T. B. BURNS TELLS HOW HE WAS SHOT

WAS WAVING AT YOUNG MAN ON BICYCLE TO TURN BACK WHEN SHOT HIT HIM.

T. B. Burns, the well known wheelwright, who was shot in the arm in the terrible tragedy of Saturday, was able to be out yesterday. His wound is a very painful one, a buckshot having passed entirely through a portion of his right arm.

"I was standing by the billboard between the office of Dr. W. B. Burroughs and Miller's store shortly after the first shooting started," he said. "One or two others were near me. I saw a young man on a bicycle riding toward the drug store where all of the shooting was going on, and seeing that the young man did not realize what was taking place, I waved at him to turn back. He did not seem to understand what I meant, and continued on toward the corner of Newcastle and Gloucester streets. I then yelled at him again, throwing up my right hand motioning to him to turn around. Just then I heard another report of the gun, felt a shot strike me and saw Phillips removing the gun from his shoulder. I left at once and found that one of the buckshots had penetrated my arm. The young man on the bicycle quickly turned and headed in another direction."

Four or five of the buckshots fired at Mr. Burns and the others standing near him lodged in the billboard just behind them, and it was fortunate that the others were not injured.

BODY OF SEGUI FOUND SUNDAY

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE RAMBLER WRECK WASHES INTO CUMBERLAND INLET.

The body of Charlie Segui, one of the victims in the wreck of the little tug Rambler off Cumberland island early in January, has been recovered.

The body of Mr. Segui was found late Saturday afternoon in what is known as Cumberland inlet, and which is not a great distance from the spot where the little tug was wrecked. Information was received in the city early yesterday morning of the finding of the body, but it was not known at that time which of the victims it was. A party, composed of Edwin W. Dart, Ivan Dart and J. D. Baldwin, left immediately for Cumberland, returning last night with the body. Those who viewed the body stated that in view of the long time that the remains had been under water, were in unusually good condition, and it was at once recognized as that of young Segui. His clothing furnished the best identification, but his face, to some extent, especially his teeth, could still be identified.

The body was carried upon the arrival to the undertaking establishment of the Baldwin-Edge Company, where it will be prepared for interment. The funeral has not yet been arranged.

With the recovery of this body there are now only two missing, those of Capt. Harry Ingram and Engineer Charles Dart. The bodies of the two colored deck hands were found the day after the tug was wrecked and a few weeks later the body of George Bell was found on Cumberland beach.

PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION FOR FAMILY OF G. W. ASHELL

A public subscription for the family of George W. Asbell, who was shot to death in the awful tragedy of Saturday morning, was started late yesterday afternoon, and, although lists were not circulated but were placed in various drug stores in the city, over $115 was raised in a very short time, practically every person in the city who happened to see one of the lists quickly adding his name to it.

Mr. Asbell was unusually popular among many friends in the city, was a steady, hard-working citizen, always attentive to his duties. It was learned yesterday that his family was really in need, and the public subscription was started by friends. Those who care to contribute can find a list at Branch's, Andrews' and Hatcher & Josey's drug stores.

GRAY CASE UP IN BANKRUPT COURT

EFFORT TO DISTRIBUTE FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS IN HAND FAILED.

Lawyers from various sections were in the city yesterday to attend a session of the bankrupt court before Referee Crovatt in a matter in the case of the Gray Lumber Company, of Pine Blom.

The hearing was on a motion to distribute among various creditors and others $15,000, which is now in the hands of the receivers and which was realized in the recent sale of the property. The lawyers argued over the petition for some time, but they were never able to agree and nothing was done in the matter. It was apparent that there was too many places to distribute the small amount in such a large case and consequently no equal division of the money could be agreed to.

Those in the city to attend the hearing were: Col. W. E. Kay, of Jacksonville; Col. Ragdale, also of Jacksonville; John W. Bennett, of Waycross; W. C. Lankford of Douglas; Jno. C. McDonald, of Waycross; J. M. McDonald, of Douglas; Jacob Gazan, of Savannah; B. T. Allen, J. O. Irmans, Wallacochee; Attorney Ogden, of Savannah, and others. Judge D. W. Kauss and Judge Max Isaac, of this city, were also interested in the case.
