Railway Accident Near Sydney. On June 22d a train containing 400 excursionists for the Hawkesbury met with an accident at Peat's Ferry shortly after leaving that place.

The Westinghouse-Hornby brake failed. The train was too heavy for the light engine, and attained a velocity of seventy miles an hour down the steep declivity.

The guard applied the brakes, but without avail, and a pointsman seeing the danger of the whole train running into the river, turned it on to the siding where it dashed into some trucks.

The two carriages nearest the engine were telescoped, and the engine fell over the bank into the river. Wilson, the driver; Rennie, the engineer; Harry Hankins, clerk; a young man and two girls (names unknown) were killed. Fully forty people were injured.

As soon as the news of the accident came to hand, a relief train with doctors was dispatched to Peat's Ferry. The driver, Wilson, fell under the engine and was buried in the river mud. The fireman had a miraculous escape. Three persons died almost instantaneously, and two others succumbed during the night.

The wounded were taken to Sydney, some being admitted to the hospital.

Had it not been for the presence of mind of the pointsman, the whole train would have run into the river, and the result would have been disastrous beyond contemplation.

"The Friend." The August number of "The Friend" is full of interest. On the opening page is an article describing the Hawaiian Kingdom as an "Anglo-Saxonizing machine," its institutions, civilization and dominant language all being of British origin, as in the United States. The article goes on to point out to the native people that their true interest lies in a recognition of this inevitable tendency.

A dispassionate statement of the salient features of the late crisis for the benefit of foreign readers; a notice of Professor Dana's visit and other matters of local and denominational interest are dealt with.

Brown & Co., 28 Merchant street, agents for the Burlington Railway across America, received by the Australia special powers to book passengers through from Honolulu to the following ports in the Azores Islands, viz: Flores, Fayal, St. George, Terceira and St. Michaels.

Connections are established at Boston with regular traders to the Azores, and arrangements are being made with a line of French steamers eastward bound from New York to call at the Azores to land passengers. By taking tickets at Honolulu a considerable reduction on fares is made.—(Bulletin.)

Breakfast at the Palace. Captain Oxley and the officers of H. B. M. S. Conquest were entertained at breakfast by His Majesty at Lolani Palace yesterday morning. The Royal Hawaiian Band was in attendance.

The P. C. ADVERTISER office has printed the new Constitution in pamphlet form. It is inserted in the "Honolulu Almanac and Directory," which also contains the old Constitution, and will be sold at the old price—fifty cents a copy.

Rather Early Lately. Every foot we travel in a railroad train sees us a greater danger in some other means of conveyance which is less secure. Our locomotive is not an animal that slithers at each blowing of its bellows, or that takes its life in its teeth and gets away from us. It is a piece of machinery, absolutely controllable, rolling up and down on a smooth, sure foundation—sure except in case of some extraordinary occurrence less likely to occur in your case and mine than a stroke of lightning. Nobody is absolutely safe in this world, but we are relatively safe in a car.—Boston Transcript.
