

THE PACIFIC COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER
 Issued Every Morning, Except Sunday, by the
 HAWAIIAN GAZETTE COMPANY
 At No. 46 Merchant Street.
 H. N. CASTLE : : : EDITOR
 MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1894.

We publish in another column a patriotic version of Hawaii Pono, with the royalist sentiments elided. If Hawaii Pono is to be retained as the national anthem until it is exchanged for America, it is at any rate high time to adopt some words which will not be a standing invitation to insurrection.

ACCORDING to a correspondent in Hamakua, some of the office-holders of that district have lately been holding a feast in honor of the anticipated return of Mrs. Dominis to her throne. This feast, it is alleged, was held on the very day when these loyal servants of the Provisional Government supposed that the restoration to be actually in process of accomplishment. These facts are now brought to the notice of the authorities, and they should be investigated at once. If they are verified the gentlemen concerned should be promptly decapitated and their places supplied with persons whose loyalty remains unshaken whether the calabash is empty or full.

SENATOR VEST'S ADVICE.

A royalist organ refers to the recommendations of Senator Vest as to the taking of a popular vote on the form of Government in these islands. The ADVERTISER quoted Senator Vest because he is a staunch Administration Senator, and his remarks therefore show just what the royalists of this city have to expect from the supporters of the Administration in the Senate. As to the Government of Hawaii it does not require any advice from strangers, and if it did, it would not begin by asking it from enemies. Mr. Vest has never set foot in this country. He understands nothing of its institutions, its peculiar racial and social conditions. He has adopted a false and malicious account of its recent history. In view of these facts it is just barely possible that his opinions do not contain all of the law and the prophets.

As for this popular vote about which Senator Vest and a few others in this country and out of it, are talking so loudly, it will be time enough to think of taking it when we find that it is "the regular way." We have yet to hear of the results of any successful revolution having been submitted to the test of a popular vote. People do not as a rule fight for what they can obtain at the polls. They appeal to the right of revolution when other rights have failed; when peaceable remedies are exhausted. And when the appeal to arms is successful, the question whether what is gained should be retained, is never submitted to a vote. The very idea is preposterous. Elections are held, but upon other issues. Never upon that which has been settled forever. There are not Don Quixotes enough in Hawaii to abandon the plainest common sense and to reverse the precedents of history.

But while the opinions of Senator Vest may be brushed aside like a cobweb, so far as they concern the policy of the Hawaiian Government, it will hardly be so easy for Mr. Cleveland to ignore them. The Senator has a vote in Congress, though none in the Advisory Council, and unless he and others like unto him, use their votes quite otherwise than they have used their tongues, the "policy of infamy" will have to be abandoned.

BARKING UP THE WRONG TREE.

Under the heading, "No Close Corporations," the Star of Saturday contains an article which seems to be based upon a misapprehension of something in Friday's ADVER-

TISER. The Star finds in the following words, "It is now believed that the place (Minister of Foreign Affairs), can be filled in a satisfactory manner," an intimation that "something had been fixed up in regard to the appointment of a new Minister of Foreign Affairs." If anything has been "fixed up" regarding the office of the Minister of Foreign Affairs, the ADVERTISER is not aware of the fact. In stating that it was generally believed that the office in question could be satisfactorily filled, we only stated what we regarded, and still regard, as the general view. No particular reference to opinion in Government circles was expressed or implied.

The ADVERTISER has as little authority as the Star—and perhaps even less—to speak for the government. Neither does it possess sources of information unshared by other organs of public opinion. With regard to the propriety of giving an opportunity for the expression of public sentiment before making an important public appointment, we are in the fullest accord with our evening contemporary. The views of the Annexation Club, and of other organizations, are entitled to the most ample consideration. We do not believe that there is any disposition on the part of these organizations to abuse their powers, and we believe that the Government, for its part, is as free from any desire to ignore them.

The necessity that the Government should keep in the closest touch with public opinion seems almost to obvious to be dwelt upon. In the absence of elections and the formal instruments of popular rule, it becomes doubly important to consult public opinion as expressed in its various organs. Only thus can the Government be in fact, if not in form, a truly popular government. It is from public opinion that the Government derives its authority, its sanctions and its inner justification, and there could be nothing more foolish or more suicidal than to leave this fact out of account.

The Councils and the various political organizations are alike faithful to the objects which led to the overthrow of the queen and the establishment of the Provisional Government. In this fidelity is contained the surest guarantee for the future.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

They Hold an Annual Exhibition on Molokai.

The Sunday Schools of the Islands of Molokai and Lanai held an exhibition on New Year's day at the Kaluaaha Church, Kaluaaha, Molokai. There were over 200 scholars present, and the different schools which participated were:

1. Halawa—A. P. Paehaole, leader.
2. Honouli—A. Kamai, leader.
3. Kaluaaha—Julia Haiku, leader.
4. Kamalo.
5. Lanai—S. K. Kahoolalahala, leader.
6. Kaunakakai—Joel Nakaleka, Jr., leader.

Rev. J. Kaalouahi, of Halawa, opened the exercises with prayer. Mr. M. Kane gave a brief history of the Sunday School work of the past year. The schools then joined in singing, under the leadership of A. P. Paehaole. Messrs. D. D. Baldwin and Kahoolalahala then made brief addresses. In the course of his remarks, D. D. Baldwin praised the successful work of all the schools, but, in his opinion, the children from Halawa did the best. The exercises were concluded at 3 P. M.

HAWAII PONO.

Here is a Version Which is Not a Royalist One.

Hawaii Pono is a good old song, but it contains too much feudal sentiment to suit these progressive days. Here is a version which strikes out the too effusive references to the Alii, etc. Can anyone improve on it? Competition is invited:

KA MELE LAHUI.
 (The National Anthem).

Hawaii pono,
 Nana i kou lahui;
 A me ke aupuni.
 Ke aupuni.
 Ka aina nani e,
 Na moku lani nei;
 Na kana e pale,
 Me ka ihe.
 (Repeat the last four lines).

The ADVERTISER is the leading paper of the Hawaiian islands. It has a larger circulation and prints more live news than any other island paper. Price 50 cents per month, in advance. Ring up telephone No. 88.

In order that people may have sharp carving knives and thus appreciate the good meat set before them, we have imported a stock of "Frank Wallcott's Knife Sharpener." This contrivance is made of compressed emery and is shaped like a scythe stone, but much smaller in size. It far surpasses the conventional carver's steel for the reason that the action is quicker and the edge more even. This instrument is much harder than steel and will sharpen anything from the blades of the finest scissors to the wits of a dullard. As it will "file a file," it will be found particularly useful among the hands on sugar plantations for sharpening hoes or cane knives. One of Frank Wallcott's knife sharpeners will outwear many dozen files. We are sole agents for the article.

The Student Lamp has for years been the favorite among the people who read or write much at night. They are not quite so elaborate as some of our banquet lamps, but for service they fill the bill in every respect. We have recently added to our stock an assortment of these student lamps having the genuine Rochester burner, the burner which won first prize at the Columbian Exposition, and we can guarantee them to be a superior article in every respect. We have three varieties varying in price according to the size of the burner.
