, No. 2, and to all other lodges and members of the Order, that the proposed meeting must not be held on Sunday. They can hold it on some other day of the week. If I knew the names of the officers of Germania, No. 2, I would address them directly. But this will do. Carry out my orders and instructions. Read this letter to them. order them in my name to desist and hold no meeting on that day, under penalty of the law. Fraternally yours,

"G. W. HERDMAN, G. C."

In answer to the above, Mr. Hermann, who is understood to have fathered the excursion, raised the point that to had acted under authority in going to Milwaukee, and went on to criticise the orders of the Grand Chancellor, and in midst of the talk which followed the anti-Sabbatarians, who refused to identify themselves with the social club, were invited to leave the room,

The "Friendship Social Club" was then organized, with about a dozen members, the object of which was announced to be "to have excursions and picnics whenever they saw fit—eight days in a week—and for general enjoyment." The following officers were elected: President, H. Sieler; Vice-President, C. F. Hermann; Secretary, G. A. Aeppli; Treasurer, A. Brener.

The "Club" adjourned without date, and its future is very uncertain. If it meets again and gets to work its aim will be to agitate the question of amending the Knights of Pythias laws so that they, as Knights, can do as they please on Sunday, to avoid a repetition of the present trouble. No action can be taken on the subject, however, until the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the State at Springfield, Oct. 3. Then, it is thought, the whole question will come up and be discussed at length, if not disposed of.

THE SOCIALISTS.

A Communistic Wrestle with the Ethics of Gambling.

A very bitter debate on the corruptness of gambling enterprises in general, and the Board of Trade in particular, consumed most of the eloquence expended in yesterday's session of the main section of the Socialistic Labor party, at 64 West Lake street. After the conclusion of ordinary business by a well-attended meeting, over which Charles Wheeler presided, Mr. Sloun, in support of a previous motion for the convening of a National Congress of Socialists, made a lengthy speech, and urged the necessity of making a revised version of the constitution, for the round ering of a more powerful and well-defined platform for the principles of Socialism. He said that each section should have the authority to vote in or vote out members, so as to protect themselves from novitiates whose moral character was unworthy of the cause they strove to maintain. He also advocated a change to a political platform of action for all Socialists.

Mr. Morgan, in reply, was violently opposed to the useless expenditure of $3,000 in supporting a convention, and declared that Socialism was more of a church society for the propagation of social and religious ideas, did not apprehend to not be politics further than to support the representative of and sympathize with honest labor every time. The main section resolved to give no support to a congress.

The discussion as to the iniquity of Board of Trade speculations was then taken up. Mr. Sloun defined a number of the evil remarks upon the question. He said that the nature of Bourse deals must be so changed that a sale should be impracticable without ready money. The Board is merely a respectable gambling hell. The men who speculate thereon are brought up in the employment of taking the chances against ruin, and after the close of the board they must sustain the delirium across the green table. They cannot rest or think—they dare not think—and thoughtless, they grow reckless. In Rome the lottery is in support of the Government, and yields $100,000 a month. Here there is a few men who reap the wealth and toils of thousands of the laboring class.

Mr. Morgan made an inflammatory supplement to these remarks by saying that the few men who scooped in $3,000,000 in Bourse speculations during the last month were unscrupulous thieves, who neither sowed nor reaped one grain of the spring wheat which they monopolized, who gave the community no compensation for what they kidnaped, but impeded the industrial wheels of commercial products between the producer and consumer, and were possessed of less true honor than the common prostitute. Society made an egregious mistake in looking upon such robbers as respectable citizens.

Mr. White said that this gambling on Change was confined between the speculators alone, and except in "cornering" the market the public is not affected. He said further, that had Morgan the money and mind of a sufficient calibre he would be the fiercest gambler in Chicago [applause], and one of the hardest enemies of Socialism [loud applause], which is after all but the organized indignation of the robbed. When Napoleon III. ascended the throne he crushed the Bourse's monopoly of provisions and grain by establishing public granaries for the people. Let this be done. It was then resolved, and the meeting adjourned.

THE LAND-LEAGUERS.

No Connection with Dynamite—Carter Harrison Repudiated.

The Michael Davitt Land-League Club held its regular meeting at Fitzgans Hall, 2201 Archer avenue, last night. The time was occupied in speech-making, repudiating the charge that the club was made up of Socialists and Nihilists. The only Communism about them was that they wanted laws by which the rich and the poor would be treated alike.

Their loyalty to the Irish cause was shown by the fact that they had remitted $875 to Ireland. They claimed that the attack was made upon them simply because they would not be the tools of political hacks in Chicago. Their accusers were politician knaves, feasting certain aldermen with the money that ought to go to relieve the destitution in Ireland. They wanted it understood they were opposed to dynamite; their war was England was a war of ideas. They also repudiated Carter H. Harrison as a democrat who had betrayed the Irishmen. The Democracy was a fraud, and, what was more, they would never again vote for an Irishman who was on the Democratic ticket. It was ordered that a meeting of the Michael Davitt, the Seventeenth Ward, and the Spread the Ideas Clubs be held at some central point on the 11th inst. The purpose is to send, by the French cable (for the Land-Leaguers distrust all British means of communication) a message to Parnell, to be read at the Dublin convention on the 15th, expressing sympathy with the agitation.
