LOCAL FIRM COMPLIMENTED

THE CRYSTAL RECEIVES FLATTERING LETTER IN REFERENCE TO SOME OF THEIR ADVERTISING IN THE JOURNAL.

The Crystal Pharmacy, of this city, which has been the recipient of many very fine compliments from the largest candy house in the world, Stephen F. Whitman & Sons, still continues in the good graces of the above manufacturer through their very effective sales methods used in selling Whitman's fine chocolates and confections.

On several occasions Stephen F. Whitman & Sons have complimented the Crystal Pharmacy very highly on their wonderful record of Whitman's sales and have on one or two occasions spread broadcast over the entire United States literature holding the Crystal Pharmacy up as a fine example of progressive retailing. Among over $,000 sales agents the Whitman company says the Crystal Pharmacy holds the record for highest percentage of sales in proportion to population in the entire south.

A letter from the manufacturers has just been received by the Crystal Pharmacy in which they are bandied a very choice bouquet on one of their special candy ads. The advertisement referred to is reproduced in today's paper and the letter from Whitman & Sons is as follows:

Philadelphia, Pa., June 11, 1912.
Crystal Pharmacy, Pensacola, Fla.
Dear Sirs: Just a line to express our admiration for the splendid sampler advertisement in The Journal of June 9th. We hope to reproduce this as an inspiration and an example for our agents throughout the country. It is the best thing of the kind that we have seen.

Yours respectfully,

DEATHS WILL NOT STOP THE ARMY FLIGHTS

GEN. WOOD SAYS SCIENCE OF FLYING HAS PASSED EXPERIMENTAL STAGE — ACCIDENTS WILL TEND TO MAKE AVIATORS MORE CAREFUL.

Special to The Journal.
Washington, June 15.—Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, said today that the science of aviation has now passed the experimental stage, and its progress would not be stayed by the accident Tuesday at College Park, Md., in which Lieut. Leighton W. Hazlehurst, Jr., Seventeenth Infantry, U. S. A., and Alfred W. Welch, a professional aviator in the employ of the Wright brothers, lost their lives. The occurrence, he considered, would tend to make the army aviators more careful.

The accident happened when Welch and Hazlehurst were attempting to make the tests required by the government in a machine contracted for by the war department. Although an army board was immediately appointed to determine the cause of the accident, it is probable the cause of the machine's failure never will be known. The crash came so suddenly and unexpectedly that the two men met their death without being able to make a single move to arrest their fall. Seven army flyers were among the score of spectators, but they cannot explain the accident.

Lieut. Hazlehurst was in his twenty-sixth year and was unmarried. The home of his parents is at Macon, Ga., but he was appointed to West Point from Mississippi, being graduated and commissioned a second lieutenant in 1908. He has been with the aviation corps since last March.

Mr. Welch, for several years a resident of Washington, had for three years been with the Wright brothers. He was a member of the Wright camp in Chicago for the aviation meet in August, 1911.
