New Orleans, Jan. 9.—The fact that ginning in the period extending over the last half of December was larger than it was last year, 614,000 bales against 493 caused selling of cotton on the opening today and soon after the first call, prices of the more active months were 2 to 3 points under the final of Wednesday. Support was received from traders who thought that the ratification of the peace treaty tomorrow would have a constructive effect on world business generally and at the end of the first hour of trading, prices of the old crop months were 1 to 3 points under Wednesday's close. October did not share in the initial decline and at the end of the first half hour of trading stood at a net rise of 25 points.

The reported sale of 5,000 bales of spots by a local house to Japanese interests increased the demand. Tomorrow prices were 2 to 2 1/2 points higher than the closing quotations of Wednesday.
The large mill takings for the week, 411,000 bales, against 393,000 this week last year and 346,000 this week two years ago, carried the market to new high levels for the day. At 1 o'clock the trading months were at net gains of 22 to 40 points up.

New York, Jan. 9.—Increased uncertainty as to prospects for early action on the peace treaty and lower Liverpool cables had an unsettled influence in the cotton market at the opening today. First prices were barely steady with December 10 points higher, but other months were 9 to 55 points lower with March selling off to 36.25 and July to 32.90.

OBITUARY.

J. D. WARD.
The funeral services of J. D. Ward, 65, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the family residence 414 W. Romana-st., after which the body will be sent to Pine Barren for burial.
Mr. Ward died yesterday morning at his home after an illness of ten days. He had been living in this city for the past 4 years, moving here from Pine Barren. He is survived by his wife, one son, Willie, two daughters, Mrs. Katie McAnders of this city and Mrs. W. Mins of McDavid, six brothers W. C., C. F. and G. T. of this city, J. C. of Molino, J. R. of Pine Barren and W. S. of Moore, Ala.

The market became firm, later in the morning on bullish spot news, continued large exports and private advices from Washington taking a more optimistic view of peace treaty prospects. Liverpool was a good buyer of early new crop months and October led the advance, selling 25 points net higher while March sold up to 38.70 and July to 33.41 or 14 to 20 points above last night's closing figures. The advance met some selling, believed to be against purchases of spot cotton in the south, but the offerings were absorbed within a few steady around midday.

"Roll Your Own" Says the Bowler

Watching a game is fun, we'll admit. And everyone is WELCOME to watch the bowlers at our alleys, as often as they like.

But to get real benefit from bowling you must ROLL YOUR OWN. (With apologies to the Bull Durham folks.)

Ruskin said: "If you want pleasure you must toil for it." Bowling is the most beneficial exercise and the real pleasure and benefit comes from playing—not watching.

A MUSEMENTS

Billie Burke is Charming in "The Misleading Widow."

One of the most delightful screen romances ever produced will be at the Isis theatre, today, when "The Misleading Widow," a new Paramount Arctcraft picture, starring Billie Burke, will be shown. Miss Burke has the role of Betty Taradine, who was married and later deserted by her husband on account of her extravagance, and lives in a big house in a little New England village. Colonel Freedy, a wounded army officer, is convalescing at the Taradine house. Betty is besieged by creditors, and short of funds, announces that her husband has died in South Africa, so that she can collect his life insurance. Complications occur when Captain Rymill, the Colonel's aide and friend, arrives and proves to be none other than the "dead" husband. How matters are finally adjusted forms the climax of the story, which is ideally suited to the whimsical art of Miss Burke.

Norma Talmadge in "The Isle of Conquest"

In "The Isle of Conquest," Norma Talmadge's new Select special, the charming star again demonstrates that there is no height of expression too lofty for her.

Her versatility is generously drawn upon as she journeys through the roles of an innocent convent girl to an unhappy wife-hood and thence to a life of isolation upon a tropical island with a lone man companion, there to find complete happiness and contentment. Always pleasing and capable, the star ascends to the full height of her emotional talents and holds the interest from beginning to end.
"The Isle of Conquest" is a fast moving drama treating with a young girl's marriage to a wealthy waster, through the efforts of a designing mother. Later, the yacht upon which they are cruising is wrecked and she finds herself safe upon an uninhabited island with a stoker from the ship's hold. Months of isolation kindness with them a mutual love and all hope of rescue having perished, they are preparing to enact their marriage rite when suddenly her husband appears to return her to his world of sham. Here the circumstances become tragic, concluding with an unexpected and sensational climax.

The play was adapted to the screen by John Emerson and Anita Loos from Arthur Hornblow's novel, "By Right of Conquest," and was directed by Edward José. It will appear at the Isis theatre for two days beginning Monday.

Ed C. Nutt Tent Show

"The Sweetest Girl in Dixie," the present offering at the big tent drew another capacity house last night in spite of the cold wave, but everyone was kept warm and comfortable as the tent was well heated. The play was another good one and the big applause was very liberal with its applause. The play is a delightful evenings entertainment and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The vaudeville features between acts were exceptionally good and Harry Rich gave fifteen minutes of mystery that was excellent. The final performance of "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" is tonight, with a special matinee today at 3 o'clock. Commencing Monday and continuing throughout the first three days of next week, Mr. Nutt has selected "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." This is a psychological drama and one that Robert Mansfield starred in for several seasons. It is quite different from any so far presented by this popular company and the fact that Mr. Mansfield used this one particular play as his vehicle for several years assures it as a successful drama and one which met with the approval of both the press and the public throughout the country.
