

IDLE SHIPS LIE AT ANCHOR NEAR HEART-SEATTLE

UNCOMPLETED "WAR CRAFT" HAVE BEEN ADVERTISED FOR SALE BUT NONE HAVE YET FOUND PURCHASERS.

Seattle, Oct. 23.—A gray fleet of forty-eight war-built uncompleted, wooden cargo vessels tugs idly at its moorings in Lake Union, near the heart of Seattle. The boats, some of them barely more than hulls, are owned by the United States Shipping Board and are worth $12,000,000, it has been estimated. Most of them are ready to receive their engines.

"Ships that didn't get a chance" they have been called, as the war which rushed them onto the ways and into the water, ended before they reached the seas to do their share in forming a part of "Pershing's Bridge" to carry American men and supplies across the Atlantic to France.

Side by side the ships lie, most of them in a long row near one of Seattle's lake boulevards. After being launched at various northwest yards, several at formal exercises, the ships one by one, were towed to Lake Union to wait for the day when they will be completed and set to sail the seven seas.

There is talk of American, Swedish, British and other buyers for the "gray company" of vessels. Some of them have been advertised for sale but as yet none has been sold. Sixty watchmen are on duty at the ships day and night and fire tugs ply around the fleet. On fair days they play their hoses on the decks drenching them as fire protection.

Five thousand army regulars are on their way "over". They're too late for the fighting but they'll get in on the "W" side on the Rhine" and this detail seems happy over it.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL DRIVE IS SUCCESSFUL

Captain Northup, Local Committee Chairman Reports Progress.

Captain W. H. Northup said last night that the campaign to raise $1200 for the Roosevelt Memorial was meeting with success. The committee covered a great deal of ground yesterday and visited many of the industrial plants. Everywhere the people have responded for the Memorial fund.

Work will be continued today and throughout the week until the necessary quota for Pensacola and Escambia county has been raised. Captain Northup says that the committee in charge here is not going to overlook anybody and he is determined to put this community over the top in the drive.

Reports from all over the country show that the drive is meeting with success and it is more than probable that the donations to the Roosevelt Memorial through the various state and county committees will far exceed the $5,000,000 asked.

BELGIAN ROYALTY SHOWS INTEREST IN STEEL MILL

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23.—Peeping into pits filled with molten metal and watching many other interesting features of a modern steel mill, King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians with Prince Leopold and members of the suite, spent a greater part of the afternoon in the Duquesne plant of the Carnegie Steel Company. They were also taken to the emergency hospital where the queen manifested a keen interest in the company's welfare work. The royal party were received with enthusiasm everywhere.

CHARGES BOSTON COMBINE WOULD CONTROL COTTON

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 23.—A thirty million dollar corporation has been formed in Boston to buy up and control the cotton warehouses of the south, Thomas J. Shackelford, of Georgia, charged in an address here today to the farmers, bankers and business men representing forty-seven Alabama counties. He urged the American Cotton Association to organize its own warehouse system. Milo C. Allgood, state commissioner agriculture, was elected president of the Alabama branch association.
