

OLD NEWSPAPERS.

THE VARIOUS USES TO WHICH THEY MAY BE PUT.

The Many Excellent Purposes Which the Daily Paper May Be Made to Serve in Household Economics—Health Hints.

[Harper's Bazar.] Old newspapers are more than would appear at a first glance. We subscribe to the daily newspaper because we must be informed on all the affairs of the day.

It has been several times suggested by economists that newspapers can be made to take the place of blankets in guarding from cold, and it is a fact well worthy of notice that they have been proved very satisfactory in making light, convenient, and warm bed coverings when others can not be had.

This has been confirmed to the writer by the testimony of an individual whose avocations kept him constantly exposed to all weathers, night and day. He was a resident of a country village, a perfect type of a hearty, strong, vigorous man, and he accounted for his robust health, notwithstanding his exposure, by saying that, although inheriting consumptive tendencies, he had been able to resist them through the simple precaution of always wearing a newspaper over his chest under his coat.

As a preventive of cold feet, a piece of newspaper folded in the sole is quite equal, if not so elegant or expensive as cork or lambkin soles. Being light, soft, and easily renewed, if you wish to test the power of a newspaper in excluding cold, try tracking one, doubly folded, between your window and your stand of plants, and see how frosty they will be.

Old newspapers are admirable as floor coverings under carpets, or even spread under window sashes, retaining all the dust, which neither remains in the carpet nor sifts through to the floor.

Weather strips are now almost universal, as well as double windows, for securing warm rooms; but where, as is the case in some old-fashioned country houses, they are not procurable, newspapers can supply the deficiency very well by being cut in long strips, neatly folded over, and stuffed in the spaces between.

Old newspapers are excellent to clean windows with. Slightly dampened, then rubbed till clear, they serve the purpose much better than even linens, cloth, for their is no lint to rub off. Newspapers wrapped around the feet under the stockings are an effectual protection against mosquitoes, as well as their virulence, they can not bite through paper.

Old newspapers are faithful mirrors of the past. As they increase in age the very advertisements become curious. Therefore, those who have an interest in the modern newspaper in all the various ways we have pointed out must find intellectual profit in storing them away till the time when some chronic disease may draw them forth from their long-forgotten hiding places to claim an interest in human eyes which perhaps they never had to such an extent before.

Illustrated papers are very useful in adorning the walls of rooms, covering up unsightly wall-paper or obnoxious holes, the delight of children as well as their instructors, affording gleams of cheerfulness and pleasure in the gloomy apartments. They are of such infinite variety, too, with their lovely illustrations of poems, of natural history, and comic sketches, as well as portraits of famous and notable men, that they continually educate the public taste and give the impecunious a glimpse of real art they cannot else afford.

A Critical Journalist. [Texas Sittings.] A mania bearing a large package entered the office of a great Houston daily.

Origin of Balloons. [Chicago Herald.] The story published respecting the origin of balloons that Mrs. Montgolfier had washed her petticoat to wear to a great festival on the next day and hung it over a chafin-dish to dry.

Danger from Arnica. In the Recueil de Medicin Veterinaire Dr. Cagny calls attention to the indiscriminate use of the tincture of Arnica for horses. He says that it is often employed in considerable quantities for petty strains and bruises, and is kept in contact with the affected surfaces until they are swollen, heated, and often blistered, thus greatly aggravating the original trouble.

A Horse! a Horse! My Kingdom for a Horse.—(King Richard.

The Fast Trotting Stallion

VENTURE. RECORD, 2:27 1/4.

Having purchased this celebrated Stallion from Mr. JAMES CAMPBELL, I hereby notify the public that he will stand the present season at my headquarters, corner of Punchbowl and Queen streets (Captain Clukey's). Terms for the season, $50; to insure, $100.

Description. Venture is a rich chestnut color, 16 hands high, and weighs about 1,100 pounds. In structure he is the picture of great muscular power, and in appearance, temperament and disposition, he is faultless. Full of fire and gentleness, he is without speck or blemish.

Pedigree. Venture, chestnut horse, foaled in 1868, bred by Henry Williamson, Esq., Oakland, California; by Belmont, he by American Boy, he by Scagall, he by Import Expedition.

1st dam, Miss Moxley, by American Boy, Jr. 2d dam, by Kenner's Gray Medoc. 3d dam, Imported Lady Moxley, by Teniers. 4th dam, Invalid, by Whisker. 5th dam, Helen, by Hambletonian. 6th dam, Promiss, by Snap. 7th dam, Droway, by Drone. 8th dam, by Old England. 9th dam, by Cullen Arabian. 10th dam, Miss Cade, by Cadiz. 11th dam, Miss Makelless, by son of Greyhound. Belmont, by American Boy. 12th dam, Imported Frumella, by Comus. 13th dam, by Partisan. 14th dam, Pawn, by Trampator. 15th dam, Frumella, by Highflyer. 16th dam, Frumella, by Snap. 17th dam, Julia, by Blank. 18th dam, Spectator's dam, by Partner. 19th dam, Bonny Lass, by Jay Bolton. 20th dam, by Parley's Arabian. 21st dam, by Byerly Turk. 22nd dam, by Taffolet Turk. 23rd dam, by Place's White Turk.

In offering the services of this horse to the public I make one claim for him, which is that he is the highest bred trotting stallion in the world, living or dead, and in support of this claim I am willing to submit it to any authority that can be obtained, and if he is not, then I will forfeit all my claims to horse knowledge. It will be seen that his pedigree represents a union of the purest blood of the English and American thoroughbred racer, one of his grand dams, as also one of his great grand dam, being imported from England to the United States. When Venture was on the turf, about eight years ago, he was at that time the sensation of the Pacific Coast, and the sporting papers in the East, that were always so much opposed to running blood in the trotter, commenced picking away at his pedigree, trying to find a cold cross in it, at the same time declaring that it was simply impossible for a strictly thoroughbred horse to trot as fast as he was then trotting; but at last they had to give it up, and admitted the fact that he was a strictly thoroughbred horse, but declared him a phenomenon, and were unable to account for his great speed at the trotting gait. But the fame of his sire, old Belmont, is almost world-wide, and he is a well-known fact his blood mixed better with the trotting families than that of any other thoroughbred horse ever known, as, in addition to Venture, two other thoroughbred sons of his, Capt. Webster and Owen Dale, were said to have possessed great speed at the trot. Besides these, he sired the dams of Belle Echo, 2:30; Flora Shepherd, 2:30; and Nelly Patchen, 2:27 1/4; Rustic, 2:30; which is a showing that a great many of the best trotting bred horses cannot equal. Mr. Patrick Farrell, who is one of the most experienced drivers on the Pacific Coast, told me the last time that I saw him, that Venture was the fastest trotter that he ever pulled a line over, and that if his temper had not been broken by bad handling, he believed that he would have equalled, if not surpassed, all the records ever made, and that he could show a two-minute gait with him to a wagon, but in company he would become wild, on account of his hot blood, and was often beaten by horses that could hardly run as fast as he could trot. His record of 2:27 1/4, which was no measure of his speed, was made at the Oakland track in 1877, in a race which he won, beating Alexander, Gus, General Reno and Billy Hayward, this being his last public performance.

It is not greater by some people that an aged horse is not as good a producer as a young one, but no thought could possibly be made. Indeed, the opposite is claimed by many large breeders, and instances are so numerous of horses siring their best foals at an advanced age that the above theory has long ago been exploded. Imported Diomed was twenty-seven years old when he sired Sir Archy, his best son; Bonnie Scotland, who died only a few years ago, sired Lake Blackburn and George Kinney, by far the best of his get, after he was twenty-five; Imported Leamington sired Trouquet, his best son, the last year that he lived, at twenty-five. Among trotters may be mentioned Volunteer, the sire of St. Julien, who is thirty-one years old this spring, and is said to be as lively and vigorous as he ever was, and his young foals as promising as any that he ever got. Old Hambletonian died in March, 1876, aged twenty-seven years, but sired two foals the last days of his life, and one of them, called Hambletonian's last, made a trotting record of 2:25 1/4 the past season, and the other one is said to be equally as fast. When these facts before me it is plain that the age of a horse has nothing to do with his success as a sire. I think myself that there is a great deal in the condition that a horse is kept for an animal that is well fed and cared for, with plenty of exercise, will beget better foals than one that is turned loose and never stabled or fed grain.

Venture is twenty-two years old this spring, and with the care that I intend to give him, I expect him to sire better foals than he ever sired before. He is a remarkably rare breeder. Mr. Campbell assures me that he has never bred a mare to him yet that did not produce a foal, and his young foals as promising as any that he ever got. Old Hambletonian died in March, 1876, aged twenty-seven years, but sired two foals the last days of his life, and one of them, called Hambletonian's last, made a trotting record of 2:25 1/4 the past season, and the other one is said to be equally as fast.

When these facts before me it is plain that the age of a horse has nothing to do with his success as a sire. I think myself that there is a great deal in the condition that a horse is kept for an animal that is well fed and cared for, with plenty of exercise, will beget better foals than one that is turned loose and never stabled or fed grain.

For any additional particulars apply at Punchbowl and Queen streets.
