

President and Bride Entertain at Musical. Vice President and Mrs. Marshall Cancel Dinner Engagements Out of Respect to Senator Shively Other News of Society at the Capital

The President and Mrs. Wilson entertained last evening at the second of the series of evening musicales which they are giving at the White House during March.

Out of respect to the memory of Senator Benjamin F. Shively, of Indiana, who died yesterday, the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall have cancelled the dinner to have been given tonight in honor of the Russian Ambassador, and tomorrow night in honor of the British Ambassador and Mrs. Spring-Rice.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall were the guests of honor at a dinner given last evening by the Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. da Gama. Yesterday was the Vice President's birthday anniversary and a number of delightful surprises were features of the dinner, the party going later to the White House musical. Invited to meet the honor guests were the Minister of Uruguay and Mme. de Pena, the Minister of Salvador and Mme. Zaldívar, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Morgan Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Nixon, Miss Burleson, Mr. Donald Hearst, Col. and Mrs. Young, Mrs. Marjorie Young-Smith, Miss Elliott, Mr. Gordillo, Mr. Morris Volck, Mr. George Bailey Wheeler, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Young-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Westcott, Miss May, and Mrs. Lloyd Howers.

Mrs. Henry F. Dimock entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the Chief Justice and Mrs. White and Mr. Justice and Mrs. Hughes. There were thirty-four guests, among them Mr. Arthur S. Hardy, of Boston, former minister to Persia, and Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Frederick Thompson, of New York, who are visiting Mrs. Dimock.

Mal Gen. and Mrs. George Barnett gave a dinner party of twenty-four covers last evening at the Marine Barracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hollister Chapman were hosts at a small dinner party last evening at their residence in Q street.

Many congratulatory notes and telegrams were received by the Vice President when he celebrated yesterday the sixty-second anniversary. The notes, including the note dispatched from the White House by the President. Among the telegrams sent up to his apartment at the Willard early in the day was a huge cake designed by the manager of the hotel in the form of a telegram received over the Western Union lines. It was rectangular in form and led in yellow, the top being a precise replica of a telegram form of that company, giving the time of dispatch and receipt and carrying the message: "Congratulations and many happy returns," signed "The New Willard."

Mrs. Richard Young was hostess at a charming luncheon yesterday when she entertained in honor of Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, at the New Willard.

The table, arranged in the blue room, was in the form of a large hollow square and was decorated to represent a sunken garden, with quantities of spring flowers, palms and ferns.

The guests invited to meet Mrs. Daniels included Mrs. Thomas P. Gore, Mrs. Joe Eagle, Mrs. Bo Sweeney, Mrs. Victor Kauffmann, Mrs. Ernest Roberts, Mrs. Howard S. Reeside, Mrs. Charles D. JEWISH WOMEN TOLD OF COMMUNITY FORUM IDEA

Edward J. Ward Urges Council to Support Bill Throwing Public Schools Open for Use at Any Time.

Members of the Washington Section of the Jewish Women's Council were addressed by Edward J. Ward, of the United States Bureau of Education, at their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of Eighth Street Temple. Mr. Ward's talk was devoted entirely to community center work, and he urged those present to use their influence with Congress for the passage of the Johnson community forum bill, now before Congress, and which provides that the public schools shall be open to the public at all times, when not in conflict with the regular school studies. He said that there was but one solution of the world's problems, and that was education, not simply for the school teachers to teach the children, but to work through the community center. Dr. Joseph S. Wall was another speaker, and Vera Corey played several selections on the piano. Mrs. Adolph Kahn, president of the council, presided.

HOUSEWIVES DAILY ECONOMY CALENDAR By FRANCES MARSHALL.

Spend for the House. Not long ago a letter truly full of food for thought came under the writer's eye. It was from a young wife who complained that, although her husband loved her and was devoted to her, he would not give her money enough to buy anything for their house. Even decent table linen was lacking, she said. He thought that a growing bank account ought to take the place of a well furnished house. In her mind, she said, there were two ways of spending money for one's house: one is extravagant, the other is economical, in the best sense. And the husband who thinks that a bank account can take the place of sufficient and attractive furnishings is mistaken. Most women have to live most of their time in their houses. For most women do the bulk of their own household's work. Therefore, they are entitled to a pleasant home, to a well furnished place to entertain. The young housekeeper who does not even have enough spending money for decent table linen is most decidedly under a disadvantage. The wise housekeeper who makes a budget for her household expenses. This should be founded on experience and on budgets of professional budget makers—such as one can get hold of through various women's magazines and clubs. The attractive furnishings in mistake. This should be founded on experience and on budgets of professional budget makers—such as one can get hold of through various women's magazines and clubs. The attractive furnishings in mistake. HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel." Wednesday, March 15, 1916. This is not a fortunate day, according to astrology. Neptune, Venus, the Sun and Mars all advance. The Sun, Jupiter and Saturn are slightly benefic in their power. There is an exceedingly threatening sign for shipping and disasters are indicated. British war vessels have a sinister rule today. Venus gives warning that women should guard against all forms of melancholy. Owing to the war the seers believe that the feminine mind is exceedingly susceptible to sudden influences which will affect Americans as well as Europeans. This is a forbidding way for love affairs and romance, yet both men and women will be particularly susceptible to sentiment. It is believed to sadden both army and navy have a planetary government today that appears to forecast dissatisfaction and criticism. There is trouble for the head of a national organization. The direction of the stars is inimical to advancement among army and naval officers. It is prognosticated that those who are in authority will make serious mistakes in handling men. The figure is reasonably encouraging for speculation, especially for stocks in mines or railways. Persons who should make the best of sinister conditions today. Early plans for next season will succeed best. New Mexico comes under a guidance of the stars that is promising for its rapid growth in the next few years. There is a guiding star that is most encouraging. Some sort of an alliance that will benefit the United States is foreshadowed, but this will not be in the line of regular trade. There is a possibility of misfortune and the abolition of a destruction of a famous church or cathedral is prophesied. Saturn is in a place in the horoscope of President Wilson, which gives warning of new enemies, and he may be the target for severe criticism from onetime friends. Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid all disputes and quarreling. They may have many anxieties in business affairs. Children born on this day will be fond of pleasure and company, but they are likely to be exceedingly lucky.

TO SHOW IDEAL AQUARIUM

J. Henri Wagner Will Address Fish-Lovers' Society Tomorrow.

The Aquarium Society of Washington will hold a public meeting on tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the central building of the Public Library. The speaker, J. Henri Wagner, will place on exhibition a "balanced" aquarium, stocked with local aquatic plants and tadpoles, as well as different varieties of snails and species of the carp family. Searching parties of the society have been active during the past few weeks, word having been received that salamanders and other batrachians have been found and will be exhibited there at the meeting. Dr. W. Shufeldt, Dr. W. O. Emery and others.

Aunt Chatty's Mothers' Club Conducted by Mrs. Charity Brush

The Study of Insects. THIS is a real Mothers' Club, for the benefit of mothers everywhere who are struggling with questions of discipline, training, education, clothing, for the children. Write to Aunt Chatty of problems which are vexing you, and she will advise and help you to a solution of them. Write to her, too, of your own discoveries, of methods you have found successful in smoothing the rough paths of life for the tender, childish feet, that through the Mothers' Club your experience may be of benefit to other mothers who are still tangled in the web of perplexity you have so happily unraveled. Co-operation is the secret of success in any business; so why not in the business of motherhood, that highest and holiest calling which always has been and always will be woman's crown of glory, no matter what other avenues of usefulness may be opened to her? Address Mrs. Charity Brush, care of this paper.

As I went up the brick walk leading to the house door on my way to visit one of our mothers not long ago I passed her little 4-year-old son stooping over something and crouching softly to himself. Hearing my footstep he looked up eagerly and said: "Oh, come see these little ants! They're dragging a great, big leaf home and they can't hardly carry it. Is it for a cover for their little babies?" I stooped down beside the little fellow and together we watched the struggle of the insects to convey the leaf to the little pile of sand that marked the entrance to their home. Once or twice he gave it a gentle push with his finger, but they were so determinedly going over a particularly difficult passage.

Answers to Correspondents. Mrs. D. V. B. writes: "Please tell me some good hair tonic to use to keep my little girl's hair from falling out after typhoid fever." A preparation of one ounce of cantharides to a quart of hay rum has been used in my family in such a case with marked success. Any druggist can put it up for you. You must brush the hair, too, twice a day, at least a hundred strokes, with a bristle brush that is kept scrupulously clean.

Mrs. G. J. G. writes: "I think my baby is not getting enough breast milk. Do you think it would hurt to feed him partly and nurse him partly?" No, I should recommend your supplementing the nursing if you have not enough rather than weaning him and putting him on the bottle alone.

Beating the government out of butter is said to be a favorite sport of the day in Berlin, where the precious fat is doled out to housewives at the rate of a quarter pound a day. The women stand in line, according to the New Rotterdam Courant, and those who have the patience and good luck to repeat have ample basis for boasting.

"I suppose I have cultivated it," she replied. "I do not believe children ever take as much interest in things unless their attention is called that way, do you?" At any rate, I know I owe all my interest in nature studies to my dear father, who was an enthusiast on the subject of insects. He would take us on long walks and drives with him and call us to look at the birds and insects of all kinds that he could find. Naturally, when I wanted him to know about such things, too, and so he and I have observed all we could together. I think it has a good influence on him in teaching him not to be cruel to any of God's creatures, besides cultivating powers of observation."

Don't you think, dear mothers, that this is another responsibility added to the mountain load you already bear, that you will want to assume attention to the habits of insects and birds will lead to such interest, of course, done with no thought of the possible sufferings of the poor insects, but when I saw the other small boy trying to help the ants with their loaf of leaf, I could not help but contrast the two kinds of boys.

There are so many valuable books you can obtain for your boy to read on this subject that it need not comparatively little of your own personal attention to interest him, once he has begun to read and observe for himself. Macaterline's "Life of the Bee" is one of the most fascinating nature books I have ever seen my pleasure to read. No boy who reads that can fail to succumb to an intense desire to study and know the bee for himself. The great French naturalist,
