A Rain of Fish-Bones.

If the statement of some of the residents of Louisiana is to be credited, Dame Nature has recently been playing strange pranks in that part of the country. A writer to the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, whose veracity and good standing is vouched for by the Editor of that paper, gives the particulars of a strange phenomenon that occurred in Carroll Parish last month. He says that a heavy storm visited that parish some days previous to the date of writing. (The 21st ult.) and during the storm fish-bones fell to the ground from an exceedingly large black cloud that was passing at the time. The shower of bones was attended by a very heavy fall of rain. ...
