PRESIDENT AND FIRST LADY PROOF AGAINST HOODOOS

With the announcement that President Wilson and the first lady of the land will leave Washington soon for Shadow Lawn, the royal palace of a place in New Jersey that is ready for presidential occupancy, comes the thought that the name Shadow Lawn is not a particularly cheerful suggestion for a retreat where bright news is hoped for. Sunshine is a more favorable success breeder than shadow. But you never can tell, and President Wilson is hand-in-glove, so they say, with most of the hoodoos already. They generally work at his interest, so the president himself claims. There's that unlucky thirteen, for example. The president has eaten up thirteen like an ice cream cone. It's his lucky number, and as for Fridays, why, the eminent gentlemen would have every day in the week fall on Friday if he could have his unopposed say so.

The president will occupy Shadow Lawn in the thirteenth year of its existence. It was built in 1903. So he scores there to begin with and will proceed to eliminate the spots out of the hoodoo that the natives feel, with a superstitious shudder, lurks about the magnificent abode. Unmerciful disaster is said to have followed fast and followed faster upon the heels of the three former residents of Shadow Lawn. Bankruptcy stalked red-handed through its palatial halls. Collapses lurked in its doorways. Everything short of shocks and infantile paralysis infested the scene on account of the war on the high price of gasoline or something of that sort, very likely. But the evil spell, popularly supposed to do business in blocks of three, will have exhausted itself before the fourth occupant of Shadow Lawn takes up his residence there to be informed that a big bunch of people are back him for an encore presidential engagement.

The new Mrs. Wilson has kept up an exuberant social campaign for a record-breaking stretch of months and she isn't fagged in the least yet, they say. A large reception at the White House in the dog days such as the president and Mrs. Wilson recently gave to visiting postmasters was an almost unprecedented demonstration of energy. The rest of the social world at Washington and everywhere else, for that matter, flopped long ago.

Mrs. Wilson has been playing golf almost daily with her husband at the sequestered little country club across the river to Virginia beloved by both. She goes on many a stealthy tramp with her lord, undeterred even by rainfalls. Hacin-joshes are plentiful at the White House and goloshes are a drug in the market.

Week-ends on the Mayflower, ever, are pretty good substitutes for a long summer trip. There are always compensations even to the worst and most presidential of slaveries, it would seem.—Palm Beach Post.

WELL-BRED WOMEN DO NOT WEAR FEATHERS AND TRA-LA-LAS

Women are learning that a display of feathers and ultra finery and tra-las for street wear that cost ever so much money, is a good deal like opening their purses and inviting the wayfarer to look at the tax total. Naturally well-bred women do not care so to advertise themselves sartorially. Still, all street costumes can have style, snap and a smart appearance, if there is money available to pay for those qualifications. Poverty, however, is no excuse for frumpish dressing. A very moderate income, combined with a fairly good dress sense can produce an acceptable wardrobe. It is not true that clothes are more expensive than ever; they are cheaper than they have been for many years; that is everyday costumes for either the woman of fashion or the working woman. They say that millinery prices have slumped a half; that the expensive plumage has gone out of style and the durability of the material used, which is economy in the long run.

Daytime dresses seem to have reached the height of perfection this year. They are the simplest of the simple for morning and street wear and they are dainty and charming for afternoon and evening. The typical dress for late summer wear is fashioned of voile, crepe or organdie. One of the prettiest dresses worn at dance last week was of pink organdie with ruffle trimming of the material. It was not loaded down with lace and ribbon and a satin foundation and was all the prettier for it.

Girdles and belts of many descriptions are still very fashionable making it easy to introduce variety and color in the costumes. Narrow strap belts of colored suede, soft or vivid, according to the tone of the material of the gown, encircle coat or simple skirt of the sport costume, and the plain little serge or linen frock may be girdled, as soberly or gorgeously as fancy dictates. The daytime dress of natural linen is made attractive by bright embroidery. One thing is certain. One need not be afraid of oddity in clothes these days.—EX.

GIVING ADVICE

A woman there was and she wrote for the press
(As you or I might do).
She told how to cut and fit a dress,
And how to stem many a savory mess,
But she never did it herself, I guess
(Which none of the readers knew).
Oh, the hour we spent and the flour we spent,
And the sugar we wasted like sand,
At the behest of a woman who never had cooked
(And now we know that she never could cook).
And did not understand.

A woman there was, and she wrote right fair
(As you or I might do)
How out of a barrel to make a chair,
To be covered with chintz and stuffed with hair,
'Twould adorn any parlor and give it an air
(And we thought the tale was true).

Oh, the days we worked, and the ways we worked
To hammer and saw and tack,
In making a chair in which no one would sit,
Without a creak in his back.

A woman there was and she had her fun
(Better than you and I);
She wrote recipes, and she never tried one;
She wrote about children—of course she had none—
She told us to do what she never had done
(And never intended to try).

It isn't to toil and it isn't to spoil,
That brims the cup of disgrace—
It's to follow the woman who didn't know beans
(A woman who never had cooked any beans).
But wrote and was paid to fill space.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and Doesn't Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crabs into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful to-night and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.
