A NERVOUS WRECK
Three Years' Suffering. Says
Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting ment, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, s: "For three years I suffered untold ny with my head. I was unable to any of my work.
 just wanted to sleep all the time, for was the only ease I could get, when as asleep. I became a nervous wreck from the awful suffering with my ed.
 was so nervous that the least noise ould make me jump out of my bed. I d no energy, and was unable to do thing. My son, a young boy, had to all my household duties. was not able to do anything until I k Cardui. I took three bottles in all, it surely cured me of those awful adaches. That has been three years and I know the cure is permanent, I have never had any headache since ing Cardui.
 Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui.

Two Songs
 I sang a song for all the world to hear;
 It rose and fell, and reached no listen-

 I sang again, for my own heart alone;
 The earth resounded with the mighty

Social at Kendrick
 Under the proficient management of Mrs. Bradford Webb, the members of the Epworth League of Kendrick gave a most enjoyable entertainment at the hall last Friday evening. The entire program was well carried out and most interesting. It consisted of an unusually well adapted little playette, songs, recitations, etc., all of which succeeded in engaging the attention of the large audience for fully two hours. The children of the Junior League assisted very materially in making the entertainment the success it was. Too much credit cannot be given Mrs. Webb, who so faithfully works for the advancement of the little town in which she lives, for which labor she feels well repaid, in the love and gratitude of the entire community.

Fish Fry at Orange Lake
 At 7 o'clock this evening about thirty people from Blitchton will enjoy a fish fry on the banks of Orange Lake. A cordial invitation by phone this morning to the reporter to be present was sorrowfully declined after due consideration, nevertheless we will be there in spirit, and know that they will be thinking of us when the elegant repast is served.

Birthday Party
 Mrs. Schlemmer most pleasantly entertained a few neighborhood children yesterday afternoon in honor of her little niece, Anna Wilson, whose fourth birthday fell on this day. The happy hours were whiled away with games on the lawn. Anna added much to the enjoyment of her guests by singing sweetly several little songs.
 Later in the evening Mrs. Schlemmer served her little guests ice cream and cake.

A Correction
 The statement made in regard to the amount of war savings stamps sold by the members of Dickison Chapter, U. D. C., should have been $1630 instead of $630.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Winston, son Cornelius and Mrs. Winston's mother, Mrs. Whitfield, have taken the Carson cottage at Lake Weir for a month.
 They were accompanied to the lake yesterday by little Miss Sara Johnson of Palatka, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. L. W. Ponder for some time.

Mrs. D. J. Burnett of Jacksonville is the guest of Mrs. Jerry Burnett for a few days.

Mr. Dean Ponder of Orlando has arrived in the city and will be the guest of his brother, Mr. Lester Ponder for several days. He will be accompanied home by his mother and brother, Mr. Lamar Ponder, who have also been guests at the Ponder home.

Mr. Egleton Hammack, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Bessie Hammack, left today for Jacksonville, where he will take examination to enter the army and expects to go immediately afterward to Fort Screven, Georgia.

Mrs. Rilea and son, Mr. Leon Rilea, who have been the guests of their son and brother, Mr. W. W. Rilea and of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Tompkins, left Sunday, Mr. Rilea going to New York, where he will join the navy, and Mrs. Rilea to her home in Eustis.

Mrs. C. A. Scott and daughter, Charline of Deerfield, who have been guests of Mrs. Scott's sister-in-law, Mrs. D. W. Tompkins for the past few days, will leave today for their home.

Miss Maybelle Robinson, one of Ocala's most charming young ladies, is a guest of her cousin, Miss Flossie Manning of Lynne.

Mr. Herbert Cordrey of Lynne, one of our brave navy boys, who has been home on leave, left last Saturday for Boston. Mr. Cordrey's many friends were glad to see him again.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dampier and children, who have been guests of Mrs. Dampier's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Brown, returned to their home in Miami yesterday. They were accompanied by Misses Carolyn and Babette Peyser.

Mr. Robert Hall has accepted a the week to commence his duties. His polite and gentlemanly bearing are sure to win for Robert deserved encomiums in his new business undertaking. We all our own well wishes for a successful business career.

We had the pleasure yesterday of being introduced to two of Marion's future important personages, Master Leon and Miss Leone, the twin son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Fant of Blitchton. As they greatly resemble each other, we might not have been able to decide which was the prettier of the two, had not their grandfather with pride pointed out the especially fine qualities of the little girl who, we have decided, favors her adoring Uncle Landis Blitch.

 She smiled upon us so sweetly that we at once took her to our heart, while her twin brother cried lustily. We are sure it was not because he thought he was not getting his full share of attention, but because his dear little body was probably fatigued by the long ride from his country home.

At the Temple This Evening A dramatic triumph will be shown at the Temple theater this evening, written by C. Gardner Sullivan and conceded to be the foremost of all photoplay authors, starring the inimitable Bessie Barriscale. "Those Who Pay" offers a combination of star, story and producer that is absolutely unsurpassable.

As Dorothy Warner, the pretty shop girl, forced to solve the problem of supporting herself and a baby sister, on $10 a week, Bessie Barriscale takes advantage of the very opening scenes of the drama to draw her audience, heart and soul, into Sullivan's wonderful story, and make them live with her the tense, dramatic moments which follow each other in quick succession through her tragic career.

"Those Who Pay" stands out promi-nently as one of the truly great silent dramas of screen history.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay and four little daughters of Morrilton have just returned from Daytona Beach, where they went for the benefit of the baby, Margaret's, health, she having been quite sick for several weeks. She is now much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers are moving today from Mr. F. W. Ditto's residence into their own home on Lime street.

Letters received this morning by friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Munroe, who are summering at Franklin, have been heavy frosts and fires and winter garments are in demand.

Misses Carolyn and Babette Peysey left Monday morning for Miami, where they will be guests of their mother, Mrs. Harry V. Simons.
 Mrs. Peyser expects to go to Miami next week and will also be the guest of her son-in-law and daughter.

HER GOOD TASTE

By KITTY PARSONS.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

With her mother's distinct disapproval, Betty Van Ness became engaged to a very nice, but very poor young man. He was only a sergeant in the army, which was a bitter blow to Mrs. Van Ness, whose other daughter was about to marry no less a person than a colonel—a rich middle-aged man old enough to be Althea's father.

"I'm more disappointed in you than I can say," exclaimed Mrs. Van Ness, a few days before Althea's wedding.
 "Here you are, rich, well dressed and quite as good looking as your twin sister, and you have neglected your advantages shamelessly! I refuse to consider your marriage at all, unless you choose another man. You haven't an atom of your sister's common sense!"

"I don't care a bit for worldly advantages," flared the girl. "Ned has made his own way, I know, and I'm proud of him for it!"

"We will not discuss the matter further now. You had better see if Al-thea's wedding gown has returned from the dressmaker's—there's not too much time."

Betty went immediately, glad to have the interview ended.

When she entered Althea's room, she found her sister reading a magazine. A large unopened box lay on her bed.

"Althea Van Ness! Do you mean to say you haven't looked at your dress?
 What a girl!"

Althea laughed. "Well, you see, the story was interesting so I didn't lother. I wish you'd slip it on, dear, and see if it fits. We're exactly the same size and I'm so tired of trying things on."

Betty obeyed, and in a moment she was a vision of snowy white and silver. She looked at herself admiringly in the glass.

"Oh, dear," she sighed. "I'll never look like this if mother has anything to say about it, for I simply won't marry anyone else!"

The wedding was to be at eight o'clock in the evening and by eight in the morning of the great day, the house began to show signs of preparation, while they were at the lunch table, Colonel Gould came in, greatly excited.

"Something very unforeseen has occurred," he began hurriedly. "I have the most urgent orders to leave this afternoon and we will have to be married at once! I cannot explain very much, but it is unavoidable and there must be no delay. The minister is in the drawing room and Sergeant Moore will act as best man. I met him down at headquarters as I was leaving, and brought him along. You'll forgive me, please, Mrs. Van Ness, but he's a fine young man, and it was impossible to find anyone else at this hour."

"I do not understand the army at all," Mrs. Van Ness exclaimed indignantly. "They must have known it would be a terrible inconvenience for us—I shall be mortified to death trying to explain to people! Imagine it—hundreds of guests and no wedding!
 It's the most impossible thing I've ever known."

Mrs. Van Ness was fairly purple with anger. The idea of making herself ridiculous was terrible to her—nothing could be worse!

The ceremony was performed, however, with Betty and Ned Moore as the only attendants and the entire party in morning dress. Then, with everybody's help, Althea and the colonel made the five o'clock train for Washington and Mrs. Van Ness, in a blind fury of rage and disappointment, gave way to helpless tears.

"Only think of the guests," she stormed. "And no bride and groom!
 It's hopeless—perfectly hopeless!" Betty and Ned came back from the train, flushed with excitement. Even Mrs. Van Ness had to admit that he was a very good-looking young man.

"Please, mother dear, let us take their places and be married to-night; Please, please, please, mother!" Betty knelt beside her mother's chair and looked up at her imploringly. "Althea's dress just fits me, and everyone will be so surprised and so pleased and they'll think you were so clever to plan it all! Please, mother dear!"

This was the final straw, and Mrs.
 Van Ness had to give in. She could not bear to have all her plans upset, so she made the concession.

"I've just had a commission for second lieutenant, too, so it will sound better," added Ned, and Mrs. Van Ness actually held out her hand and congratulated him.

"What a beautiful wedding!" exclaimed one of the guests that evening. "And how charming the groom is—quite an addition to the family!" said someone else.

"Mrs. Van Ness always had good taste," added another. "This was so clever of her!"

The next day Althea read the announcement to her husband, the colonel, and they laughed together.
 "If mother knew that you didn't have to go yesterday, wouldn't she be wild! Think of it going off so beautifully, and Betty so happy about it, too. You're a good colonel, George, and I'm glad you settled that battle so well for us all."

And the success of the wedding was so great that in a short time Mrs.
 Van Ness was speaking of her son, Lieutenant Moore, with the same respect as she showed when she spoke of the colonel.

How France Has Been Fed

"Before the war, a distinguished French Officer, General Maitrot, wrote a series of articles in the 'Echo de Paris' to warn France, that in case of war, the French meat industry would be unable to supply the French army in the field with fresh meat,—owing especially to the lack of modern refrigerating plants and of refrigerating transportation,—and too, owing to the deficiency in the national herd."

"Since the war began the French army has never been short of fresh meat, thanks mainly to the prosperous condition of the American meat industry, and too, to the American live stock breeders."

The foregoing statement was made by a representative of the Allies now in the United States.

Another representative of the Allies said recently:

"that the American packers have been of the greatest possible assistance to the Allies and have, by their efficient cooperation, contributed in the utmost degree to the successful prosecution of the war."
