Impure Blood

When the blood is pure and the bowels are regular, there need be but little fear of sickness. Keep two grand medicines in the house; and use them when you first begin to feel poorly. Recovery will be prompt, and serious sickness prevented.

Mr. Fred Pierce, who resides at South Terrace, Adelaide, So. Australia, sends this letter with his photograph. 'For some years I have been a boundary rider on some of the far northern sheep and cattle stations. I had severe attacks of indigestion, and my blood would often get very impure. My skin would be covered with blotches, and my general health greatly affected. Whenever these attacks would come I would procure Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills. I always found that the Sarsaparilla would quickly purify my blood and strengthen my digestion; while the pills would correct my constipation and biliousness.'

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitation Sarsaparillas. Be sure you get 'Ayer's.' Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Freshly Smoked Ham

Lovers of ham will find something delicious in those we have cured. They are the best sugar cured hams, and smoked by us every second day, which gives them a much finer flavor than when the meat is smoked in the states and shipped here. They are full weight and not dried out like Eastern hams often are. When you order ask for our 'Aloha' freshly smoked ham—we recommend it.

STEWART ON POLITICS

FIGURES OUT HOW HARD IT WILL BE FOR DEMOCRATS TO WIN IN NEW YORK.

EDITOR STAR: I read with great interest the article in your Saturday's issue, analyzing the electoral vote, and showing that the chances are greatly in favor of the election of President Roosevelt.

The reasoning and conclusion are sustained by facts as well as figures. In order to win, the Democrats must carry New York. The odds are against them doing it. The Democratic party is not united in the state of New York, and they are not likely to get together there. Tammany does not always play fair. The fight between Hill and McCarren against Tammany for a Parker delegation exceeded in bitterness and political controversy anything that has occurred within a quarter of a century; and it has left a vicious feeling in the Tammany ranks. Senator McCarren, whom the Parker-Hill convention of last June made chairman of the State Executive committee, is not on speaking terms with Murphy, the leader of Tammany. There can be no 'cordial relations' between them. A late New York World (supporting Parker) says: 'Senator McCarren's present attitude is that he is entirely willing to keep out of the campaign if his absence or quiescence would promote harmony and victory. If Charles F. Murphy has any grievance at Senator McCarren being active in the campaign Senator McCarren is willing to oblige and will bottle his political activities until next year, when there is to be a local election in New York City in which Senator McCarren proposes to have something to say.'

It has been announced from Tammany, that the weather would be too hot for a ratification meeting till after the nomination of the State ticket in September and Tammany men are muttering that their chief, Mr. Murphy is not being treated with proper courtesy by Parker in that he has not been invited to call. Tammany is sulking. If given the governorship, it will go in and work. If not, it may shy at the Hill-Belmont-McCarren ticket just as it did in 1888, when it carried the state for Hill for governor, but left Cleveland on 'the outside of the breastworks,' giving New York to Harrison.

Again, in the paragraph from the 'World' 'The outcome is likely to be a ratification meeting on the return of Mr. Murphy in a few days, or a pronouncement from Mr. Murphy making it clear that Tammany is heartily for the ticket. But no overtures or requests have been made by Judge Parker for such action on Mr. Murphy's part. If Mr. Murphy prefers to sulk, Judge Parker will not have Mr. Sheehan offer him a stick of candy to be good. Senator McCarren would be pleased to have another course followed, but neither will Judge Parker do this.'

Other facts could be dug up, but they would make this article too lengthy. Suffice it to say, New York State looks like Roosevelt's, and the Democrats do not have a ghost of a show without New York.

The republicans will eventually have one electoral ticket in Wisconsin. Everywhere else, the party is united and confident, while the democrats are divided and uncertain whether to talk tariff or to mention gold; whether to curb Bryan, or to turn him loose.

The New York World further says, Senator Charles A. Culberson, of Texas, came to town yesterday and gave out this interview:

'In my opinion the criticisms which the Democrats press of the East are heaping upon Mr. Bryan and his friends for their part in the St. Louis convention are not conducive to that perfect and complete harmony which should prevail in the party if we are to make sure of success. Perhaps if they more thoroughly understood the situation which prevailed at St. Louis previous to the nomination of Judge Parker they might be more considerate of those whom they are now denouncing as traitors to the party.'

'I do not hesitate to say that in my judgment it was at no time possible to have adopted a gold standard platform at St. Louis. I will go further and say that if such a platform had been adopted the delegates from several Southern and Western States who were instructed for Judge Parker would by such action on the part of the convention have considered themselves absolved from their instructions.'

There has been no single instance of any prominent Republican bolting Roosevelt. But see A. W. Maxwell, chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Iowa, resigning his position and repudiating Parker on the ground that he is the candidate of Wall Street and the trusts.

Mr. Editor, Abraham Lincoln's saying will pan out this election, namely: 'You can fool all of the people some of the time, and you can fool some of the people all of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time.' 'The plain people,' as Lincoln called us, will pass by even such a good man as Parker because they see a better one in Roosevelt.

HOW DAVIS KEEPS YOUNG

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT STILL YOUTHFUL AT 52.

NEW YORK, July 25.—While in this city en route to Esopus, Hon. Henry G. Davis told why at the age of 52 he has the strength and apparent health of a man of 50. Summed up his reasons are:

'I never allow anything to worry me. My conscience is always reasonably clear.

'Plenty of hard work has never hurt me.

'I sleep eight hours a day.

'I eat three square meals in 24 hours.

'I drink a little wine at times, but that is all.

'I do not use tobacco in any form.

'I take a good, long walk every day.'

Six feet tall, form erect, eyes clear, cheeks ruddy, the vice-presidential candidate does not look a day over 55 and anyone guessing as to his age would take five years off that estimate after a 15-minute conversation with him.

A reporter asked him to tell of his life. 'There isn't very much to say,' he replied. 'I am a railroad man. I started on a farm, and a very poor one at that. I became a freight brakeman when I was 18. I have been in the railroad business ever since. I guess that is the whole story.'

'But,' insisted the reporter, 'you are building a railroad across West Virginia, 200 miles long and with your own capital, you have 100,000 acres of coal lands in your state—and you were not born with a silver spoon, were you?'

'No,' said the West Virginian. 'No, my folks were very poor. I have been fortunate. My father was a farmer and he died early, leaving five children to be cared for by my poor mother. She kept us together by teaching school. I got out to work as early as I could, and I felt mighty big, I can tell you, when I got my first job as brakeman.'

'Why are you a Democrat?' was the next question.

'I was elected to the legislature in 1886, and we separated into the radical and conservative parties. I was a conservative and naturally drifted into Democracy. I am not an extremist. I supported Mr. Bryan twice and I guess I was the only railroad president in the country to do this. I did not believe in everything Mr. Bryan did, but there was a good deal that I did believe in.'

'How do you keep so young?'

'That is easy. I live in the country where the air is pure. I eat three meals a day and have a good appetite. I work and play in moderation. Perhaps the fact that I do not use tobacco has something to do with it. I am not a prohibitionist, but I never felt the need of liquors. I get out of bed at 7 a. m. and I retire at 11. After breakfast I work until 1 o'clock. Following lunch I take my exercise—usually a run with my horse. I take a long walk every day. My evenings are with my friends.'

The estimated wealth of the candidate is $8,000,000 or $10,000,000. However, those about him declare his life is simple and wholesome, and his views as unspiced as those of the poorest philosopher.

GERONIMO SHOWS HE HAS A HEART

TOUCHING SCENE WHEN HE GREETED HIS DAUGHTER LENA AT WORLD'S FAIR.

The meeting between Geronimo and his daughter, Lena, was a touching scene, enacted in the Indian School in the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis not long since. Quite early the old chieftain was seen arranging his toilet with unusual care. Until the arrival of his daughter at the building, the old warrior appeared restless and uneasy. Owing to a delay to the train, the party did not reach the Indian School until nearly noon.

Geronimo was pacing the hallway when his daughter entered and was led up to him. Not having seen her since she was a babe in arms, he failed to recognize her. When asked by Mr. Pierce, 'Geronimo, do you know who this is?' the old man leaned forward, gazed closely at the maid, then took both her hands in his. As he did this his own eyes filled with tears, and he was seen swallowing the lump that rose in his throat. With the back of his hand he brushed away tears that would not stay back, thus showing that in spite of the past and his many cruelties, there was at least one tender spot in the old man's nature.

The Forest City series of World's Fair Art Portfolios, which we are now distributing among our readers, contains a most striking picture of Geronimo, (Portfolio No. 12), who is perhaps, the most noted Indian side of the Happy Hunting Grounds. All of the most famous chiefs and members of the many different tribes now encamped on the Exposition grounds, are shown in this superb series; as well as the best features of the Exposition in every department—it forms a complete record and reflex of this greatest of all World's Fairs.

Readers can't afford to miss a single number and that this fact is appreciated is evidenced by the regularity with which coupons and dimes are coming in for each part.

There is a substantial saving, too, the regular price of each portfolio is 25 cents, but our readers get them for the nominal sum of ten cents, to cover cost of handling and mailing; which certainly makes it very easy to obtain the work.
