STILL ANOTHER.

ENTER STAR—Your correspondent "K" gives the Morning News a well deserved rap. Perhaps the lack of proper feeling on the part of that paper is owing to the fact that the crime of those Chinese is one of which the News is frequently guilty—that of "murdering the English."

Your correspondent recommends a little book to the editor of the News.

I would suggest another, the perusal of which would be beneficial an English grammar. S.

A GAMBLER'S WOES.

Deputy Sheriff McCullough's Big Raid.

Yesterday morning Marshal Bragganier and Deputy Sheriff Ben McCullough arrested six colored gamblers.

Their names are as follows: Jim Knox, Henry Rollins, Jake Milton, Reed Redding, Arthur Hailey and Kid Reed.

They were arraigned before Justice Clary yesterday.

Some pleaded guilty and some didn't, but all were deemed so by that efficient officer, who fined them $10 and cost each.

None of them had the ready "stuff," and in lieu thereof were given 60 days in the county jail.

But the county has a better scheme than that, so this morning they were given employment on the new road.

Ben says there are five more of the same class that he is after and will get very soon.

He is a holy terror to colored delinquents, and generally gets his man when he goes after him.

[N. B.—This was on the hook yesterday, and we did not infringe on any one's franchise. We just thought we would tell you.
