Annual Meeting of Woman's Club

The annual meeting of the Woman's Club, the last one that will be held until fall, was held yesterday afternoon at the club house at which time reports of committees and of the President, Mrs. Howell A. Davis, were made.

October 8th, 1920, brought an Annual Home-coming Day, and about eighty-five of us responded to the call for renewed effort, estimating ourselves fortunate indeed to have a number of past presidents with us.

In their allotted two minutes many words of cherry advice, encouragement and helpful suggestions were given. Then, under the capable sub-chairman, Mrs. Henly, the Social Committee took charge, giving us, as usual, an extremely good time and furnishing an excellent musical program.

Under Mrs. Mann the Library Committee has given us consistently good work, and special mention must be made of the excellent and much appreciated work of Mrs. McQueen in the Bible study.

Mrs. Corcoran, our efficient Musical Chairman, has given us many treats among them Mrs. Stillman Kelly, but unfortunately owing to the condition of the piano we were not able to enjoy to its greatest extent the fine program rendered.

The Political Science Department, under the able management of Mrs. George Welch, has had a strenuous year, but have met splendidly all of the demands on their time and attention, and never in the history of the Club has this branch of work been as heavy and diversified.

During the past year Mrs. Van Horne, our Civic Leader, has given much time and thought to the subject and has unflinchingly given us of her best in this most complicated and far-reaching subject. Civics seem to resemble the Octopus with its many arms, among one of which was the operation with the Community Christmas Tree; also our newly organized Community Service. In addition to the work done by the Civic Department, the Club has also special representation on this council.

Among the many branches of work for the year the Home Economic Department, under the supervision of Miss Sipprell, has had an extremely successful year, and the Club feels much repaid for time and money spent in aiding this work throughout the state. Miss Sipprell has very decidedly put Putnam county, and incidentally Palatka, on the map by her untiring efforts and all the benefits to our locality means a gain for us in all ways.

Mrs. Collins has given much time and hard work to the Child Welfare Work, both in giving us extremely good programs and attending to the extremely heavy legislative work that the awakening of interest on this subject has produced. Mrs. Collins has arranged for a visit from Chocho, the Health Clown, and much pleasure is anticipated from his visit.

The Social Committee, under the management of Mrs. Henly, has given us many pleasant times, that the memory of this year will be with us for some time to come.

The Hospitality Committee is a new but extremely pleasant branch of our household machinery, and thanks are due Mrs. Mobley and her assistants for their efforts in this line.

The Decorating Committee, in charge of Mrs. Hedrick, has added much to the pleasure of our Club year by their efforts to improve the appearance of our rooms.

During the past few months there came a call for help in making sure the food given school-children for their lunches was clean and wholesome. This was met by the appointment of a School Activities Committee, headed by Mrs. Price, marking one more need met by our organization.

The dark cloud of our over-hanging Club debt has been very much lightened by efforts of the Ways and Means Committee, under the leadership of Miss Hutt.

It was decided to make the Seventeenth of March a birthday for the Club, and a party was given, and all friends invited. Three Federation officers attended, (Mrs. McCollum, Mrs. Brown and Miss Skinner), all of whom gave us very interesting and inspiring talks.

Our many friends and members responded generously and our debt is reduced very much more than half.

The House Committee, headed by Mrs. Miller, has had a very busy year and thanks go out to them for their work and thought.

The Club found it advisable to have new by-laws, having outgrown the old ones, so a committee in charge of Dr. Sarah Davis was appointed to form same. They were adopted as read and copies given to Secretary and President, and the Committee was discharged with thanks.

Owing to the absence from town of the Secretary, Mrs. Pearce, and the sad news which has called home our Acting Secretary, Miss Hutt, the report will have to be omitted except to say our roll of new members for the year has reached forty-one.

There is little more for your President to say of the year's work after the concrete reports you have heard, except that the year has been a record of some success and some failure but effort any way.

In conclusion, I wish to express my deep appreciation for the help and sympathy and cooperation of officers and members, and to wish my successor a very happy and successful year.

Respectfully submitted, AGNES DE VENE DAVIS President.

Mrs. Millican Hostess to Club

A pleasant affair of yesterday afternoon was the meeting of the Um-sawee Club, which took place at the home on North Fourth street of Mrs. J. H. Millican. Mrs. Millican had used, effectively, a profusion of shasta daisies and zinnias in decoration; these fresh flowers adding much to the pleasure of the club members who gathered to enjoy their weekly game of pivot auction.

Two tables were arranged for the game, and the makers of high scores were Mrs. N. O. Riles and Miss Winifred Haughton. To these ladies, Miss Millican presented handsome decks of playing cards.

After the game, the hostess served tomato surprise, saltines, sandwiches, olives and iced tea to her guests, who were: Mesdames T. K. Ware, Fred T. Merrill, C. E. O'Connor, N. O. Riles, Walter W. Tilghman, Warner T. Hamm and Miss Winifred Haughton.

ANCIENT MINE OF FABULOUS WEALTH LURES PROSPECTOR

(By Associated Press) Bisbee, Ariz., June 3—For three hundred years, according to reliable records, the Sierra Madre mountains of Sonora and Chihuahua, Mexico, have held the secret of a gold mine of fabulous richness and a vast treasure store of gold, mined and hidden away in an inaccessible tunnel.

The romance of the gold hunter is written in the history of man's efforts through the centuries to reach and bring back to civilization this wealth of the Old Typot mines. Murders and violence have marked many of these efforts and still in many hardy breasts of this mining country today there still stirs the spirit which has promoted many to brave the dangers of starvation, thirst and death at the hands of Indian bands and outlaws in the search for gold.

Mexico City contains records of the old mine and several prospectors, one of them Jack Dunn, accredited discoverer of the Warren district, have reported seeing ruins of the old mine, but none ever reached there.

According to records at the Mexican capital, in the latter part of the seventeenth century the isolated village of Old Typot was raided by Indians, who destroyed the town and killed all the inhabitants except a priest.

After wandering for several weeks, the priest arrived at a little town called Auga Fria, on the Faqui river, where he was received and cared for by a Mexican family. His hardships caused his death, but before he died he gave to the family a description and map of the mining camp. He also reported that the gold obtained from seven years of mining had been stored in an old tunnel because of the impossibility of shipment to civilization.

The story and map, it is said, have been handed down from family to family for generations. Those who attempted to reach the camp lost their outfits and many did not return. The Indians for years menaced all prospectors and this condition still exists, augmented by bands of outlaws.

Max Covita, for several years Mexican consul at Naco, is said to have been the latest possessor of the priest's map. He declared he twice succeeded in getting as far as Casa Blanca from which the ruins of Old Typot are visible and it was reported he had not given up hopes of reaching the place at his death several years ago.
