

REVISION OF WAR TAX LAWS TO BE UNDERTAKEN SOON

By Herbert W. Walker.
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, March 9—A complete revision of the burdensome war tax law will be undertaken as one of the first major tasks of the special session of congress, it appeared certain today as the result of President Harding's first conference with senate and house leaders and other development.

In accordance with the announced policy of Harding, that domestic affairs are of pressing importance in congressional program, it was learned that the president, while not yet having definitely committed himself, is inclined to believe that modification of taxes should precede a general revision of the tariff.

A canvass of the senate finance and the house ways and means committee is being made today in accordance with Harding's wishes to determine which shall be the first task of the new congress, but it is known that majorities of both committees favor first action on the taxation question. Among those who are known to hold this view are Senators Penrose and Lodge, and Representatives Longworth, Mondell, Bacharach, Treadway and Good.

It is generally admitted that no big reduction in the amount to be raised by taxation can be made. The total will have to be close to $4,000,000,000 for the next year at least, and the present laws, because of the recent shrinkage in profits, will not convert much more than that into the treasury. But the plan is to modify the war taxes.

In accordance with this policy it is certain that the excess profits and the petty consumption taxes will be eliminated. As one substitute a tax on the net profits of corporations is being given consideration. The proposals call for from a 10 to 20 percent levy.

BUTTONS ON SHOES SAVES LIFE OF BABY

Bristol, Va., Tenn., Mar. 9—Little 2-year-old Louise Russo had a narrow escape from death today—thanks to the pair of button shoes she wore.

The child lost her balance while leaning out of a second-story window and fell. The mother, hearing screams, rushed out and saw the child hanging head downward from a telephone wire, a button on her shoe having caught and held her secure. She was unhurt when rescued by her mother.

Darby & MacDonald, local Dodge Brothers dealers, yesterday purchased the entire plant and equipment of the Palatka Auto & Supply Company. They have also secured a lease on the building, and will move to their new home about April 1.

Messrs. Darby & MacDonald established the Dodge agency here about two years ago, and have made a remarkable success selling these famous cars and doing general automobile repair work. They state that they have outgrown their present quarters, and it is necessary to secure a larger building in order to take care of their growing business.

The entire building will be remodeled, and when completed will be one of the finest and most conveniently arranged garages in the state. They will also install two modern gasoline filling stations and several oil pumps in front of the building.

GRAND TOMORROW

"Broadway and Home" is the title of Eugene O'Brien's new Selznick Picture at the Grand tomorrow.

Mr. O'Brien is most acceptably cast in the role of Michael Strange, a rugged young man living in a small fishing hamlet on the coast of Maine. He is an ambitious youth and the monotony of his existence is bearing heavily upon him. Paul Grayson, a wealthy artist and friend of Michael's father, offers him a home in New York, and tells Michael he will show him some real life. He does, with a vengeance, and with some unexpected results.

Of course, there is a girl concerned, or rather, two of them, and after seeing Elinor Fair and Eileen Cassidy portray the young women in question, the observer will no doubt sympathize with Michael Strange in his efforts to decide upon which one to center his affections.

There are some most dramatic moments in this John Lynch story, and Mr. O'Brien is more than equal to the occasion in each instance. Frank Losee, who plays the artist offers another of his always excellent characterizations and the balance of the cast under the direction of Alan Crossland are adequate in every respect.

Useless Calls For "Information"

Our records here show that of the thousands of questions answered by Information operators every year, almost half are for numbers already listed in the telephone directory.

The Information operators waste hours daily in looking up and giving out these numbers.

These wasted hours affect operating efficiency on regular calls, cause congestion of the lines and increase the already heavy load on the switchboards.

You can help your service by looking first in the directory to be sure it is not listed before calling "Information."

The Information operators are always ready to give numbers of new subscribers and other changes not listed in the directory.
