The United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has printed hundreds of very useful bulletins on agricultural topics. Nothing of real value to American farmers has been overlooked. A catalogue may be had for the asking, from which any bulletins that may be of direct use can be selected. Send for it. The Department of Agriculture at Tallahassee and the State Experiment Station at Gainesville, have also printed a large number of invaluable bulletins, based on Florida conditions, says the State Marketing Bureau. These free bulletins of the Federal and State governments can be made to form a library of inestimable importance to any practical farmer.
