NEW SANITARY ORDINANCE IS INTRODUCED

MEASURE TAKES PLACE OF THE MEASURE DEFEATED BY COURT RULING—BE ADOPTED PERHAPS AT SPECIAL MEETING TODAY.

The introduction of a new sanitary ordinance to take the place of the one held illegal in a decision rendered last Saturday by Judge C. Moreno Jones of the county court of record, on contest of the measure by a number of property owners with C. Thiesen named as contestant, was one of the most important matters to be taken up at the regular weekly meeting of the city commissioners yesterday afternoon.

The principal objection to the old ordinance, according to the decision of Judge Jones, was that it was not sufficiently specific in its designation of the character of houses in which sanitary closets are to be installed in accordance with the prescribed plans of the health authorities, city, state and government. The ordinance which embodies the main provisions of the old one and which is the third that will have been passed covering the subject matter, will be heard on second and third readings at a special meeting of the commissioners perhaps today and adopted. It follows:

Section 1. That every house and building located within the limits of the city of Pensacola in which people live, or where they congregate, or assemble, or any kind of business is carried on shall be provided with a sanitary privy that shall be connected with a sewer as provided by existing ordinances, or if no sewer be adjacent to the premises said privy shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with plans approved or recommended by the State Board of Health, or to conform with one of the types of privies approved by resolution adopted by the Board of Commissioners, and provided with the proper facilities that the excrement may be received in watertight, easily removable receptacles placed in compartments, or box seats, thoroughly screened to prevent the access of flies thereto, and properly ventilated, and it shall be unlawful for any person to construct or maintain any privy that does not conform with the type of privy herein provided.

Section 2. That the Commissioner of Health, through policemen, sanitary inspectors or other agents and employees of the City Health Department shall diligently inspect all premises within the city upon which sanitary privies are required to be constructed and maintained by section one (1) of this ordinance, and whenever it is found that any premises are not provided with the requisite privy, or that the same is insanitary or does not otherwise conform with any provision of this ordinance, to cause notice to be served upon the owner, or agent of such premises, or, if there be none, upon the occupant thereof, commanding that said premises shall be provided with a privy of the type herein mentioned. It shall be unlawful for any person to fail to comply with such notice within fifteen days after the date of its service.

Section 3. It shall be unlawful for the owner, lessee, occupant or any

Why This Strong Demand for the Finest Leathers

WOMEN these days are buying better grades of shoes than ever. Perhaps many of them even feel a little extravagant.

But the woman who has this instinct for quality may well congratulate herself. It is part of her instinct for style. You cannot have enduring style without quality.

Women are no more in the mood for temporizing, uncertainty or compromise than men are.

Style is—or it is not. Quality is—or it is not. The manufacturer can get fine leather for his shoes—or he cannot.

It would be foolish for us to show indifference to this weight of public opinion for fine leathers.

Style embodied in fine leathers with exquisite workmanship is the foundation stone of the Watson, Parker & Reese Co. business.

This principle is the reason for our program of concentrating on the wanted lasts and a selection of excellent leathers and the better makes—a policy that assures Watson, Parker & Reese Co its commanding position with the footwear trade, and the purchaser peculiar advantages in quality, enduring style and moderate price.

WEEKLY MEET COMMISSIONERS WAS BUSY ONE

Besides the introduction of a new sanitary ordinance, which is fully reported elsewhere, a number of other important matters were taken up at the regular weekly meeting of the city commissioners yesterday afternoon.

A bid for the proposed construction and operation of a casino and other amusements at Bayview Park was received from Lazar Lacoste and taken under advisement by the city commissioners. The bid offered the city as compensation for the privilege, three per cent. on the gross receipts, which was not as much as was anticipated by the mayor and commissioners. It is understood. It is also understood that the bid was not fully qualified, otherwise.

A letter from C. W. Eggart tendering his resignation as city comptroller was read and the resignation accepted. It is understood that Mr. Eggart will go to Mobile where he will accept a very responsible position with a new concern. It is not known yet as to who will succeed Mr. Eggart. Mayor Sanders stated yesterday that thus far no applications for the position have been received, however it is anticipated that J. O. Walker, acting clerk in the absence of Clerk Lep Heinberg, who was called into service several months ago but who arrived home a few days ago from France, will be an applicant and it is believed that his experience well

Coming Session of Congress. "Attempts will be made at the coming session of congress to repeal the seaman's compensation act, stop ship building and saddle a ship subsidy on us. Let congressmen hear from the people on these subjects in no uncertain tones. The present program is highly profitable; why stop it—Evidences of Foresight.

"By all these evidences of the foresight of this democratic administration, we have put two million of our best boys on the firing line and they have won the war. But so difficult are the problems at the peace table that but for the presence there of President Wilson, the peace conferees themselves would now have been at war. His has been the master voice, asking no favors, but demanding justice for all.

"Even if it means some slight sacrifice of sovereignty to enter into mutual covenants with civilized nations to keep the burden of taxation for war off the backs of future generations, it ought to be done. Man is worthy of civilization, and is capable of achieving a satisfactory civilization. Why not make the Monroe doctrine not merely a United States doctrine, but a world doctrine?

"We will not keep faith with the makers of the supreme sacrifice unless we assure their survivors against a repetition of such sacrifices. Let us not cease till we have finished the glorious work we have begun."

Mr. Fletcher's audience was large, attentive and responsive.

Scouts on Duty. On the first day of the boy scouts Victory Loan drive, troop No. 2 is recorded with over $10,000 worth in actual subscriptions and several thousand dollars promised in addition to this sum.

In the absence of Scoutmaster Zeek, Assistant Scoutmaster Whittindale is Tank Operations. The itinerary of the second tank, which is now at Cottondale, is as follows: Cottondale, May 5; Marianna, May 8; Sneads, May 7; Havana, May 8; Tallahassee, May 9 and 10.

The following wire was received last night by The Journal from Private Higgins in charge of the tank: "We demonstrated tank at Cottondale today. This town's quota is $9,150 and the amount subscribed to date is $18,750, or about two hundred and five per cent perfect. We are met with the heartiest co-operation and feel that we can't say too much for Cottondale."

A wire was also received from Tallahassee, stating that Captain Freddie Blount and Lieutenant Albert Quinn had arrived in Tallahassee with the first tank, and that the people of the capital city were extending to them such a welcome as was a augury of good things for Leon county in the way of subscriptions.

Malcolm Yonge, publicity director for the West Florida zone, said last night that he believed that the tanks had been instrumental in arousing much interest in the loan and that the speakers were doing some effective work. They are supplied with blank ammunition and are giving realistic warfare demonstrations.
