Wage Bill to Affect Pay of Many Women

found that 83 per cent of the women were earning less than that. The bureau set a standard in 1916 of $125 as the prices necessary for clothing per year for a wage-earning woman and 68 per cent of the women examined spent less than that for clothes in 1916.

The advocates of this legislation assert that such a law will not injure business because investigation has proved that inefficient, underpaid girls become more efficient when paid enough to buy three square meals a day and decent clothing. A government investigation, they declare, showed that in retail stores in Oregon after a minimum wage of $9.25 was in effect in Portland and $8.25 for the rest of the state, the female labor cost increased only three mills per dollar of sales. Edward A. Filene, of William Filene Sons Company, of Boston, one of the country's largest merchants and a director of the United States Chamber of Commerce testified before the senate committee in favor of the bill.

"A working girl, worried about paying for her clothing and lodging is not going to be very ambitious to heed the preachments that we bosses put upon her," said Mr. Filene. "When you get to where the hard pressure of mere living disappears you arrive at the point where the possibility of more intelligent action, more intelligent study, more comprehensive retail distribution is possible. Higher wages, I believe, make lower labor costs. In 1912 we put in a minimum wage of 88 per week in our store, by far the largest specialty store in the world, employing about 3,000 people, and doing the largest business in our line, and the best evidence that it has been satisfactory is that on April 1 of this year we increased the minimum wage to $10." Those back of the bill are expecting but little opposition to it in congress because the merchants and others whom it will affect favor the legislation. Congress having passed a bill to increase the wages of all the federal employees making less than $1,500 by $120 at this session is hardly in a position to oppose legislation to give those working for less than $8 a week an increase.

Two Deputies Held Under Grave Charge

criticized the officers severely for firing upon the car and scouted the theory that Lowery was shot by the negro. The footling took place about the Ferry Pass road, the deputies having been directed to proceed to the ferry and there intercept and arrest the negro who, on the strength of a telephone message from Sheriff Harvell, of Santa Rosa county, was in an automobile, on his way to Pensacola. Sheriff Van Pelt went to one ferry and the two deputies named were despatched to the other. It was at the ferry landing where the two deputies were sent to, that the automobile in which the negro was a passenger with his charge, landed. Sheriff Van Pelt, upon the arrival of the ferry at this point, saw that his trip was fruitless and he started to the other place. He planned to meet his deputies there and either station one or more at the ferry and return to the city or else was to remain there himself. Just about the time he approached the scene he heard the shooting and made as quick time as possible to the spot. Approaching the location, he was told that "two men were dead," and believing that his deputies were injured in the melee, he lost no time in making an investigation. Learning that neither of his men had been hurt, he conducted further inquiry and ordered that the two deputies be held in custody until the serious encounter could be cleared up by a further investigation.

Coroner Will L. Johnson yesterday empaneled a jury to look into and arrive at some conclusion relative to the death of the negro, Jenkins, but the inquiry was postponed until Monday. The jury will get together in his office at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for the inquiry of the shooting was telephoned to Sheriff Harvell of Santa Rosa county, and it was not many hours before the well-known officer from the adjoining county, was in Pensacola, looking into the affair.

Chairman Wilson of Gull Point, whose quota was five thousand has reported ten thousand.

Chairman Raymond Wilkins of Warrington reports eight thousand. From Century J. W. Taylor sends in the good news of $37,000. All of these towns exceeded their quotas, and will receive honor flags, on a number of which will appear an extra star, indicating that the allotment has been doubled. Frank E. Welles, county chairman, said last night: "The drive for the third Liberty Loan has certainly been successful and to those who worked so zealously in its behalf I wish to express my thanks. Pensacola and Escambia county went over the top with banners flying."

The following wire was received yesterday. To All County and Zone Chairmen: Am just in receipt of a telegram from Mr. Frank R. Wilson, Director of Publicity, stating that according to reports received from Federal Reserve Banks, Atlanta reported more communities "Over the Top" on first morning of Campaign than any other district—total approximately thirty. Mr. Wilson concludes his telegram by saying: "There will be no award of a first National Honor Flag, but that all cities attaining goal are entitled to flags."

It is particularly gratifying to this committee that we furnished more contestants for the first National Honor Flag than any other Federal Reserve District. While this was a fact it (at the same time) made it impossible for any one community to be awarded the National Honor Flag. Special mention is due these communities, and they have been published in the newspapers. Yours very truly, W. C. WARDLAW, Chairman, Liberty Loan Exec. Committee
