

PREPARE TO DIE VERY SOON.

Harden on the Coast and Junius Kaee Here.

The Exile Sends a Letter—It is Called Good News—A Messenger Who Was Mouthy.

When the Monowai was in port on the 25th, a sailorman from the crack passenger boat entered the Penhallow house grounds on Beretania street. He seemed to be feeling his way and stood near the gate for some time. He was a big, heavy fellow in a jersey and with the name of his ship across his cap. Finally he pulled himself together and with a decided air walked to the nearest door. He knocked and was invited into the room of C. L. Dodge, foreman of the Star, who had as a visitor Allen W. Clarke.

In one hand the tar had a folded sheet of paper and a huge official envelope that was bulging with its contents. He said he desired some information. Placing the heavy letter face down on a table, he unfolded the paper. Spreading it out he discovered to Messrs. Clarke and Dodge a very good map of Beretania street from Fort to Punchbowl. All the prominent places on either side of the road were plainly marked. Especial care had been taken to indicate the residences of Mrs. Dominis and Junius Kaee with reference to the Central Union church.

On the map, in the approved English penmanship of the versatile liar himself, appeared the name of Francis Leo G. Harden.

The sailorman said the letter was for Junius Kaee and was from the man whose name was written on the map. He gave an excellent description of Harden to Messrs. Dodge and Clarke directed the messenger to the residence of Kaee as located on the map.

Next day there passed around the town word that cheering news had been received by the royalists. Restoration was once more in sight. Even Ka Leo had some unusually insane paragraphs. The talk let loose by Kaee was to the effect that there was being organized on the Coast a force which would sweep the revolutionists into the sea. "The next steamer" would bring still more substantial evidences of the bright future. A few days later more of Harden's letter was floated from other monarchical strongholds.

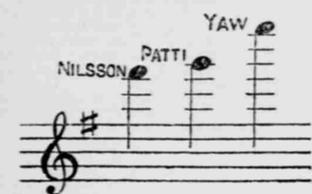

Harden is the man of the hour. He is their savior. Annexationists hunt your holes. Seek the cyclone cellar. Fly to Tantalus. Engage canoes or bathing suits. Harden who, with his mouth, fought in every naval and land engagement in South America for five years, will soon be in the saddle. He will settle with those who exiled him.

Junius Kaee, who received the letter from Harden, is not unknown to local fame. Junius handled the $70,000 opium bribe and a lot of it, so common report said, stuck to his fingers. He was also at one time accused of stuffing the pay rolls of the land registrar's office. The Republic trembles.

BEYOND PATTI.

An American Girl the World's Greatest Soprano.

The sensation in the musical world just now is the voice of Miss Ellen Beach Yaw, the California prima donna. She is the successor of Patti and will honor the mantle that falls to her shoulders. Miss Yaw is a soprano. The range of her voice is the marvel of all. She easily reaches B, going two full notes above Patti and leaving in the distance Nilsson's famous F. Miss Yaw's voice is remarkably pure, sweet, clear and even.

Mr. Wray Taylor furnishes the illustration which shows that the fame of the American girl is based on merit. The comparison will prove of interest to the Honolulu musical public.

AT THE PLAY.

Small House, But a Satisfactory Performance

"The Golden Giant" last night had a small house. Of the play it may be said that people who like that sort of thing will be pleased with it. The story is highly improbable. Some re-writing might make it a powerful piece. Interest is sustained throughout and there are several really strong situations. The climax of the second act is of great merit, and the same may be said of the closing of the third act. The sentiment is healthy. Mr. Dailey mounted the play well. There has not been enough time for study or rehearsal. Nevertheless the production was smooth and there were no waits.

Mr. Scott was an exceedingly capable Alex. Fairfax, and Mortimer Snow was excellent throughout as Jack Mason. Snow looks very slender in a dress suit. Al. H. Hallett was good enough villain to elicit audible reprimand from the gallery. This praise was well-earned. Louis Belmont sustained the character of Bixby with fidelity. P. A. Nannary's acting was up to the standard, but he did not seem to be in good voice.

Miss Dalgleish gave further evidence of her great talent and versatility by her interpretation of the soubrette part. Her description of the capture of a trout was a splendid effort, and her acting throughout was pleasing to all. Miss Nannery had a character calling for all her reserve force and fine art. She summoned this and the result was a highly praiseworthy evening's work. Her costume in the third act was much admired. Miss Nannery is not a strong woman physically, but was equal to every requirement of a character calling for a strong leading lady. Both she and Miss Dalgleish received flowers over the footlights. Miss Belmont was excellent as the landlady of the Gold Run hotel. The child of the play was very well done.

On Saturday evening the popular "Black Flag" will be again presented, and there will doubtless be a crowded house.

New Bridge.

While there is so much talk about the King street bridge, a new crossing over Nuuanu stream at School street is being provided. Mr. Rowell had the plans made some weeks ago, and work is now in progress. It will be of wood. The length will be 81 1/2 feet, the width 16 feet, with overhead truss. Insects had weakened the timbers in the old structure.

Helpless as an Infant

After Pneumonia—Weighed 80 lbs

Hood's Sarsaparilla Made Him Feel as Young as a Boy.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Gentlemen—I wish to express my grateful thanks for Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am on my seventh bottle and it has truly been a blessing to myself and wife. I had a severe attack of pneumonia last December, and it was thought I should die, but I gradually pulled through, and then did not seem to gain any strength. I had to be helped like an infant, and had fallen away from 145 to 80 lbs. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I decided to take it.

I soon gained in strength so that I could sit up, and then having a severe pain in the small of my back, sent for a Tusano Pain-Killing Plaster, which soon cured me of that trouble. Today I feel as well as ever in my life, and as young as a boy, although I am in my sixt year. I cannot express the gratitude of my heart for Hood's Sarsaparilla.' NORMAN D. National Cane Shredder

(PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.)

Mr. John A. Scott, Manager of the Hilo Sugar Company gives the following wonderful record of the working of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER, which was erected by their works at the commencement of the crop just harvested:

"During the past week the Hilo Sugar Company's mill exceeded any of its former records by closing the 125 hours grinding with an output of 300 1/2 tons. This is fully 10 per cent. more than the best work of former years.

"The three roller mill being 26 in. by 54 in. and the two roller mill 30 in. by 60 in. The first mill doing this amount of work in an efficient manner and with great ease, compared with work on whole cane, owing to thorough preparation of the cane by the National Cane Shredder, recently erected by the Company. And by its use the extraction has been increased from 3 per cent. to 5 per cent. on all kinds of cane, and in some cases 80 per cent. has been reached; the average being 75 to 78 per cent., according to quality.

"I continue to find the megass from shredded cane better fuel than from whole cane.

"The shredder has been working day and night for seven months and has given me entire satisfaction, having shredded during that time about seventy thousand tons of cane, and a large part of it being hard ratoons.

"The shredder and engine require very little care or attention."

Plans and specifications of these shredders may be seen at the office of Agent for the Hawaiian Islands of the Richard's Lock Nut, which is an ordinary hexagon nut constructed so that it is impossible for the nut to become loose or slack, and fall off the bolt. It costs no more than the ordinary cold pressed iron nut and dispenses with the use of the lock washers, keys and split pins. This nut is now exclusively used on all the principal railroads and street cars lines in the United States. Samples and pamphlets furnished on application to the undersigned.

Agent for the Siphon Water Elevator, which is automatic, for irrigation, city supply, farms, etc. This invention as its name indicates is based upon the principle of the siphon known to the Ancients but it is devised in such a manner as to greatly enlarge the field of application. Used until today only for the drawing off of liquids to a lower level, the siphon now becomes an Automatic Water Elevator, which under favorable conditions is endowed with great powers. In many instances, land situated higher than the irrigation ditch can be irrigated at a nominal expense. The Siphon Elevator is especially adapted for such conditions, as it can elevate the water from the main irrigation ditch to a higher one, while the waste is available for irrigating the lower levels. The siphon elevators are made of brass and iron in sizes ranging in capacity of from two hundred to three million gallons per day.
