WHITEWASHING THE FACTS.

Big army and navy advocates are much disturbed because the facts regarding government expenditures have at last reached the public. The citizens of the country have learned with alarm that 88.4 per cent of the total appropriations of the United States government for the fiscal year 1921 went to pay the costs of past wars and to prepare for future wars.

That is the fact the militarists would cover up and that is what the tax-payer has found out. Having learned where over three-fourths of his taxes go no amount of whitewashing of the facts is going to silence his protests.

Novelist Lost Vogue.
During the deluge of "realism" Mrs. Southworth's vogue as a novelist declined, but the older generation, or the older generations, remained faithful to her and her books sold well.

"Midred's fiancé was in the aviation service during the war, was he not?"

"Yes, and I'll wager that he will establish a new record for altitude flights when he discovers how much it costs to keep Midred in clothes."—Judge.

U. S. PROPOSAL STARTLES FOREIGN DELEGATES

agement of other nations which, though not represented are held in high respect, to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—on the fortunes of the world.

"Here is a meeting, I can well believe, which is an earnest of the awakened conscience of twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention of remorse, nor a session of sorrow. It is not the conference of men. Nor is it a council of nations victors to define terms of settlement to remake the human mind. It is rather a coming together from all parts of the earth to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults in our international relations.

Call of War Weary World
"Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone it is rather the spoken words of a war-weary world, struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship; of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

"It is easy to understand this world-wide aspiration. The glory of triumph, the rejoicing in achievement, the love for liberty, the devotion to country, the pangs of sorrow, the burdens of debt, the desolation of ruin—all these are appraised alike in all lands. Here in the United States we are but freshly turned from the burial of an unknown American soldier, while a nation sorrowed while paying him tribute. Whether it was spoken or not, a hundred millions of our people were summarizing the inexcusable causes, the incalculable cost, the unspeakable sacrifices and the unutterable sorrows, and there was the ever impelling ing question: how can humanity justify or God forgive? Human hate demands no such toll; ambition and greed must be denied it. If misunderstanding must take the blame, then let us banish it, and let understanding rule and make good will regnant everywhere. All of us demand liberty and justice. There cannot be one without the other, and they must be held the unquestioned possession of all peoples. Inherent rights are of God, and the tragedies of the world originate in their attempted denial. The world today is infringing their enjoyment by arming to defend or deny, where simple sanity calls for their recognition through common understanding.

New World Fellowship
"Out of the cataclysm of the World War came new fellowship, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the most of them. A world staggered with debt needs its burden lifted. Humanity, which has been shocked by wanton destruction, would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating the measureless cost of war and the continuing burden of armament, all thoughtful peoples wish for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war, wish their statesmen to turn the expenditures for destruction into means of construction, aimed at a higher state for those who live and follow after.

"It is not alone that the world cannot readjust itself and cast aside the excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first recorded conflict to this present day, and the reverse order would more become out boasted civilization.

"Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears, we have no sordid ends to serve; we suspect no enemy; we contemplate or apprehend no conquests. Content with what we have, we seek nothing which is another. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing, which no nation can do alone.

"We wish to sit with you at the table of international understanding and good will. In good conscience we are eager to meet you frankly, and invite an offer cooperation. The world demands a sober contemplation of the existing order and the realization that there can be no cure without sacrifice, not by one of us, but by all of us.

Surrender No Rights.
"I do not mean surrendered rights or narrowed freedom, or denied aspirations, or ignored national necessities. Our republic would no more ask for these than it would give. No pride need be humbled, no nationality submerged, but I would have a merger of minds, committing all of us to less preparation for war and more enjoyment of fortunate peace.

"The higher hopes come of the spirit of our coming together. It is but just to recognize varying needs and peculiar positions. Nothing can be accomplished in this regard of national apprehensions. Rather, we should act together to remove the causes of apprehensions. This is not to be done in intrigue. Greater assurance is found in the exchanges of simple honesty and directness among men resolved to accomplish as becomes leaders among nations when civilization itself has come to its crucial tests.

"It is not to be challenged that government fails when the excess of its cost robs the people of the way to happiness and the opportunity to achieve. If the finer sentiments were not urging, the cold, hard facts of excessive cost and the eloquence of economics would urge us to reduce our armaments. If the concept of a better order does not appeal, then let us ponder the burden and the blight of continued competition.

"It is not to be denied that the world has swung along throughout the ages without heeding this call from the kindlier hearts of men. But the same world never before was so tragically brought to realization of the utter futility of passion's sway, when reason and conscience and fellowship point a nobler way.

"I can speak officially only for our United States. Our hundred millions frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile,

"Beauty is Only Skin Deep"
A gold brick always looks good. It has to. Its promising appearance is its sole virtue. Looks alone will not sell goods today. Merchandise with a name—the name of its maker—has the call. For only the maker of worthy goods can long afford to advertise. At the High Court of Public Opinion any other sort is soon condemned.
Wise merchants and manufacturers seek the good papers to tell the story of their wares. The publishers seek the reputable advertising for the readers' guidance. The well-informed buyer seeks news of good merchandise through the columns of the best papers.
This proves the value of advertising. Neither advertiser nor publisher can prosper without your patronage. Therefore, it is to their advantage to cater to you. They do it, too.
And it is distinctly to your advantage to be guided by the message they lay before you—the advertisements.
