MRS. OLGA WHITE BARNES TO GIVE RECITAL ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Pensacolians need no introduction to Mrs. Olga White Barnes as an entertainer, and so it will be with a very sincere pleasure that her friends here will hear her when she appears in recital on Tuesday afternoon at the Catholic Knights hall, under the auspices of the Pensacola Equal Suffrage League.

Mrs. Barnes leaves Thursday for her home in Sanford, Fla., after several weeks spent here with relatives and friends, and while she has given of her talent at one or two private entertainments and at the recent out-door reception for the Civic League, this is her first public recital since her arrival here.

The Pensacola Equal Suffrage League cordially invites the public to hear Mrs. Barnes on Tuesday afternoon and as this is a courtesy of Mrs. Barnes and the league, there is no charge of any kind. All who have enjoyed the talent of Mrs. Barnes in the past and those who have not yet heard her in recital, have a rare treat in store, for she is dialect and always pleasing in any role. The hour for the opening of the program is 4:30. Several musical numbers will add to the interest of the program.

To Plan For Equal Suffrage Convention.

There will be a called meeting of the Pensacola Equal Suffrage League on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock to formulate plans and appoint committees for the convention of the Florida Equal Suffrage Association, which meets in this city December 8-9-10. The meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. E. E. Saunders, 221 West Jackson street, and all members are earnestly requested to be present.

Pensacola was chosen, by a unanimous vote, as the convention city, and was also honored by the election of one of the delegates-at-large, Mrs. E. E. Saunders being one of the Florida representatives. Miss Minnie Kehoe has been chosen as the local delegate to the national convention.

The convention in Nashville closes only a short time prior to the opening of the convention in this city, and as there are a number of the delegates

ATTRACTIVE STREET COSTUMES MADE IN AMERICA AND SEEN ON THE AVENUE

The two attractive suits shown in the photo are of gray chiffon broadcloth. The skirt of the model on the right is a two-tier affair. The jacket is the popular three-quarter length and has the equally popular three-quarter length sleeves. One-button belt of gray chiffon broadcloth to match. Gray silk stockings and gray silk pumps complete the symphony in gray. The skirt of the model on the left is a one-tier affair. The jacket is the popular three-quarter length and has a high Medici collar of gray velvet. The button of material to match the costume. Considerable attention was attracted by the wearers of these two costumes. The hat worn by each is of black velvet, trimmed with a wreath of roses.

EGGART-WOLFE WEDDING WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER ELEVENTH.

Invitations are out to the wedding of Miss Mary Wolfe, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wolfe, to Mr. Charles William Eggart, the marriage to take place on November 11.

The wedding is to be at high noon, at the First Methodist church, and a number of invitations have been issued to friends both in the city and out-of-town.

Miss Agnes Wolfe, the bride's young sister, will be her maid-of-honor, and Miss Minnie Eva Eakins of Mobile, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Louise Eggart, a sister of the groom, will act as bridesmaids. Mr. Robert Stout and Mr. Austin Wolfe will be ushers and Mr. Harry Winters, of Mobile, a nephew of the groom, will be his best man.

Little Aroola Diden, the daughter of Mr. David Diden of Milton, will be the bride's pretty little flower girl.

An elaborate and beautiful musical program will be given before the marriage ceremony, on the assembling of the guests. Miss Eulalie Hutchinson will sing, accompanied by Miss Ethel Crowson, violin, and Miss Claude Kirkpatrick at the organ.

Mrs. D. B. Rutherford, an aunt of the bride-elect, will play the wedding march both for the entrance and exit of the wedding party.

The bride and groom will leave on the noon train for New Orleans and other points for an extended bridal trip.

Both Miss Wolfe and Mr. Eggart have a very wide circle of friends in West Florida and Alabama much interested in their approaching wedding. Miss Wolfe by her gracious charm of manner and pleasing personality has much endeared herself to many friends, and is socially a great favorite. Mr. Eggart, who has filled the position of city clerk for a number of years, has many friends in the business world as well as socially, and both are receiving many felicitations.

A number of delightful courtesies have been planned for the bride-elect.

MISS MORRIS HOSTESS AT HALLOWEEN PARTY.

Miss Minnie White Morris entertained very delightfully at a Halloween party Friday evening at her home, 131 East Gregory.

Upon entering the door the guests were approached by a ghost, with an icy hand, with which the guests had to shake hands, before they were allowed to enter.

The folding doors between the dining-room and parlor were thrown open, the parlor was left for dancing, while in the dining-room and reception hall, various Halloween games were played, among which was a guessing contest, in which Miss Annie Bayless and Mr. Gerald Oliver were declared winners.

The dining-room was decorated in Halloween colors, the table being decorated with black cats, witches, owls, bats, and crepe paper draped from the chandelier.

Light refreshments were served during the evening, music was furnished by the Victrola and piano.

Among those who enjoyed Miss Morris' hospitality were: Misses Catherine Stewart, Margaret Harper, Mrs. Emma Allen, Pauline Muller, Yvette Caro, Gladys Stearns, Mae and Clara Stokes, Alice Pritchard, Louise Bond, Jodie Sullivan, Hallie Henderson, Annie Bayless, Ruth and Odessa Crooke, and Messrs. Michael DiLustro, Frank Bond, J. P. Morris, Forsyth Caro, Charlie Davis, John Edwards, James, Fred and Arthur Crooke, Willie Sullivan, Albert Bonifay, Gerald Oliver, Leo Anderson, Clarence Stokes, Dr. Stokes and Mr. Hawkins.

PRETTY BOUQUET FOR MISS GONZALEZ.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 27, 1914. Society Editor Pensacola Journal.

My Dear Madam: Here is a little bouquet for Miss Violet Gonzalez, which you might put in your Sunday Journal if you care to. I always believe in encouraging the beginners.

When a younger man I was on the staff of Chicago Tribune, and feel that I am still capable of passing judgment upon writings of almost any nature.

Miss Gonzalez's poem is very fluently written, and plainly indicative of the fact that the writer possesses not only a most refined and esthetic nature, but also a keen, strong intellect and sound reasoning.

In short, one could not expect other than such beautiful sentiment coming, as they do, from such a beautiful and charming young woman.

Very respectfully,
A. A. DUNBAR,
Pensacola, Fla., East Jackson St.

HAVE ARRIVED FROM PARIS.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Dunwoody and two children arrived yesterday from Paris, via New York, and are guests of Mr. Dunwoody's sister, Mrs. Henry Baars, at Cordova park. Mr. Dunwoody and family have been residents of Paris for a number of years, but have many friends and relatives here who are delighted that they will probably spend the winter in Pensacola.

PROGRESS CLUB OPENS THE SEASON.

The season at the Progress club was opened informally, but very brightly Wednesday night when the club's hospitality was extended for the first time this season.

These informal gatherings, which will take place weekly at the clubhouse, are designed to please both the young and older element of society, and while the members of the married set enjoyed their favorite game of five hundred, the dancing contingent showed their skill in the new steps in the ball room upstairs.

Mr. Nathan Weiland won the prize a pair of silk hose for skill at the card tables, twenty players at five tables, enjoying the game.

Among the dancers, who were joined later in the evening by the card devotees were:
Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Forchheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Oppenheimer, Miss Gladys Cahn, Matilda Sonfield, of New Orleans, Sadie Kugelman, Reina Cahn, Fannie Waggenheim, Clara Frenkel, Ethel Friedman, Esther Gugenheim, Hilda Bear, Paula Hirskevitz, Miriam Friedman, Dr. Ackerman, Messrs. Harry Waggenheim, Jake Kugelman, Lazar Cahn, Albert Klein, Alva Mocc, Emanuel Gutman, Morris Levy, Leon Lischkoff, Dr. Bertram Dunwoody, Dr. Mozart Lischkoff.

IN HONOR OF MISS MARY WOLFE.

Dainty invitations, bearing Cupids and hearts, have been issued to a miscellaneous shower to be given by Mrs. J. Emmet Wolfe at her home on North Palafox street on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11, in honor of her niece, Miss Mary Wolfe, whose marriage to Mr. C. W. Eggart, will take place at the First Methodist church at high noon on Wednesday, Nov. 11, and will be of interest to a large number of friends and acquaintances.

HOSTESS AT HALLOWEEN PARTY.

Little Miss Wilma Barkdull was hostess last evening to about thirty of her boy and girl friends, at a Halloween party. Games, dancing and fortune-telling made the hours pass very delightfully for the little hostess and her guests.

FORTY-SIXTH CONVENTION OF NATIONAL SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

The call has just been issued by the National American Woman Suffrage Association for its forty-sixth annual convention. It summons the delegates of its sixty member-associations to meet together for inspiration and for counsel. The convention will be held by invitation of the Tennessee Equal Suffrage League in Nashville, November 12 to 17. It will in many respects be the most important convention in the history of the national association. Plans will be discussed for winning the enfranchisement of the women of the whole country in the speediest and most practicable manner.

MR. AND MRS. AYMARD IN THE CITY.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Aymard arrived Saturday from Memphis and are guests of Mrs. Aymard's mother, Mrs. M. P. Palmes. Mr. and Mrs. Aymard will spend the winter in Jacksonville. Mrs. Aymard's friends will be glad to know that she will be here for several days.

AMENDS.

If I were blind,
Nor never knew the sweet, green glory
Of the spring, I'd be a memory
Still could I hear at dawn the lark,
Thrush song at dusk, and stir of wings;
Ah, who could be disconsolate
When left so many a lovely thing!

If I were dumb
And on mine ear fell loved melodies
In vain,
Could I not see the splendid sun
And taste the cool of summer rain;
And in my heart be memories
That silence stir to songs again.

If I were dead,
Then what were left? Would you not
Come o'er me weep;
And kneeling by my narrow bed,
All night a wide-eyed silence keep—
What then could man ask more of
God
Than this—your love and sleep?
—Maxwell Struthers Bart.

THAT DAY YOU CAME.

Such special sweetness was about
That day God sent you here,
I knew the lavender was out,
And it was mid of year.

Their common way the great world
blew,
The ships sailed out to sea,
Yet ere that day was spent I knew
Mine own had come to me.

As after song some snatch of tune
Lurks still in grass or bough,
So, somewhat of the end of June
Lurks in the weather now.

The young year sets its birds afloat
The old year strips the trees;
But ever in my lavender
I hear the "travelling bees."
