Italians Gain More Successes on the Corse Front, South of Goriza.

CAPTURE FOUR HUNDRED PRISONERS

Allied Offensive in Meadonia Has Apparently Come to Halt.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. London, Oct. 13.—Steadily pressure of the Austro-German forces is compelling the Rumanians, who invaded Transylvania, to fall back upon their own frontier.

North of Kronstadt, Berlin reports advances, and south of Kronstadt the Teutons have been successful.

The Rumanians, however, are offering stubborn resistance and Bucharest says the Teuton attacks in southern Transylvania have been repulsed.

The allied offensive in Macedonia has apparently come to a halt. There is little activity in this region.

Neither Berlin nor Petrograd mentions the fighting in Volhynia and Galicia.

LORD CECIL TALKS ABOUT SUBMARINES

Says Operations Off American Coast Raise No New Issues.

SAYS VIOLATION INTERNATIONAL LAW

But No More So Now Than When Carried On on Other Side.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. London, Oct. 13.—Lord Robert Cecil, British minister of war for trade, told the Associated Press today that the operations of the German submarine off the American coast had raised no new issues, as far as Great Britain is concerned.

He declared this form of warfare violated the international law as both England and the United States knew it before the war and was still objectionable to Great Britain. "But no more so than when it was done on this side of the water."

Referring to the recent meeting in Washington between American bankers and business men and embassy officials, Lord Robert said there was no departure in the principle that has been made from the British blockade measure.

"However," he said, "it can be safely said that the general policy is against the extension of the blacklist."

FINE SERMON BY REV. D. P. SLAUGHTER

To an appreciative audience, Rev. D. P. Slaughter preached a deep and profound sermon last night at the First Methodist church from the text, "For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul, or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?"

The speaker spoke in part as follows: "Doubtless the question what will it pay? or what will be the profit? has been asked thousands of times by business men today. Men oftentimes in commercial life make losing investments. There isn't any investment from the standpoint of business, in this life, absolutely safe. The storm, the past summer, cost the people millions of dollars. Just before the Titanic went down, it is related, a man went into his room and saw $300,000 on his table, but the money seemed very small in comparison with his life."

"Some years ago Willie Outlaw was kidnapped. Letters, telegrams and detectives were sent out by the father to find the boy. Finally he received an anonymous letter that if $10,000 was left at a certain place the boy would be returned. He complied, and the son was restored. The father, on being asked if the lad was worth the amount, replied: 'Yes, a hundred times that amount.'"

"There are hundreds of men and women here in our city lost to purity, lost to righteousness, lost to God. 'Some people sell out so cheaply, giving 12 ounces for 16, 34 inches for a yard. Very little they gain by dishonesty, but yet the value of their soul, as they value it."

"Psychologists divide the soul into three faculties: (1) intellect; (2) sensibilities; (3) will."

"What profit would there be when the souls wing out into eternity crying lost, lost, lost forever?"

"Daniel Curry, an early pioneer preacher, had visions of his standing before the judgment seat before two open books—the Bible and the book of the record of his life. As he heard his name called he felt that he could not approach the judge, but Christ stepped up and said, 'I'll answer for him. He was true in the other world. These scars were put in my hands and side for him.' If you are ashamed of Christ here, He will be ashamed of you before the Father in heaven."

CENSUS TAKER MEETS WITH OPPOSITION

People of Escambia County Object to Furnishing Information.

McRAE WRITES TO CHAMBER COMMERCE

Commissioner - Agriculture Asks Secretary Phillips to Aid Enumerator.

That the county enumerators, who are compiling the agricultural statistics for 1916, are meeting with much opposition among the people of Escambia county, as well as in other sections of the state, is shown in a letter to Secretary James F. Phillips, of the Chamber of Commerce, from W. A. McRae, state commissioner of agriculture.

The letter says in part: "In your county the enumerator, W. M. J. Scott, is now listing the agricultural and industrial census. In some sections of the county he is meeting with a great deal of opposition from the manufacturers. He makes no complaint from the agricultural portion, but he says that many refuse, for various reasons, to submit any report whatever, and others simply say, 'It is none of the state's business what we are doing.' We just mention this to show the difficulty in the way of getting the kind of statistics most sought after by business people from without the state."

"The above is a quotation from Mr. Scott's letter, who also quoted from the party who made the remark. If you can see Mr. Scott and help him in any way to get this information, you will do a service to the state as well as your county. That you may understand how these statistics are taken we are inclosing to you a copy of the law. It is apparent under the circumstances that there should be a penalty in the law, but as there is not at present we have to do the best we can. The next legislature will be asked to put a penalty in the law for refusal to supply the information desired."

"You will see by reading the law that no person's private business is exposed, that only aggregates are used, and that there should not be any more objection to supplying the state with this information than there is in supplying the United States the same information. The only difference is that the people who refuse these things to the state appear to think that they can do what they please with the state, while they are afraid to refuse to supply the information to the United States officials."

The following sections of general instructions to enumerators are taken from a copy inclosed in the above letter: "In gathering the information required to fill out the blank forms sent you herewith, it must be understood between the people who are to furnish it and yourself, that all matters or questions pertaining to the business are strictly confidential; that neither personal or family secrets will be divulged or exposed to the public."

"You will, therefore, permit no one to scrutinize or investigate your work, for any purpose, while in course of preparation by you, but this does not refer to persons in your employ. No employe should be permitted to make any statement whatever concerning it, for publication or otherwise, not even yourself."
