What would you do?

Mr. Hughes?

"Yes!" or "No!"

New York Tribune, Thursday, November 2, 1916

To Mr. Hughes: As leaders in our real and secret interests, we demand your support. In addition to a vigorous campaign, in which our arguments are sound, we must have finance. Be in the country, wherever you can, and demand support for your railroad, bank and industrial policies. Be in every place where you can get a free platform, and speak for the policies and interests of the American people.

To Mr. Hughes: As leaders in our real and secret interests, we demand your support. In addition to a vigorous campaign, in which our arguments are sound, we must have finance. Be in the country, wherever you can, and demand support for your railroad, bank and industrial policies. Be in every place where you can get a free platform, and speak for the policies and interests of the American people.

The cornerstone of our business structure is

1. The right to own property and
2. The right to make contracts.

We will not be silenced.

We demand your support.

The Tribune.