

WHY IS IT

that some men are willing to pay $10 for a gas saving accessory that squeezes one mile more out of the gallon and then turn around and buy clothing that wastes a gallon to every mile?

If the truth were known, a part cotton suit of men's clothes is more costly to own than a gas eating automobile, for the last only consumes when it runs, while the first gently nibbles at your purse even when you're standing still.

RED CROSS TO CONDUCT DRIVE IN NOVEMBER

Washington, May 24.—An appeal to American people for funds to carry on the work of their American Red Cross will be made next November according to the following statement issued today by Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the organization. "Appalling conditions in the countries of Eastern Europe, imposing on the American Red Cross obligations additional to those assumed during the period of the world war, and the continuance of activities in connection with the already outlined domestic program of the Red Cross, make necessary an appeal to the people of America for further funds to carry on the work for the relief of humanity. "It has been decided to make this appeal in the autumn, in a period of two weeks culminating on the eleventh of November, the anniversary of the signing of the armistice—a season when the American people may properly give manifestation, through contributions to their Red Cross, of their thankfulness for deliverance from added horrors of war which has fallen upon nations less fortunate. "At present the American Red Cross is bringing to a close its activities in the countries of Western Europe, and with the withdrawal of American troops from the war zone its work for the Army abroad will end automatically. Disease and suffering of the most heartrending character, however, are calling for relief in other fields. The new international organization of Red Cross societies is preparing to deal with relief and health problems throughout the world in future years, but there are immediate emergencies which require the aid of agencies already established. Foremost among these agencies is the American Red Cross. At present emergencies are being met with all the resources available, but it is apparent that the imperative calls for assistance for the next year or more will make additional funds necessary. "It is anticipated that the generous heart of the American people will respond to the appeal to the full extent of the needs that will present themselves."

TRAINING BOARD IS SOLVING A BIG PROBLEM. MAKING CITIZENS OUT OF RETURNED SOLDIERS IS GREAT TASK NOW GOING FORWARD WITH PROGRESS. Washington, May 24.—To make the number of returned citizens equal to the number of returned soldiers is the problem that is now before the federal board for vocational education. About two million of our soldiers have been returned to civil life. Two hundred thousand have been wounded but many of these will soon be physically fit to take up their duties again, while it is estimated that at least ten per cent of them have handicaps which must be overcome. From the latest reports tuberculosis is responsible for 32 per cent of the disabilities incurred, wounds not necessitating amputation and miscellaneous wounds for 31 per cent, nerve diseases for 8.3 per cent and wounds requiring amputation 5 per cent. To make these 20,000 disabled soldiers the equal of 20,000 citizens contributing economically and socially to their community life, is the duty delegated to the federal board by the government. It is a difficult problem but results are being found. The great majority of these young men are under thirty years of age; youth plus will power is one of the known quantities in the equation. The broad scope of the training given is one of the chief factors in the solution. Whatever a man wishes to train for, where ever he wants to train, the federal board stands ready to advise as to the proper course and to provide a suitable place where his ambition may be attained. More than one hundred different courses are already being given under the direction of the federal board in almost 400 institutions of learning scattered throughout the country from Florida to the great northwest to 1,860 men who have begun their training. In the few months that have elapsed since the boys began their homeward journey, nearly 5,000 of these disabled soldiers, after conferring with the federal board, have started life again; some placed by the board and others self placed; some in the old jobs, others in new and better ones. The process is fascinating, the results are interesting. Plumbers too disabled to work at their trade, have become sanitary inspectors; farm laborers are being trained for agricultural specialists; wounded tailors are studying and designing and wireless telegraphers are being made out of wounded barbers, while a stone cutter with a weak heart is now doing the work of a secretary. Up to May the first, the central office had approved courses for 4,376 of these men. The equation is being completed and each day's results are proving that returned disabled soldiers plus training and application, are equivalent to returned citizens, upon whom the nation may confidently depend for its future welfare and happiness.
