School Children Are Found to Be Under-Nourished

Experiments will be continued at the South Ridgewood school with the noonday lunches, formerly prepared and sold for 15 cents by the Associated Charities, to determine exactly what improvements in the child's health and studies are attained, according to J. H. Meagley, president of the Associated Charities.
Mr. Meagley, in speaking of the discontinuance of the lunches owing to the loss sustained by the Charities, declared that of 37 children patronizing the lunch service, the average gain was 2.3 pounds.
"This proves that some of the children were undernourished," he said. "Underfed children will gain fast until they reach normal weight. Children at normal weight can not be made to gain much more than normal."
"I turned to the school physician," Meagley said, "and he said that when I found the result of the lunches, and was astonished to find that nearly every child is under weight, a great many as much as seven per cent and many 10 per cent."
"We found it impractical to continue the lunches in school but will continue the experiment by feeding a limited number at noon time and in order to conduct this experiment very carefully, the children will be served at the home of F. A. Seaman at 406 South Palmetto avenue. They will be weighed each week, the record will be kept by the school physician, Dr. Josie Rogers, and everything possible will be done to insure a record that can be depended upon to determine what our school board should do to correct the condition.
"It seems to me very probable that the children as a whole lack a large percentage in efficiency in their school work by reason of their condition as shown by Dr. Rogers' reports of each child."

The ladies of the Peninsula Club are desirous that a large attendance be present at the Tuesday card party that the fund may be considerably augmented by the contribution made from the Peninsula Club to the general fund.

Benefit for the Erection of Marker for Soldier Boys

Under the auspices of the Abigail Bartholomew chapter of the D. A. R. a marker is to be placed in Burgoyne Park, in honor of the soldier boys of the Triple Cities who served in the late war.
Various organizations are contributing to the cost of the marker, and the Peninsula Club will give a card party on Tuesday afternoon at the S. J. Peabody residence on North Halifax avenue, Daytona Beach, for the purpose of raising funds to pay their portion of the subscriptions to the marker.
It is hoped that all those who appreciate the service rendered their country by the Triple Cities ex-soldiers and sailors, will show this appreciation by contributing to the fund to erect the marker, any contributions for this purpose being made to Mrs. C. H. Raynor of Daytona.
The ladies of the Peninsula Club are desirous that a large attendance be present at the Tuesday card party that the fund may be considerably augmented by the contribution made from the Peninsula Club to the general fund.
