The Church and the Question of Dancing.
(From the New North-West.) 1. No church has a right to attempt to bind the conscience of an individual by any rule not clearly expressed in the Scriptures. What the Bible teaches is obligatory whether a church enjoins it or not.
A church can not arbitrarily compel the belief of any thing not in the revealed will of God.
2. As a human society any church may establish for the government of its members any rule it may choose. Every society does this. The Masons, the Odd Fellows, and, indeed, every organization has its own rules. If any one does not like them he can stay out of the society. So a church may establish its rules. If any one does not like them, he can and ought to let them alone. No one will compel him to join a church if he does not like it.
3. No church has any right to meddle with the amusements of those who do not profess to be Christians. If the church is attacked it has a right to defend itself.
The minister or the church that attempts to hinder the amusements of the world is guilty of a breach of good manners. Ministers and churches should attend to their own business.
4. The same rule will apply equally to the world. It should let the churches manage their own affairs. If they do right, well: if they make mistakes, it is not the business of the world to set them right.
5. On the ground of expediency a Christian church has a right to forbid its members to dance. This rule is given in the 8th and 10th chapters of 1st Corinthians. It was not wrong in a Christian church to eat meat that had been sacrificed to idols, providing he did not eat it as an act of worship in honor of the idol. But if by his eating of the meat some other Christian might be led to worship in some manner an idol, or, if by his eating the meat, some heathen might conclude that a Christian was conforming to the practices of the heathen, then as a matter of conscience, not of command, the Christian should not eat of it. On the same ground may the church, as an ordinance of God, forbid dancing. Dancing is not wrong in itself, but to the Christian, on the ground of expediency, not of command, it becomes a matter of conscience. The world will think that Christians are conforming to the practices of the world.
6. When a church finds it is about to be injured by the conduct of any of its members, it has the right of all human societies to defend itself by such laws as it may see proper to enact. Examples need not be given to prove that a church loses influence in a community if its members make a practice of attending dances.
Every Christian knows that spirituality is not generally found among those Christians who habitually dance.
7. The church that forbids its members to dance, by so doing, shows a respect for the opinion of the world. When a Christian unites with a church the world expects him to make some sacrifices. By common consent dancing has been selected as the amusement Christians should give up. When a professing Christian dances the world claims him. The world does not expect an exemplary Christian to dance.
8. The world must judge of Christianity by the lives of Christians. If Christians live holy, godly and consistent lives, the world values Christianity at a high price. If it sees them with their hearts set on things forbidden or doubtful, it judges that religion is not a power in the heart strong as Christians say it is.
9. The rule, after all, that governs a Christian in this matter is not found in the laws of the church but in his conscience.
If a real Christian finds he dishonors God by dancing he will not dance "while the world stands." Every Christian must conscientiously consider the circumstances under which he is placed by each new temptation. No church can lay down rules to suit every case. That one is the most useful church in the community which has fewest laws, for as a rule the members of that church are more scrupulous as to their conduct before God. The rules of Church have little terrors to them.
They fear God, not the church. They love God and endeavor to honor Him, and they will do nothing that will even have the appearance of evil, because they would not have the cause of God "evilly spoken of."
A Thorough Investigation.
The loss of the emigrant ship, Cross-bones, which took fire on the voyage to Australia, and was burned to the water's edge, all hands being either burnt or drowned, with the exception of one man and a boy, was the subject of an inquiry held yesterday.
The Court was composed exclusively of ship-owners. Mr. Sergeant Bufuz represented the Board of Trade and the char-terers, while Mr. Phuncky attended on behalf of the relatives of the lost passengers and crew.
Mr. Sergeant Bufuz, in opening the matter, said that they met to inquire into the loss of the ship Crossbones, by fire, together with nearly five hundred lives.
No doubt such untoward events would occur; but, in order to meet the requirements of the Board of Trade, certain insurers, including the survivors—one man and a boy—would be called upon to prove that no blame could be attached to anyone, and that the vessel was all that could be desired.
The survivors, who had been spending the morning at the owner's office, were then brought into Court. They still looked very ill.

James Jonah, able seaman, deposed that he was one of the crew of the Crossbones; he had been so ever since she was launched; she was then called the Death's Head; she went ashore on her first voyage, and strained herself; she was afterwards lengthened and re-christened. Everything went well till the fire broke out. Couldn't imagine how she could have possibly taken fire. The cargo was composed of tar, pitch, resin, oil, paraffin, petroleum, rum, brandy, spirits of wine, fireworks, gunpowder, &c. Did not consider that an inflammable cargo. Thought the fire must have originated in one of the water tanks. There were quite enough boats.
None of 'em were any use. Was saved by clinging to a bit of a raft with the boy.
Sergeant Bufuz.—And that is how you were buoyed up. (Laughter.) Witness.—Was rescued by the Peruvian bark Pick-me-up, the Captain of which treated us most kindly. Hit everybody but us over the head with belying-pins.
Sergeant Bufuz was most happy to inform the Court that it had been intimated to him that her Majesty's Government intended presenting the captain, in the course of a year or two, with a kalaido-scope and a tin speaking-trumpet.
Examination resumed: Considered the Crossbones one of the safest ships afloat until she was lost. Would not have had the slightest objection to have gone to sea in her again, with the same cargo, provided he was saved, and it was made worth his while. Considered Lucifer matches on the top of a powder barrel, or petroleum cask, rather ornamental than otherwise.
Mr. Phuncky was proceeding to cross-examine the witness, when the Court adjourned for lunch.
On its re-assembling, Mr. Sergeant Bufuz submitted to the Court that Mr. Phuncky had no locus standi.
Mr. Phuncky said that he appeared for certain persons who were not quite satisfied.
Sergeant Bufuz.—Some people are never satisfied.
Mr. Phuncky.—I mean to say that they are not satisfied that the vessel was well found.
Sergeant Bufuz.—How could she have been well "found" when she was lost?
(Much laughter which was not suppressed.) The boy who was saved was then called, and corroborated in every particular the evidence of the former witness. Thought the fire might have originated in the foretopgallant mast. Felt very hot after climbing up there.
An experienced stevedore was then called by Mr. Phuncky, and said that he considered the cargo a most dangerous one.
When he was stopped by Mr. Sergeant Bufuz, who called the attention of the Court to the fact that witness dropped his "H's," and was evidently a most objectionable and untrustworthy person.
The Court allowed the objection, and the witness was ordered to stand down.
The learned Sergeant then said that it appeared to him quite unnecessary to address the Court any further.
The Court after consulting for two minutes and three-quarters, said that it was certainly most unfortunate that the majority, in fact, a large majority, of the passengers and crew of the Crossbones should have met with such a disagreeable fate, but it could not be helped. Everything that science, experience, and skill, as well as petroleum, pitch, tar, gunpowder, spirits, and other powerful agents, could do, had been done, and the Court only hoped that the owners were fully insured. If the unfortunate captain were before them, the Court would have immediately granted him a new certificate, in case his old one should have been burnt. The Court were unanimously of opinion that the cargo was of a most harmless description, and properly stowed. They would, however, recommend that in future the boats should not be launched keel upwards, and that when Captain Shaw returns from Egypt he should be consulted upon the best method of suddenly extinguishing ignited spirits and petroleum, as well as fireworks.
Mr. Sergeant Bufuz entirely concurred with the Court, and was happy to say that the owners were more than fully insured.
The inquiry then terminated.—Punch.
Useful Chinamen.
Up country residents are availing themselves very largely of the services of Chinese for almost every description of labor.
They may be found occupied as grooms, waiters, and cooks, at hotels, laborers in the harvest field, or fulfilling the duties of "wood and water Joys," whenever a settler may require their services, while many possessing sufficient strength of muscle are employed in gold mining claims. The latest application of Celestial labor, appears to have been to the duties of nursemaids, as in the neighborhood of the lower Molyneux, this innovation has been accomplished. A Chinaman, in the employof a settler, had become sufficiently domesticated as to be entrusted with the care of children, and he succeeded so satisfactorily that a family of five youngsters could, in the absence of their maternal parent for periods of a whole fortnight together, be committed to his charge. His successes in the management of children were so frequent that he was permitted to undertake the weaning of an eight months old baby, and which he thoroughly and effectually accomplished. Female helps now, so scarce and chary of their services even at the very highest rate of wages, should take warning in time, or they may possibly some day wake up to the reality that old-fashioned notions respecting feminine do-estric labor have become obsolete, the almond-eyed strangers from the Flowery Land providing an excellent and effectual substitute. In San Francisco this, to a large extent is already the case, the duties of housemaid, chambermaid, and washerwoman being mostly performed by male members of the Mongolian race.—Australia paper.

Old Dutch Proverbs.
We must row with the oars we have;
and, as we cannot order the wind, we are obliged to sail with the wind that God gives.
Patience and attention will bring us far. If a cat watches long enough at the mouse's nest, the mouse shall not escape.
Perseverance will obtain good cabbage and lettuce where otherwise nothing but thistles will grow.
The ploughman must go up and down, and whatever else may be done, there is no other but this long way to do the work well.
Learn to sleep with one eye open. As soon as the chicken goes to roost it is a good time for the fox.
Fools always will ask what time it is, but the wise know their time.
Griev the wind is fair, and if you neglect, do not complain of God's providence.
God gives feed to every bird, but he does not bring it to the nest; in like manner he gives us our daily bread, but by means of our daily work.
The dawn of day has gold in its mouth.
He that lags behind in a road where many are driving, always will be in a cloud of dust.
Never set your feet in a dirty and crooked path for the love of money. It is a work that will bring bad interest if you wish to suck honey of thistles.
You will need a long spoon if you wish to eat with the devil out of the same dish.

Wherever Bishop Soule's Liniment is known, the "People breathe in admiration," and it is estimated by those who have used it at from $5 to $1,000 per bottle. The following are a few items which have come to us, and are of daily occurrence:
A man borrowed a part of a bottle of Bishop Soule's Liniment of his neighbor, for immediate use. A few days after, he bought three large bottles, returned a full bottle for the one borrowed, and told his neighbor that he would not be without Bishop Soule's Liniment in his house if it cost $250 per bottle. Another, who had suffered twelve years from a lame back, was cured with Bishop Soule's Liniment, and said it was worth $1,000 per bottle. Another, who had suffered many years from lameness, so that he could not walk without crutches, writes that he cured his lameness by using Bishop Soule's Liniment, and says that you cannot praise it too highly. Another, who had suffered from rheumatism four years, and could get no relief, said his friends, whenever he went, advised him to use Bishop Soule's Liniment. He had heard of it so many times, that he had got out of patience with them, and would buy a bottle, and try it, but he knew it would not do him any good; and whenever any one ever recommended it to him again he would tell them he had used it, and it was no better than anything else. Well, he bought one bottle; soon after two bottles more. He was completely cured of his rheumatism, and although he is not a dealer in medicine, he has bought of us and sent four dozen bottles. Another man says, "I thank God, and Bishop Soule's Liniment, that after four years suffering from Sciatica, I am a well man again." Another, "Bishop Soule's Liniment has not only saved me from a great deal of suffering, but has also saved my life. You ought to proclaim it to the world, and let the people know that you have got something that will cure the physician's cure for a long time, without any benefit. I finally asked Dr. ——— a prominent physician, if he could cure me. He said he could not; but I told him I would put my time against his; if he cured me I would give him $500, if not cured, we were to quit even. He tried it, and I finally gave me up as incurable. I then tried Bishop Soule's Liniment, and in six weeks was entirely cured.
I sent six bottles to give to my friends." Another "I had a very severe attack of sciatica; was under my physician's care for months; my leg had become almost useless. My physician finally told me he would not help me, and advised me to use Bishop Soule's Liniment, as he had heard of remarkable cures by it; I tried it, and am completely cured by it. My physician says it is a wonderful medicine." Another, "My wife had been confined to her bed for a long time, with spinal complaint. The physician could not help her.
One evening a lady friend called to see my wife, and said, 'I have been just as you are; the doctor could not help me; I then used Bishop Soule's Liniment, and it completely cured me.' She advised me to try it. I bought three large bottles, used nothing else, and in six weeks my wife was as well as ever." Another, "I have suffered for years from a lame back; I have worn plasters for a long time. Bishop Soule's Liniment was recommended to me; I used it, and my back is as strong as ever." Another, "I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia. Bishop Soule's Liniment was recommended to me; I used it and it cured me. While I am writing this, letters have come in from New York State and from Maine, speaking in the highest terms of Bishop Soule's Liniment." The foregoing are daily occurrences, and are in the words of spoken or written text. Did space allow, we might go on without limit, but will only add that the undersigned AGENTS can give refer-
