EXILE REDWARD CHEWS THE RAG

Denies Connection With Uprising And Will Demand Indemnity.

HAS LOST CONFIDENCE IN DOLE.

Satisfied That Residents of the Islands Do Not Care to be Annexed to the United States—Believes with Joaquin Miller Ex-Queen Shamefully Treated.

Frederick Henry Redward, one of the exiles from Hawaii, arrived in the city several days ago on a visit to his brother, John C. Redward, the well-known contractor and builder, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of the 5th inst. Redward has been a resident of Honolulu for the past fifteen years, where he followed the business of contractor and builder. He says he had nothing to do with the uprising, and claims to have been thrown in prison, where he was kept for a period of thirty eight days, and although he asked for a trial on a number of occasions he was always refused, and as a last resort consented to leave the country in order to gain his freedom. Mr. Redward is an English subject and says his case is in the hands of the British Commissioner at the Islands, Capt. Hawes.

In conversation last night Redward said: "I knew nothing whatever of the uprising or the shooting of Charley Carter until the following morning about 7 o'clock, while I was on my way to my place of business. Of course, there was great excitement and much loud talking, but I paid no attention to it, and while at work on a building across from my office about 3 o'clock in the afternoon I was arrested by three armed ruffians, commonly called guards down there, and taken to the station house and kept there for an hour and a half. They then marched me down to Oahu Jail, where I was detained for thirty-eight days, with no charge being preferred against me and without an opportunity of securing a trial, which I demanded time and again. The opportunity to British Vice Consul T. L. Walker over to the jail to ask whether I desired to leave the country or submit to a trial. I told Consul Walker to present my compliments to the Marshal and inform him that I was ready at any time to take my trial, and was not ready nor did not care to leave the country. Shortly after this I sent for the British Commissioner, Captain Hawes, and stated to him the above facts and asked him to demand a speedy trial or allow me freedom on bail, but I could get neither.

"It was getting very monotonous being confined in the jail so long, and I was losing flesh rapidly and developing symptoms of sickness. I was willing to do or sign anything in order to get out, so I sent for the Marshal and had an interview with him on February 13th. I told him I wished to get out of prison; that I had nothing to do with the uprising; that I slept in my house on that night, and that I knew nothing whatever of it until 7 o'clock the following morning; that I had never been to a meeting of any kind, and that I was ready for trial at any time. He told me that I had enemies in town, and that I would probably be convicted of misprision of treason, as he did not go a cent on the commission himself, and advised me to take the opportunity to leave, as he did not think it would be more than three months before the whole thing blew over and I would be permitted to return. I told him that a man wouldn't be a man at all unless he had a few enemies, and I was willing and ready at all times to stand trial."

"He also told me that he had no evidence against me, but some of my enemies might give such evidence as would cause my conviction. I told him I was not afraid of that, and asked him what kind of a paper he had to sign, and he showed me one which was quite different to the one I afterward signed. At 4 o'clock the same afternoon he returned with the paper for me to sign, and he was accompanied by the British Commissioner. The commissioner asked me if I intended signing that paper, and I told him yes. He said: "Am I to presume that you are guilty?" I told him I couldn't help what he presumed, as I wasn't signing the paper on account of being guilty."

"I said: 'Mr. Hawes, you and the Marshal are both here. Let him take me to stand trial tomorrow, or name a day. I have been here for thirty-eight days, and am willing to do anything to get out of this place, as I was never in anything of the kind before, and I want you to distinctly understand that I am not signing this paper with the understanding that I am guilty of anything.' I was released and took passage for San Francisco on the steamer Australia.

"The treatment I received while in prison I could not complain of much myself, although it was pretty rough, but some of my friends and acquaintances were treated most disgracefully. I always expressed my opinion very freely on the high-handed manner in which the government was conducted, and was born in a free country and always believed in asserting my rights. My case is in the hands of the British Minister, and I expect to receive indemnity for being compelled to leave the country.

"I do not believe—in fact, I am satisfied—that the residents of the islands do not care to be annexed to the United States. They only make the assertion as a pretext to get the favor of the American people. I thought a great deal of President Dole at one time, but I have changed my opinion. The way he has acted in this whole matter is anything but Christian-like, and, as President, he is only a fool, as he has to be dictated to by an armed mob.

"I believe the ex-queen has been most shamefully treated. Joaquin Miller, at her trial, expressed my sentiments to a dot when he said she was the only Christian there."

BOARD OF HEALTH TO MOVE,

Discussion of Routine Matters at Meeting Held Yesterday.

Licenses Recommended to Chinese and Japanese Practitioners—Improvements at Experimental Station.

President Smith occupied the chair at the special meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon, there being present with him Drs. Day and Emerson, Health Agent Reynolds, and Members Waterhouse Ena, and Lansing.

Most of the session was devoted to consideration of routine matters. Meat Inspector Monsarrat's report was read and approved; also those from Wailuku and Koloa hospitals.

C. B. Wells, manager of Wailuku plantation, Maui, wrote asking to be allowed to place a Japanese patient in the hospital, and that the plantation physician treat him, instead of Dr. Armitage, the regular hospital doctor. The secretary was instructed to notify Mr. Wells that all patients going into the hospital must submit to treatment of the hospital physician.

An application to practice medicine was read from Dr. W. D. Jones. He has been residing in Stockton, Cal., for a number of years as a practicing Chinese physician. It is his intention to travel extensively in the Hawaiian Islands, Mexico and Central America. There was some objection to granting the request, but after considerable discussion, and upon motion of Dr. Day it was decided to recommend the granting of the license. Discussion over the matter brought out a suggestion from Dr. Day that certain changes were desirable in the law granting licenses, and these should be laid before the coming legislature with a view of placing all practicing physicians on a regular basis.

Two diplomas and numerous documents certifying to the ability of Unpaku Ogawa as a medical practitioner was laid before the meeting. Consul Shimuzi endorsed the application. It was granted.

Letters received from Deputy-Sheriff Hardy and Dr. Williams, stated that two cases of scarlatina had broken out in the family of J. P. Sisson. The cases were mild, and did not necessitate establishing quarantine. President Smith wrote, if any more cases appeared, to institute a rigid quarantine.

The feasibility of placing George Treadway in full charge of the experimental station at Kalihi was discussed. Further action was deferred until next meeting.

It was concluded to lay larger pipe running into the station, in order to give ample supply of water.
Dr. Wayson's salary as physician at the experimental station dates from April 1st.

Bruce Cartwright wrote asking that the body servant of the late Dr. Trousseau, now confined in the station as a leper, be held a reasonable time, as he might be required to testify before the court in some matters regarding the estate. Granted.

Health Agent Reynolds was given authority to purchase from C. R. McVeigh 500 feet of large-size cast-iron pipe for the quarantine station. He was also instructed to have the necessary work done.

Matters in connection with poi and washhouses were deferred.
The Board will visit the Molokai settlement during the early part of next month.
Eleven lepers now at receiving station will be sent up next week.

The room in the Judiciary building now occupied by the Labor Commission will be the new quarters of the Board as soon as necessary changes can be effected.

Arbor Day.

Principal Harry T. Mills, of Napoopoo, writes: "I think that the matter of Arbor Day is one in which every teacher is, or should be, interested. Most school grounds are real eyecores instead of beauty spots." The advocates of Arbor Day have nothing but indifference to fight. Nobody can find any ground for opposition.—The Progressive Educator.

BOWLER IS AN HAWAIIAN,

Secretary Gresham Refuses to Interfere in His Behalf.

TOOK OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

Is Naturalized Citizen of This Country. England Will Probably Follow Suit. Nothing Said Concerning Other Prisoners—Letter to be Made Public.

Minister Hatch received a communication from Secretary Gresham, through United States Minister Willis, which will put a quietus upon naturalized Hawaiians applying for the protection of the United States.

The communication deals entirely with the case of J. F. Bowler, who called upon the United States to interfere in his behalf. Mr. Gresham states that the United States government cannot interfere, and in giving reasons calls attention to the fact that Mr. Bowler has taken the oath of allegiance required for becoming a naturalized citizen of Hawaii. No reference is made to the other prisoners coming under possible American jurisdiction.

Secretary Gresham's letter will be made public at a meeting of the Councils, to be held early next week. This action of the State Department evidences no disposition to interfere in behalf of the prisoners, a possibility that has been generally rumored of late. It is not at all probable that England will take action, or that a menacing attitude will be assumed.

KAHUNA COAXING FIRE.

Native Medicine Man of Kau at Work on the Volcano.

KAU (Hawaii), April 24.—Kau has had several refreshing showers during the week, which will benefit cane.

Deputy-Sheriff Yates has been confined to his home with the grippe for a week. He now is rusticating in Kona.

Judge Waipulani is beginning to be around after his long illness.

The volcano still sleeps. An old kahuna visited Madame Pele some time ago, and burned some old rags around the rim of the extinct lake, for the purpose of coaxing the fire back, but so far he has failed. There seems to be a great deal of heat near the surface of the floor of the crater, and if one puts a stick into one of the cracks it will burn.

J. R. Wilson has a fine bus for the Kau side, which will be very convenient for tourists.

Dr. George Huddy has been making a professional tour through the district, and has plenty of work.

The public is pleased to learn that the popular purser Guy Kelley is to be kept on this route. He has proved himself to be very obliging and accommodating.

The Hawaiian Agricultural Company is irrigating some of their cane, and if they continue finding water as they have been doing it will not be long before a large part of their cane lands will be irrigated.

The grippe seems to prevail here at present. A great many are troubled with sore throats and colds. It is not as severe as in former years.

New Lawyer in Town.

Lawrence Kip has been granted a license to practice in the law courts of the Republic. Mr. Kip is recently from California, where he became known as one of the successful young lawyers of the State. He studied law in the office of Delmas & Shortridge, San Francisco, and practiced before the Supreme and Federal courts of California. He will shortly open an office in Honolulu.

The HAWAIIAN GAZETTE COMPANY manufacture rubber stamps.
