CRESCENT CITY.

is one of the most beautiful locations in Florida. Tourists will find it an ideal spot to spend the winter, or pass a few days of keen delight.

The town is on Crescent Lake (an arm of the St. Johns River) and is 100 miles by water, and 77 miles by rail from Jacksonville.

The all day river ride on the steamer Crescent, from Jacksonville to Crescent City, is one of the delightful experiences of Florida travel. The steamer leaves Jacksonville at 8 a. m. every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, reaching Crescent City at 5 p. m. This trip is the only daylight ride up the broad and picturesque St. Johns. The steamer has pretty cabins and offers a delightful outlook even in stormy weather.

Crescent City is the center of the orange growing industry in middle Florida, and beautiful groves surround the place. Good boating, hunting and fishing will afford amusement for sportsmen.

Naptha launches can be secured cheaply for water trips. Crescent City has good hotels and boarding houses at moderate rates.

Beautifully shaded walks and bicycle paths.

Personal and Social.

E. H. Williams shipped his entire crop of tangerines last week.

Coe D. Smith's launch is on the ways receiving a new coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Buckels have gone to housekeeping in the Benham flat.

Albert McKenzie of Palatka was the guest of his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Appleby, last week.

Mrs. J. A. Icenhour and children of Jacksonville spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Read.

The street lamps were not lighted for several nights owing to a leak in the pipes which it has been bothering the authorities to find.

Miss Susie Walton returned to her home in Palatka Monday after a pleasant visit of several days with Miss Jessie Burton.

Thanksgiving service was held at the Presbyterian church in the evening of that day with an able discourse by Rev. Dr. Reeves, the pastor.

Frank Gautier spent Saturday and Sunday at home. Mr. Gautier is slowly recovering from the lameness which resulted from his serious accident of last summer.

Cardell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams, will entertain a party of her little friends at the grove tomorrow afternoon if the weather is auspicious.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Payson returned last week from Highlands, N. C., where they have been for several months in the interests of Mrs. Payson's health. Though still quite ill, she is said to be improving.

The Thanksgiving dance given by the young people in V. I. A. hall was one of the most enjoyable of recent parties. The young people will hold these hops frequently during the winter.

Mrs. Herling is expected to join her husband and son here this week and for a time will be a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Janusch. Mr. and Mrs. Herling will go to housekeeping as soon as they can secure a suitable house.

Ivan F. Waterman of this place is a member of the champion Stetson University foot ball team. Although he has been engaged in many games this winter he has been doing 20 hours of class room work each week and has maintained a high standard in the academy.

Capt. LaBree made his first run to the Junction with his new and swift passenger launch last Friday evening and is perfectly satisfied with the working of the boat, so we were all the passengers. As soon as the newness wears off the machinery this launch is going to make even quicker runs and the trips to and from the station will be a real pleasure.

C. E. Marsh writes from Rochester, N. Y., that he is well and expects to return to Crescent City for his usual pleasant season at Grove Hall in January before he is able to come. That will be all right, of course, provided he surely comes then, for a Crescent City season without Mr. Marsh would scarcely seem the thing.

F. S. Cone has laid in a big stock of goods particularly appropriate for Christmas gifts, and in his new advertisement this week calls special attention to them. But one has to get into the store and view the goods to get an adequate idea of the extent of his stock. The variety is large. Mr. Cone's watches and jewelry are bought direct from the factory and all middlemen's profits are saved to the purchaser.

MOURNING CUSTOMS.

Origin of the Widow's Cap and Black Sleeve Bands.

The customs of mourning as practiced in various parts of the world seem at first sight to have little relation with each other or with the inward grief which they are supposed to typify. Yet by the exercise of a little patience many resemblances may be discovered among them. The widow's cap, for example, dates back to the days of ancient Egypt. Egyptian men shaved the head and head as a token of mourning. The women, instead of cutting off the hair, concealed it by a close cap. The Romans, who were as a race clean shaven, shaved the head in mourning and wore a wig. The black band on the sleeve as a sign of mourning comes to us from the days of chivalry. The lady tied a scarf or napkin, as the handkerchief was called, about the arm of her knight. If he was killed in battle she wore the band in memory of him.

Black has so long been the color of grief in Anglo-Saxon countries that it seems a part of the upside down civilization of the east that Japan and China wear white. But no longer ago than the time of Elizabeth the unfortunate Mary of Scotland wore white on the death of Darnley. Even now the hearse used for children is white, and in England the mourners at funerals of young unmarried persons wear hats and sashes of white.

A queer English custom is that of decorating the black hearse horses with long false black tails. They attract no more notice on a street in Liverpool than do the black nets used in this country to cover the horses.

A great many sensible people protest that wearing tokens of mourning is a barbaric custom that should be abolished or greatly modified, but when loss and grief actually come into the individual life one discovers that there is a strange, subtle fitness in gloomy garments and that they answer to the need of the soul for silence and separation.

ODD DERIVATIONS.

Curious History of the Word "Vote."

"Vote" is a word with a curious history. To the Roman a "votum" was a solemn promise made to a deity. From the solemn promise itself the meaning of "votum" gradually became the prayer or intense wish that accompanied the promise and then any intense wish whatever. So far the development proceeded in Latin, and "votum" passed into English with the same sense. When Ben Jonson wrote of "public votes" to heaven he meant not mass-meeting resolutions, but prayers. Finally "vote" acquired its present meaning, the formal and emphatic expression of a wish, while the old sense remains with its double "vow."

That openwork bag for shopping, called a reticule, gets its name directly from the Latin "reticulum," "little net." Popularly, however, the word is supposed to owe its existence to the fact that when an Englishwoman visited the first Paris exhibition with her little bag in her hand the Parisians cried "Ridicule!" The Englishwoman, misunderstanding the exclamation, is said to have thought it the correct translation of "little bag" and returned to England calling it a "reticule."

Philologists claim that the phrase to "sleep like a top" comes from the French "dormir comme une taupe," to sleep like a mole. It is said, too, that Cinderella's slippers were not made of glass, but of "vair," the old French word for ermine, which in time became corrupted into "verre," glass.—Chicago News.

LAKE COMO.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Diggert and son, Lawson, left Sunday for their home at Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bunting of Starkeville, Miss., are residing in the Fulton cottage for several weeks. Grandma Holtzgang has been ill, but is able to be about again.

Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Rector and daughter, Ruth, spent Thanksgiving day at Welaka.

Frank Schindern and wife will leave this week for New Orleans, La., where they will be greatly missed, as they have many friends here.

Stephen Palmer arrived Monday. His family were detained in Jacksonville a few days, owing to sickness of the ladies. They expect to arrive later and will be comfortably housed in their cozy home here.

There was preaching in the M. E. church Sunday morning. Owing to inclement weather there was a poor attendance.

Four Good Reasons. An amusing incident happened the other day at a club which had hospitably thrown open its doors to other clubs. A certain well known officer in the brigade of guards was guilty of the offense of smoking in the morning room. As a matter of fact, he was under the impression that it was the smoking room. A brother officer told him of his mistake. He went up to his only other occupant of the room, an old gentleman dining in a corner, and apologized for having inadvertently broken one of the rules of the club. The old gentleman replied, with good reason, as follows: "My dear sir, pray do not apologize. In the first place, I am sure you would not have smoked had you known that it was prohibited; in the second, I should be the last person to blame you if you had done so; in the third, I am not a member of the club, and in the fourth, I have just been smoking myself."—London Globe.

DON'T GET RUSTY.

Keep Your Moral, Mental and Physical Machinery Working.

The machine that lies idle is far more liable to injury than the machine that runs.

Air and dampness do more damage than wear and tear. Let the machine remain inactive awhile, and the coating formed by the corrosion soon covers the bright metal and the parts become stiff and cranky.

A man neglects the working parts of his body. Normally these parts should be exercised. He indulges his members in idleness. Whatever vitality and working force they may have had when in continued use, neglect causes the machinery to run stiffly. It is the rust.

A man may neglect to exercise his working brain forces. He may have ever so quick a mind, but if he does not use his mental machinery the rust of idleness is soon over it.

A man may neglect to use the moral forces that are in him. There is a weakening somewhere. The machine lets down. And soon the parts are rusted.

When the primary or the convention or the ballot box, working parts of government, are neglected the rust collects. The machinery works poorly. It may break down.

Keep your body working without friction by systematic exercise.

Keep your mind bright by using it.

Keep your soul clean by working it. And so for society ninety-ninths of its evils are caused by the idleness of its necessary working parts.—Chicago Journal.
