WALLACE R. FARRINGTON, EDITOR.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1895.

WHEN a Yankee has ideas which circumstances will not allow him to express he says, "I have an opinion." We can say nothing more of the statement of Mrs. Dominis published this morning.

HUMAN nature is bound to find some source for dissatisfaction, whatever its lot. The ladies of Denver, Col., were highly indignant because they were not allowed to sit on a jury, while not a few males are equally indignant because they have to do it. After all, it is very much like the child who, immediately he is refused a choice morsel, is overwhelmed with a desire, which the possession of that which he can't have, alone will satiate.

It having come to our knowledge that malicious and preposterous statements are being manufactured to go abroad, of ill-treatment of the prisoners in Oahu jail, we have made personal investigation of the facts, and although no person of sense here would for a moment believe such statements as are alluded to, and their refutation is not required in this community, we wish to inform our foreign readers that there is absolutely no truth in any such reports, no matter from what source they emanate. We publish today an interview with Marshal Hitchcock which conclusively shows the facts.

APPROPOS of recent Hawaiian events the experience of Julian Santos, an American citizen in Ecuador, is interesting. Mr. Santos was arrested in Bahia December 10, 1884, charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government of President Casmán. According to his claims he was subjected to great indignities, and his mother, for whose sake he left the United States to settle some business affairs in Bahia, fell dead on learning that he would be executed. Mr. Santos claimed indemnity from the Ecuadorian government and was given the moral support of his home government, though the matter was submitted to an arbitration board. It is anticipated in view of the strained relations between Ecuador and Peru that President Cordero will conciliate the United States by giving Santos full indemnity.

MEN NEEDED RATHER THAN SYSTEMS.

Municipal reform crusades have become quite the fad throughout the United States, and the rotten political hearts that have been exposed to public criticism in more than one city, are ample evidence of the necessity of the movements and that there is an unbounded field for future action. The American people have a characteristic custom of standing more political jobbery, for a longer time and with greater indifference than any nation on the globe. When political conditions reach a state that can no longer be endured, the people rise in their wrath and it is a sorry day for the professional politician who falls within their grasp. In the past, after these upheavals have cleared the murky municipal atmosphere, the Government purifiers have retired quietly to the rear, trusted the continuation of the work to other hands and inside of ten years the same old condition obtains, the ward heeler has crept slowly to the front, living like a leech upon the public purse and creating boss systems founded on deviltry and teeming with evil and dishonest practice.

Seldom have the waves of reform swept over the country so generally or so completely torn asunder, root and branch the miserably constructed "machines" set up by political schemers. There have been and still exist flagrant defects in the political systems as carried out in the city, state and nation, largely due to the stay-at-home policy so general among the solid business men—the political and moral reserve of the country. The movement for municipal reform will undoubtedly reach farther than the cities, spreading through and permeating every portion of the Republic, bringing "into politics" men who are sadly needed to purify the atmosphere that has pervaded legislatures, and does not always stop at the door stool of national houses of legislature.

Something is manifestly wrong, when a leading newspaper gives voice to, and public opinion supports the sentiment, "the man who accepts public office sacrifices self-respect." The error is in the personnel of the public officials rather than in the systems of government. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and if on each and every election day the citizens of New York, Boston and numerous other municipalities would come out with the same determination evidenced in the elections just passed, there would be far less grumbling over defective systems of legislation. The systems are all right. What is needed in the United States is the concerted action of that class of people, who have some appreciation of the principles that prompted the framers of the constitution, and later those who held unbroken the great family of nations known as the United States.

The outlook for the sugar industry in the United States is at least blue and how it is to be made brighter is beyond the ken of the average man. The nation cries out against any further tariff tinkering, the farmer uses his voice against the bounty and the sugar producer of Louisiana has grown hoarse in denouncing free sugar as an insult to American industries. Verily the producer and the legislator are between "the devil and the deep blue sea." Nor is sugar the only staple that is sailing in troubled waters; closely allied to it is the meat industry, between the United States and Europe there has been a sort of interchange of commercial relations that has been considered, generally, mutually satisfactory, but, if the United States will not sweeten its coffee with German sugar Uncle Sam cannot expect Uncle Fritz to gorge himself on American spareribs. In this instance retaliation works harder on the United States than it does on Europe. How long can the American producer continue selling sugar at a half cent a pound under cost of making? And where is the remedy except in cutting off the production and planting the fields with something more profitable. There's no help in legislation; to add to the duty would make the situation worse for the legislators through the power of the trusts that would be worked against them. Influence cannot be brought to bear upon the European governments to reduce the bounty because the interests of their people are at stake and must be protected. Take off the duty and the position is worse because the day of bounties to the producer of any particular article in the United States is buried with the dead past. We would suggest that the matter be submitted to the committee on dehorning hydraulic rams, in the American Congress and let them find a relief.

The Clauss Knives are without question the best thing in the world for cutting warm bread or cake; best because of the facility with which they go through the materials. For young married ladies who persist in baking their own bread these knives are particularly recommended because all weighty effects are removed by their use.

A fish scaler for a quarter is one of the best investments you can make because its use saves time. Besides the scales are more thoroughly removed from the fish than with a knife.

We have received another invoice of the large size Stoves. We consider this the best wood or coal stove on the market because it is a quick heater, and uses very little fuel. We've sold thousands of them and every one has given satisfaction. The price is easy for an article as good as this. The Dietz Oil Stoves will arrive within the next two weeks. If you prefer using oil to wood or coal the Dietz is the best stove we have ever seen for the purpose. If you contemplate buying a new oil stove wait and examine the Dietz. It will broil, fry or bake as well as the best coal stove you ever saw, perhaps a little better.

JUST A FEW WORDS

on a subject which we know will interest every one:

For years we have done the fine watch repairing in Honolulu.

Difficult work of every description which had formerly been sent to the Coast, was first properly handled in our Repairing Department. Such work as repairing complicated watches of every description; demagnetizing; making by hand any lost part of a complicated watch; in fact any difficult work pertaining to the repairing of fine watches is our especial forte.

The number of watches which find their way into our Repairing Department after having been through the hands of numerous EXPERTS (?) is beyond belief. Whilst we are at all times ready and willing to do every conceivable kind and condition of a job—would it not pay you better to bring your watch to us in the FIRST PLACE and be assured of an honest amount of work at a reasonable price, rather than take it from one to another, causing you delay and annoyance, to say nothing of the greater expense?

We Charge Less

than you have been used to paying for inferior work right along.

As a matter of fact, the EXPERT (?) who cleans your watch with a pair of bellows and a crow-bar for 50 cents makes more money than the honest workman who does an honest job and charges an honest price.

Because your watch is returned to you running fairly well, it is no criterion that it has been properly repaired. The great annoyance attendant upon the repairing of a watch, is that 99 out of 98 cannot tell if the work is well done—but are satisfied if the watch is keeping somewhere near the correct time.

Who can see the jewel protruding half way out of the plate, or worse, sunk down through the plate, fastened in with a little glue, or hammered in with a sledge. How often the EXPERT grinds off the broken staff, sinks the jewel a little lower, tells you he has put in a new staff and charges you a little less than the price and you go on your way rejoicing. But some day you will discover the fraud, such work cannot last long. It is dear at any price, which you soon discover to your sorrow.

Moral: Make no mistake; take it where you know it will be well treated and that is the Repairing Department of

VALUE OF BALL BEARING.

An experiment with ball bearings was recently made in Canada. A street-car fitted with ball bearings was drawn a distance of several hundred feet by men pulling on the three strands of ordinary sewing thread. A carriage manufacturer put another style of ball bearings on the axles of a coach ordinarily pulled by four horses. A trained dog was hitched to the pole, and he drew the coach around the yard with little effort.—Daily Bulletin.

Our Imperial Ball-Bearing Axles can be adjusted to any Carriage or Hack.
