

At the Last.

Three little words which say both Just back and forth their own refrain, Three little words, whose dull distress Means anything and nothing, Children sure by lips parted Of any moment— "Yes, is dead."
Then, singing, we watch their feet Tread the halcyon garden path:
The smiling, and the twilight fall The halo on a last farewell.
There were the real words she said—But yesterday she said "is dead!"
I saw the very gown she wore, I saw her feet in sandals, I saw her hair, I saw her eyes, I saw her smile, I saw her face;
The waiting death, wherever would pass, I saw her light in the garden.
For one hour smiling and she is dead,
For one hour smiling and she is dead,
Could I have known what was to come, I would have followed close with death, Have striven for every glass and breath!
But now—she lies in the ground,
The last back where she is dead.
We were not loath to say, as they Who judge a life to last for aye, Yet some the sentence to me A riddle now without a key:
What means the smallest word,
The last back where she is dead?
No new grief, her soul has been As her eyes scanned away;
And old as it seems my heart Was never from its pain again; What was and is and shall be,
With that one sentence—she is dead.
—Edith Palmer, August.

Voluntary.

Canada talks of expelling the Jesuits.
The Fourth Gospel set to music has been found among some fourteenth-century relics in Holland.
A young husband handed his wife a dozen buttresses the other day, and asked her to put a shroud to them.
A few pots of canned meats and one shirt partially make up the list of Maine's contribution to the Vienna Exposition.
A Chicago paper tells of a couple who married in that city after three hours' acquaintance, but didn't explain why they waited so long.
A share in the business was promised a cashier of a bank recently. "Does that include the embursement?" He modestly asked of the astonished directors.

Governor Washburn of Wisconsin, in a recent message called church fairs, charitable gift enterprises, etc., "the schools where gamblers are made," and recommended a law to break them up.

A negro was put upon the stand as a witness, and the judge inquired if he understood the nature of an oath. "For perjury, boss," said the citizen; "if I swear to a lie I must stick to it."

A Troy dentist became emotionally insane while repairing a front tooth for a pretty woman, and killed her. She told her husband, and he went round and borrowed $5000 of the dentist on long time.

Mr. Elinor Wright proposes that there shall be a revised canon school edition of the Bible, from which edition every thing shall be left out to which a good citizen of any or no religious creed could object.

A young man disguised as a woman has been selling conical hats to the Oshkosh ladies. He sold to a hundred to members of the first families, and himself fitted the garments to the plump beauty of his customer.

"Pretty had under foot to-day," said one citizen to another, as they met in the street. "Yes, but it's fine overhead," responded the other.
"True enough," said the first, "but then very few are going that way."

A San Bernardino, California, assessor asked a woman how many chickens she had, and doubting her word, proceeded to count them. She took him to the tea-table, kicked it over, and invited him to count the hens. He'll take a woman's word next time.

Newspaper mistakes are scarcely unavoidable.
Every issue of many journals involves the placing of 150,000 types. Out of that number some will be wrongly placed, in spite of the best of care.
A Pittsburgh paper made a rather ridiculous blunder lately, and yet there was only one little letter out of place. The editor said "The Legislature passed the bill over the Governor's head."

A wife whose sole idea of conjugal happiness is centered in carresses, and deep looks of love, and midnight rambles on the terrace, and the lightest possible strain of the piano-strain, and while these manifestations, gives way to taste, to rebuke, to pettish sarcasms, to outrageous revenges, is of all women the one most likely to make an unhappy home, and to create the antagonism which she begins by deploring.

A THEOLOGICAL CONSCIENCE.—And now comes a story to the effect that an Iowa Congressman was so conscience-stricken because of his salary that he couldn't sleep, and so got up every morning more recently and buried the money in the garden, and then went in to prayers with a light heart. We haven't heard of any California Congressman who has been seriously troubled in this way.—San Jose Mercury.

A wonderful piece of sewing machine work is on exhibition at Norwich, Conn., consisting of articles connected by a thread. There is a piece of tiger skin, two thicknesses of sole leather, a piece of lead an eighth of an inch thick, nine thicknesses of cotton goods, and a piece of tissue paper. All the work was done without change of stitch, needle, thread or tension, and the stitch was as perfect in the tissue paper as in the lead.

A Lexington, Mass., owner of bens noticed that one of them had an immense crop, and processing a sharp knife made an incision and drew forth a diamond. That's just like a bee. It will cut anything it can swallow, and swallow anything it can get hold of. It would swallow a saw if it were loose, and then step around back of the house to see if dinner was ready. It is with bees as with story papers, everything is in their stocks.

Attorney-General Williams argues that the Maine capture may be tried and punished by a military commission for offenses against the laws and usages of civilized warfare committed before they were captured by the United States army.
General Schofield will be ordered to instruct General De- to organize such a court for the trial of those who violated the flag of truce and aided in the killing of Conly and Thomas. The President will have to pass on the ending of this court before execution of the judgment.

About Women.

If a miss is as good as a mile, how much better is a Mrs?
A woman's printing company is to be organized in St. Louis.
The women question—How shall I have my spring suit made?
Women can now be elected school officers in any part of Illinois.
An old maid in Pittsburgh has manufactured 115 worsted cats this spring.
Women in Florida make from $18 to $23 a week braiding palmetto hats.
Mrs. Alice Fargo has been appointed assistant light-house keeper at Dunkirk.

Sixteen American female journalists have gone over to write up the exposition.
A Raciue woman has a great passion for traveling about and killing dogs with a revolver.

Seventeen new women lectures are preparing to assist in turning the world upside down next season.
A young and happy widow in Paris recently remarried to a friend: "I am now in the honeymoon of my widowhood."

Miss Nellie Thurston is engaged to be married to a man at the Antwerp (N. Y.) Union Agricultural society's grounds.
A young lady speaking of one of her aversions, said the severest thing on record: "He's almost a perfect brute—the only lacks instinct."

A young lady from the country called at a book store the other day, and asked for "a deck of their new postal cards—double headed."

Said a woman to a physician who was weighing two grains of calomel for a child; "Diana be-so mean wit, it is for a poor, fatherless heir."

A young lady told an admirer the other evening that he was like her opera-glass, "because," said she, "I can draw you out, see through you, and shut you up."

Twenty pupils of the Pittsburgh female college having been converted, declare their determination to flirt with none but young divinity students hereafter.
A party of American boarding-school girls started for Europe the other day, under the charge of competent instructresses, for a fifteen months' tour of observation.
A Milwaukee servant girl had gathered together eighteen towels, fifty napkins, twenty sheets, three quilts, seven dresses and several other articles when arrested.

Young ladies who are disgusted with things in general, as many of them profess to be, are reminded that there are three hundred nurseries in the United States.

The Danbury News man has observed that when a man has trouble he takes to drink, but when a woman meets with misfortune she merely goes over to her mother's and takes tea.

There is a young girl in Brooklyn who for a long time has supposed herself to be dying of love, but a council of eminent physicians called and pronounced it to be dyspepsia.

Out of the forty girls at a boarding school none of them could tell how many years George Washington was President, but they knew to a cent the cost of any kind of bustle in the market.

Mary F. Astin says: The frivolity and pointless talk of which you complain among women are not, the rapid buzz of the wheel which has no regulation. It means power running to waste.

An Iowa justice of the peace refused to fine a man for kissing a girl against her will, because when the lass came into court he was obliged to hold on to the arms of his chair to keep from kissing her himself.

The ladies of the harem of the King of Siam have put off the Siamese harem costume and donned the European harem-scarem costume, consisting of ethnologic, high-heeled gaiters and back files of newspapers.

A Pittsburgh woman swore that she was only thirty years of age, while she had a son in the court-room whose age was twenty-five. The judge thought there must have been some mistake, but she wouldn't admit it.

The Wockedast, speaking of women in Germany, says that the farther they keep themselves from politics the more zealously do they mix themselves in religious questions, and introduce into them all the love and hate of which their nature is capable.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWN'S CHLORODYNE IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

THE PUBLIC ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST the unproved statements frequently made, "that the composition of CHLORODYNE is known to Chemists and the Medical profession." The fact is, Chlorodyne was discovered and invented by Dr. J. COL-LIS BROWN (an Army Medical Staff), and so named by him, and it has been analyzed and analyzed by the first Chemists of the day. The method and secret of the preparation have never been published under the name of Dr. COLLIS BROWN'S CHLORODYNE, is a serious imitation.
CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. Collis Brown was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.
This valuable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, relieves the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without exciting any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times with complete safety. Thousands of persons under the most distressing conditions of disease, and in many cases who had been long and vainly treated by all the medical resources of the day, have been cured by this valuable remedy. It is particularly valuable in the treatment of the following diseases:—Cholera, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, Colic, Coughs, Asthma, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Whooping Cough, Cramp, Hysteria, &c.

EXTRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS.
The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians, and J. T. Downport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was CHLORODYNE.—See Lancet Dec. 18, 1864.
