

GOLD FEVER NOW RAGING ON PEACE RIVER TERRITORY

(By Associated Press) The Pas, Man., July 1.—Gold fever has temporarily displaced excitement here incident to the rush to the oil fields, and prospectors are leaving daily for the scene of the reported rich mineral strike.

Reports of ore bodies rich in gold content having been uncovered come from several sections, but the richest is reported at Elbow Lake in the Athapuskow Lake mineral area and east of the famous Gordon Dyke discovered last summer. Elbow Lake is about 200 miles northeast of the Pas.

Mining men who have visited the spot have returned here with an account of a vein sixty feet wide wherein free gold is freely seen. Until it is stripped, they declare, however, it is possible only to approximate the value and tonnage.

Other prospectors who visited the region following the report of the strike declare that a mineral body forty feet wide and traced for 350 feet in length has been uncovered, throughout which free gold is heavily deposited. One prospector had two pounds of ore, of which the gold content was estimated at not less than two per cent. These samples are considered the richest ever brought here.

Another strike, the exact location of which is vague, also has thrown Peace River into the throes of gold fever. The cause of the excitement was the recent arrival of a party who investigated a claim which furnished an old Indian trapper, about 70 miles northeast of here, with a number of small nuggets.

Geologists About to Make a Probe. Edmonton, Alta., July 1.—A geological party has left Edmonton for the northwest Territories to make a thorough examination of the structural formations of the north in the interest of a big syndicate representing British, Canadian, American and European capital.

The services of a topographer, and the necessary assistance, were arranged out of a schedule of research which has been mapped

PRINCETON MEN TO STUDY CONDITIONS OF CAPITAL-LABOR

Special to the News Princeton, July 1.—Twenty undergraduates of Princeton University will spend their summer vacations or part of them in attending the great university of American industry—that is they are going to work wherever they can get a job in order to study the conditions of wage earners and their relations with their employers.

They intend to live, eat and sleep as other laborers and wage earners. Every week they will meet in groups to discuss the things they have learned and prepare a report to be given to other college men and future employers. One of the purposes is to see if they can discover means of improving the conditions of the wage earners.

For six weeks before the university closed, 66 Princeton men voluntarily attended a course of lectures in which they listened to speakers alternately representing the standpoint of labor and capital. They studied books on industrial conditions to equip them for their effort to deal with what they regard as perhaps the greatest problem facing America and Europe today.

They say they do not hope to revolutionize the conditions of the wage earners but they do hope to be able to make to employers and capitalists a few suggestions gained from first-hand knowledge of conditions in American industries.

The plan was suggested by Sherwood Eddy, a Young Men's Christian Association secretary who lectured here on social problems.

Some of the Princeton men already are at work in New York, Philadelphia, Denver, Minneapolis and other cities. They agreed that none of them should accept a job if by so doing he threw out of employment another man. The committee out have been secured, but no details are available regarding the destination of the party.

Dr. J. J. O'Neill, well known geologist, who recently returned to Canada from Burma, accompanied the party.

in charge secured positions for more than one-half of the applicants and these were given to men who were working their way through college. The rest are seeking their own places.

Princeton is not the only college to adopt the plan but is taking one of the most active parts in carrying it out. Last summer a group of California students worked in Denver, following a plan something like that which the Princeton men will attempt.

JUDGE PARKER BUILDING A HOME NEAR MOOREHAVEN

(By Associated Press) Moorehaven, July 1.—Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, one time democratic nominee for the presidency, is having a handsome bungalow built at his farm east of this place, where he has had 500 acres of sugar cane planted. Judge Parker left last week for the east after having spent a few days here inspecting his property.

Grand Theater Today.

Bryant Washburn's latest picture, at the Grand theater today is an adaptation of Fred Jackson's stage success, "A Full House." This is a farce-comedy which carries a poker title and offer the star and his capable company plenty of opportunities to amuse the spectator. Mr. Washburn plays the part of a young newly-wed, who is forced to recover a packet of sentimental letters for his friend, Penbroke, in order that the latter might be married to Daphne, with no tangible evidence lying around. Nowell is safely on the train when he accidentally sits down with a crook. When he reaches home the men pick up the wrong bags.

And great is the pretty spouse's surprise when she opens it to find a complete burglar outfit as well as some stolen jewelry. Complications build until nearly everyone is suspected. The crook comes to regain his bag and is caught but only after a policeman has locked everybody in with the warning—"You can come in but you can't go out!" The picture is breezy and bright and uncorks a deal of fun. Mr. Washburn makes the most of every scene. James Cruze has given the picture an adequate production from Alice Eytton's scenario.
