Delightful Story of Love and War is "Secret Service."

A delicate and delightful love story is contained in William Gillette's drama, "Secret Service," scenarized by Beulah Marie Dix, directed by Hugh Ford and released as a Paramount-Artcraft special picture. It will be seen at the Isis theater next Friday and will repay a visit to the show-house, because it remains one of the most striking dramas ever written and in screen form should duplicate the success of its stage career. Major Robert Warwick is cast for the role made famous by the author. The love element is characterized by that charming chivalry and beauty of the old south. There never has been a period in the history of America when men were more chivalrous or women more delicately charming; nor a place, perhaps, where these qualities were more in evidence than in the states blow th Mason-Dixon line.

Wanda Hawley is Edith Varney, with whom Lewis Dumont, as Captain Thorne, falls in love. The entire cast is wonderfully well selected. For suspense, the story of this play cannot be excelled. William Gillette is a recognized master of stage technique and the mechanics of the stage, but he has also a real literary skill.

"The Woman Thou Gavest Me." Hall Caine's best known novel is, doubtless, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me."

You remember the sensation it created at the time of its publication and in all probability you have read it.

Now, it has been put on the screen by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, under the direction of Hugh Ford, who guided Marguerite Clark through "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

It has been put on, of course, with an all-star cast, inasmuch as each part demands genuine acting ability. So you will find the beautiful Katherine McDonald, whom you have seen opposite Douglas Fairbanks; Milton Sills, whose work in "The Honor System," is undoubtedly one of the best things ever done before the camera; Jack Holt, whom you have seen as hero and villain, according to the role; Theodore Roberts, perhaps the best loved character actor on the screen; Fritzi Brunette and Katherine Griffith, whom you all know.

The picture comes here today for two days, and we are sure you will be grateful to us for calling it to your attention. It will be one of the great
