Others Claim Exemption At the night session of the board, which ended at 10:30, these passed, but claimed exemption: Hendrick, 114 West 148th Street, because he is a postoffice clerk.

How to Tell Who Is Called By City's Exemption Boards

If Your "Red Ink" Number Is Higher Than the Number of Registrants in Your District You Are Not Called

The following tables will enable any man in New York who is called by his exemption board to learn that fact. The names of individuals called are not given, since there will be a total of somewhere near 80,000 in this city, which would fill nearly forty pages of small type.

Table with columns: District, Headquarters, Quota, Number called, Highest draft number called. Includes entries for Manhattan and The Bronx.
