

BOLSHEVIKI REIGN PASSES OVER BIELEBEL

Bielebel, European Russia. Associated Press Correspondence.—The reign of the Bolsheviki passed over the people of Bielebel like a scourge. The Bolsheviki occupied Bielebel for several months.

The correspondent of the Associated Press visited the town within a fortnight after their evacuation. The people were just beginning to readjust their domestic and governmental affairs. Refugees were returning to view the wreck of their homes. They were veritable wrecks for the Bolsheviki had occupied all vacated houses and had carried away or destroyed most of their contents.

Many persons had disappeared and it was well known that many had been murdered. The corpses of victims are being discovered. The correspondent followed a stream of men, women and children which flowed out across the fields toward the edge of a scraggly wood. There under the overhanging bank on the edge of a gravel pit they were lying, a tangled heap of bodies, apparently as they fell or had been thrown, with no attempt at burial.

The bodies were mostly those of middle-aged or young workmen. From each the boots and most of the outer clothing had been removed. Of some the skulls were crushed, of others the faces were disfigured as though by gunshot at close range.

The crowd on the bank above the gruesome pile appeared fascinated. They silently made way for a group of Americans, including Consul Embury, from Omsk, and two correspondents, and watched with interest while they photographed the victims.

A nicely dressed woman and a little girl walked into the pit to get a better look at the figure of a blond young girl, which lay partly uncovered close under the bank.

The body was perfectly preserved by the cold and lay with arms bare and crossed as though the girl might have been sleeping. The face, which was not disfigured, was that of an intelligent, pretty girl. Toward dusk the body was removed by relatives who had come from Ufa. She was a high school girl from that town who had been abducted by the Bolsheviki commissar when Ufa was evacuated. Close by was the body of another woman.

When the Bolsheviki entered Bielebel the government of the town was taken over by a "revolutionary committee of communists. There was formed a "committee of investigation" under the presidency of one Velt, a Lett. One of the first acts of this committee was to shoot the president of the former local county zemstvo as a counter-revolutionary.

SUFFERED WITH RHEUMATISM, CATARRH AND STOMACH TROUBLE

"I think 'Number 40 For The Blood' as a blood purifier has no equal. When I began to take 'Number 40' I was in very poor health as I had Rheumatism, Catarrh, stomach Trouble, Lead Poisoning, and an Itch that I had tried almost every known remedy to relieve. I have taken six bottles of 'Number 40' and am on a fast road to recovery. I owe my life to it as I used to weigh 127 pounds and now weigh 148, my usual weight. I could write more but this should be enough to convince the most skeptical, and you are at liberty to use this letter anyway you desire." Geo. Klincker, Lima, Ohio.

The ingredients in "Number 40 For The Blood" are set down in the U. S. Dispensary and other reliable medical books as follows: "Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood poison, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, chronic rheumatism, catarrh, sores, ulcers, skin eruptions, mercurial and lead poisoning. Under its use nodes, tumors, scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic."

The letter was ill at the time and had to be carried out to his death in a chair. Twenty men were shot and in addition many Mohammedan priests. A member of the investigating committee boasted that he shot one priest because he was too long over his prayers, while the committee-men waited to take him.

High school boys and girls and priests were compelled to clean the streets. Women of the "intelligentsia" were made to clean the floors and walls of the barracks occupied by the Bolsheviki troops.

Mme. Koshnevnikoff, owner of the most imposing residence in the town, was arrested. Her daughter, seeking her release, was told that the charge against her was a secret. After a month in jail she was released. It developed that all they had against the woman was that on a previous evacuation of Bielebel she had served such a fine meal to the Bolsheviki that some of them narrowly escaped capture by the "whites" because of tarrying over their dinner.

More than eighty hostages were taken when the Bolsheviki evacuated.

HOT WEATHER HINTS FOR CARE TRUCKS

BY ALFRED F. MASURY. First of all, it is necessary to understand the cooling system. Do not expect the truck to labor in low gear up long grades or through deep sand, perhaps with a trailer, and still keep cool if carbon deposit is permitted to accumulate in the cylinders, if insufficient water is not put in the radiator, if the oil level is low or the oil is of the wrong kind.

At the beginning of the season it is ordinarily necessary to change the carburetor adjustment, that in summer being a little leaner than that for winter. Overheating is sure to result if the carburetor is improperly adjusted.

Timing has an important bearing on cooling. In hot climates where temperatures are excessive for a considerable part of the year, the engine may be made to run cooler, but at a slight sacrifice of power, by setting the camshaft one tooth ahead (earlier) on the timing gears, so that the exhaust valves open earlier. A weak spark has the same effect as late spark timing, and overheating will result.

Difficult grades can be made with greater speed and less fuel in intermediate than if the engine is permitted to labor in high to the point of stalling. Contrary to popular supposition the engine will cool better if it is not obliged to labor excessively.

Keep the exhaust clear of obstructions and do not allow mud to cake on the outside of the muffler or clog the outlet.

The radiator must be filled as full as possible. Do not allow the overflow pipe to become clogged, or flattened by a blow or kink or slip down in the radiator.

Use only the best quality of rubber hose for water connections. The inside of cheap tubing is apt to dissolve and the rubber particles clog up the system. Go over hose connections in the spring because some anti-freeze solutions have a deleterious effect upon the rubber. Also they have a scum inside the radiator which will not dissipate the heat. It must be cleaned out.

In filling the radiator only clean water should be used. Strain the water through a cloth where none but dirty water is available. Above all, do not use buckets in which oil has been kept.

Keep the fan clean and well greased so that it will turn freely. Not all of the cooling of the engine is effected by water; but lubricating oil plays an important part, as it cools the bearings. Keep the crank-case clean; it cools the oil. It has been found that gasoline washes the lubricant from the cylinder walls and a mixture of gasoline and oil runs into the crank-case where in time it destroys the lubricating qualities of the oil. For this reason the oil in the crank-case should be drained and replaced with new oil every 1,500 miles. If this is not done the oil will be unable to properly lubricate the rubbing surfaces and heating will result.

The average working temperature of oil in summer is higher than in the winter, and so oil of the same body will be thinner. Some times it is advisable to use a grade heavier oil in summer. In excessively hot spells an especially heavy grade of oil may be required to maintain the oil at the proper consistency in operation. When a heavier oil is used care should be taken not to work the engine too hard before it is warmed up. Buy oil only from reliable refiners.

LONDON TAXIS WANT TO CHARGE 25 CENTS PER MILE FOR FARE

London, July 2.—There are only 3,000 taxicabs on the streets of London today as compared with 9,000 in 1914. One company owning 3,000 idle cars refuses to operate them because the government will not permit it to charge a flat rate of 25 cents a mile. Five hundred other cars are kept out of service by the police requirement that there shall be a clearance of ten inches between their axles and the ground.

NORTH RUSSIA STANDARDIZES MILITARY GARB

Archangel, Russia, July 2.—The khaki uniforms of the British type that have been adopted by the North Russian government for its soldiers have now, with only a very few exceptions, replaced the dozen or more varieties of fancy military dress that were common in the early days of the fighting against the Bolsheviki on this front last September.

This little matter of standardizing the uniforms typifies the efforts that have been made to organize a Russian army in the north. Only three units now are out of khaki; the French Foreign Legion, Russians who wear the French light blue and the Polish legion, also wearing light blue and with strange four-cornered peaked caps.

Even the Cossack troops have had to give up their gaudy colors and flaming striped trousers for the khaki. The Slavo-Britannic legion officers wear the British uniforms, "pipes" and all, as grade markings, but the other Russian officers wear the old Russian shoulder stripes on British cut coats with the Sam Browne belts.

A startling contrast to the well-uniformed government troops are the Bolsheviki prisoners who are brought in, from time to time, to Archangel. Most of them are without any uniform at all, wearing their peasant clothes, while some have queer mixtures of the dress of half the nations of the world.

Many former Bolsheviki prisoners have changed this garb and also their politics, for the khaki, and now are fighting against the Bolsheviki. One entire battalion of former Bolsheviki prisoners, officered by an English colonel and known as "Dyer's Battalion," has done excellent work.

Hundreds of boys are in khaki in Archangel. Recently Governor General Miller announced that an "educational battalion" of boys from the ages of 12 to 13 years, was to be formed, to include boys guilty of actions deserving imprisonment, ramblers and houseless boys, and boys whose parents would like to have them brought up in an atmosphere of military discipline.

In honor of General Edmund Ironside, the British commander-in-chief, this battalion will be known as "General Ironside's Battalion for Children," and will be dressed and fed at the expense of the British government.

RED CROSS ATTENDS STARVING CHILDREN IN SOUTH EUROPE

Bucharest, July 2.—The children of Rumania are the special care of the American Red Cross nurses who are showing Rumanian mothers how to care properly for them. They are distributing infants' clothing, condensed milk, soap, talcum powder and everything that contributes to a baby's comfort. In this field of relief work the efforts of the Americans already have shown remarkable results. The condition of the children has been wonderfully improved.

The Red Cross workers found the children in all these war-affected towns in a pitiful state of impoverishment. Many of them were slowly dying of starvation. Others had pellagra and malignant skin diseases. These little ones are now being cared for and given nourishing and fattening foods, such as bacon, jam, cod-liver oil, etc. They have shown wonderful improvement since the Americans came.

All these children have been under the stress and strain of war for four years and have really never known what childhood is. In common with their parents, they have borne the keenest privations and sufferings. Since Rumania entered the war they have not known what it is to play or to laugh. Hunger has robbed them of that spirit. The war has blighted their lives. No smiles have come to their faces, no happiness into their hearts. They are like flowers which have never seen the sunshine. Their wan, pinched little countenances tell a tragic story. They have had neither proper food, shelter nor clothing. Many of them have lost either one or both parents.

The Red Cross gives them American jam and sweets, the things that youngsters the world over crave for, and their dark eyes, frank and melancholy, light up with a new radiance. They become children again. The Americans give them clothing, shoes, stockings. They bathe them. The little tots become real human beings.
