benefit, have had and do have My most hearty concurrence, and I therefore commend to you most earnestly the recommendations of My Ministers in this respect.

It is my painful duty to inform you that the Widow of My Predecessor, His late Majesty Kamehameha III, deceased at her residence in Honolulu, 20th September, 1870.

It is with great pleasure that I see hundreds of you so many, who, in former years, have had experience in legislative business, and who by their return to this Assembly, give evidence that the people have the same confidence in their experience which I myself entertain.

I pray most humbly and heartily, the King of Kings, to rule your Councils, that every thing may be ordered for the public good. And with this prayer I commend to your wisdom, patriotism and fidelity, in which I have unflinching reliance.

A Brilliant Wedding.

The marriage last Saturday evening of the only daughter of His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Relations, at his residence in Neunau Valley, (notice of which is given in another column under the usual heading) was the occasion of a most brilliant assemblage of Honolulu Society.

The ceremony was celebrated at an early hour of the evening before His Majesty the King, who honored the family with his presence, and also Her Majesty Queen Emma, and a small circle of friends.

A general reception of friends commenced at eight o'clock when the rooms were speedily filled with overflowing with the throng of guests who came to present their congratulations; the radiant bride being the centre of attraction and crowning of all eyes.

The wedding gifts, arranged upon a table in a side room, were especially rich and handsome, and elicited general admiration from the company as the graceful tokens of affection and good will on the part of the donors.

The Band added their quota to the entertainment of the early evening by selected pieces of music, as they did later on, by affording the opportunity to those so inclined, to add to the other pleasures that of the many changes of the dance.

In the dining room, the table was spread with the materials of a substantial, as well as elegant supper, its vases crowned with the fragrant flowers of a Wedding and a Bride's Cake, the latter including the mystic prophetic ring, awaited and in due time received the attention of the company.

The brilliant toilets of the ladies; the crowd of smiling faces; the murmur of joyful voices; and the happy animation which pervaded the rooms, made the scene a beautiful, as it did the occasion a delightful one, and we hope the vista of life, entered upon so auspiciously by the newly wedded pair, may continue to expand before them with ever brightening colors.
