New York, Dec. 20.—The cotton market opened barely steady at a decline of 9 to 25 points and sold about 22 to 32 points net lower right after the call with January relatively weak under liquidation. This selling probably was due to a belief that the refusal of extra exchange holidays pointed to December and possibly January notices next week. There also was scattering Wall street liquidation, but trade interests were moderate buyers and the market rallied shortly after the call on the firmer ruling of exchange and bullish reports from foreign and domestic goods markets. January sold up from 36.57 to 36.90 and May from 32.42 to 32.63 before the end of the first hour.

New Orleans, Dec. 20.—While ginning returns today of 9,402,520 bales to December 13 from the census bureau were larger than expected the cotton market did not remain depressed very long. After declines of 17 to 27 points around the opening there was a stiff rise on reports of a bulge of 7 cents in sterling exchange rates. At the end of the first half hour of trading prices were 5 to 17 points higher than the closing prices of yesterday.

Liquidation of long contracts was felt after the middle of the morning and the cotton was not well taken so that late in the session the trading months were at net declines of 3 to 12 points, the distant months being stronger than the near, owing to fresh buying in a small way by traders who were impressed with their discounts.

New Orleans, Dec. 20.—Spot cotton quiet, quotations revised. Middling unchanged. Sales on the spot 168 bales; to arrive none. Low middling $33.25; middling $40.00; good middling $41.75.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 617 F. Marcellus Avenue, Massachussetts, N. J. Be true are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.
