Poor Milton

wrote
"When I consider how my sight is spent,
Ere half my days—"
There were no skilled Opticians in his day, or that poem might never have been written.
If you're a Milton, we have nothing to say; but, if you are just an ordinary person who has good use for his eyes, and couldn't write a poem if he tried, you would better have them attended to at once.

SECURE YOUR SEATS BEFORE WEDNESDAY

There will be a lot of fun in the entertainment to be given at the Opera House on Wednesday night when the best moving pictures ever seen here will be shown for the first time. They are instructive and humorous and the audience cannot suppress a laugh. Wherever these pictures have been shown they roused the greatest enthusiasm and in Miss Clifton they have a genuine singing star whose voice is sweet and well adapted to this particular line of work. The pictures illustrating the songs as well as those which move are colored in the most realistic manner. The tickets are priced at from fifteen cents for the gallery to seventy-five for a seat in one of the private boxes and they are for sale at Wall, Nichols Co.

A GOOD YEAR.

hedging at present in preparation for the payment of taxes. As the result there is little money on hand for loans and considerable money is being imported by the banks.
"This condition should not last long, however, and there should be an abundance of available funds for loaning purposes by July. There is enough money here now for general circulation and were it not for the taxes which have to be paid this month there would be no need of importations.
"Two of the factors which have tended to make money very much easier here, have been in connection with Kihai and Wai'alea plantations. Through the sale of the Kihai stock some $275,000 which has been tied up for a good many years has been available and many who have borrowed on this stock have been able to meet their loans and have released a great deal of money. The payment of a dividend by Wai'alea, which has never before paid, will be a great factor, as the money here has been tied up so long without any returns that its coming at this time will be specially felt.
"The conditions all over the United States are much better than they were and the country banks in particular report good gains. The only complaints to be heard come from the banks in the big cities. Even here it is noticeable that the cash reserves are being kept up much better than usual. Almost all the larger banks have increased their cash from about 25 per cent to about 30 per cent. The National City Bank of New York, which normally has carried about 25 per cent now is carrying 40 per cent, which you can see is quite an increase and is conservative to an extreme.
"The spending of Federal funds in this Territory is being felt and will continue to be felt in even greater degree and will help conditions here. Where in other parts of the United States the fact that this is a presidential year is being noticeable and is tightening up money, it will have no effect here and this should be the most prosperous community in the United States in the coming fall."

SPEECH BY PRESIDENT.

Sweden and the Hollander, had found permanent havens on the North Atlantic seacoast. For centuries our several civilizations grew each in its own way, but each sundered from the others. Now we are growing together.
"More and more in the future we shall each give to and get from the others, not merely things of material value, but things that are of worth for the intellectual and spiritual welfare of all of us. In the century that has passed the development of North America has, on the whole, proceeded faster than the development of South America; but in the century that has now opened I believe that no other part of the world will see such extraordinary development in wealth, in population, in all that makes for progress, as will be seen from the northern boundary of Mexico through all Central and South America; and I can assure you that the people of this nation took with the most profound satisfaction upon the great growth that has already taken place in the countries which you represent—a growth alike in political stability and in the material well-being which can only come when there is political stability.

"Our battle fleet has just finished its trip around South America, and I wish to thank the rulers and the peoples of South America and of Mexico for the generous and courteous hospitality which has been shown this fleet on every possible occasion throughout the trip.
"In conclusion, let me speak of another trip, made a couple of years ago by the Secretary of State, Elihu Root, the first time in our history the American Secretary of State, during his term of office, left the country to visit certain other nations. Mr. Root made the complete tour of South America, traversed Central America, and afterwards visited Mexico. He was everywhere received with the heartiest greeting, a greeting which deeply touched our people, and I wish to say once more how appreciative we are of the reception tendered him.
"His voyage was unique in character and in value. It was undertaken only because we citizens of this Republic recognize that our interests are more closely intertwined with the interests of the other peoples of this continent than with those of any other nations. I believe that history will say that though we have had other great Secretaries of State, we have had none greater than Elihu Root; and that though in his high office he has done much for the good of his nation and of a thousand and more miles to the southward, has suggested to the Wireless Telegraph Company of Honolulu that it establish on Fanning Island a powerful long distance wireless station, and another at Pago Pago, Samoa, but the local company is at present too much occupied perfecting a long distance telegraph to the mainland States and, besides, there does not seem to be any money back of Rougier's scheme, as convenient as it would be to spark to Australia by way of Fanning and Samoa.
"The spars and rigging for the 250-foot wireless mast at Kahuku are being sent out on the railroad today, the spars occupying three flat cars and being rigged on a pivot for rounding curves.
"TRENOR STARTS OUT.
J. D. Trenor, the immigration official from Washington, began his tour of all the sugar plantations today. T. H. Petrie of Castle & Cooke went to Kahuku with Mr. Trenor.
"Captain Otwell when asked this afternoon, if there had been a strike at Pearl Harbor on account of work being required of the men on Sundays replied: "The whole thing comes from a lot of disgruntled men who came up here and misrepresented things. Some men have been working on Sundays, because they were asked if they would work, and a number volunteered. The men who have made all the talk about the matter, have never worked on Sundays, and they are not obliged to, although they can if they wish."

Japanese were on the verge of invading Puget Sound.
To secure higher aerials for their wireless experiments Sutter and Watmer have been using two five-foot kites. At present they are constructing one that is eight feet in length and much larger than any they have yet used. Colored lanterns were attached to the kites for the purpose of keeping them in view. These lights are what caused such a sensation in various parts of the city where the "airship" was sighted.
Part of the time wires were used and electric lights were suspended from the aeroplanes, but usually lanterns were used, as the weight of wire was too heavy for the kites to support.
The mystery of the airship moving is explained when it is known that the kites were often flown from the Fearless while the tug was moving up Sound. In the Narrows has been a popular place for the experimenters to send up the "airship." Once the kite was seen above the Pacific Coast dock, directly above the Fearless. The steamer Flyer was coming in and the passengers gazed in amazement at the ship, never suspecting that it was attached to the tug lying peacefully in her berth. The aeroplanes frequently attained a height of over 2,000 feet.
The Fearless is equipped with the Massie wireless system and Operator Sutter is able to send and receive messages over a long distance.

THE LOG-BOOK

TACOMA, April 30.—Successful experiments in wireless telephony are being carried on, by Walter Sutter, chief engineer of the tug Fearless, and James Watmer, who is also greatly interested in wireless. These young men have been studying both wireless telegraphy and telephony for some time, and they are more than pleased at results.
One day last week they succeeded in telephoning to each other, one being on the Fearless and the other ashore, about a quarter of a mile apart. They used twenty-five volts for the experiment. They are not yet satisfied with results but intend to continue experimenting until they can take at a much greater distance.
In carrying on their work Sutter and Watmer have been using aeroplanes kites, and this explains the mystery of the air-ship which has excited so many good Tacoma men during the past six weeks or two months. The young scientists disclaim any intention of creating a sensation or causing anxiety among those who feared that the

LICENSES ON KAUAI

W. C. PEACOCK DEFIES THE AUTHORITIES BY PROOF OF VIOLATION BY HIS COMPANY.

LIHUE, Kauai, May 9.—The Kauai Liquor Commissioners held a meeting last Monday, called at the instance of the inspector who had several matters to bring before the Board. The Secretary informed the Board that in conformity with a resolution passed at the March meeting he had written to the secretaries of the boards on the other islands in regard to the issuance of the fourth class license. This is the one of $5 for the privilege of manufacturing wine and disposing of the output. The Oahu secretary wrote that there had been no application for such a license in that county but that it had been decided to follow the proceedings prescribed for the issuance of the other licenses in case one should be presented. On Maui the board had proceeded as the law prescribed for the other licenses but in addition had stipulated that the product was not to be sold in quantities smaller than one gallon. This arrangement seemed to appeal to the Kauai board and will be followed in case it should have to act upon such an application.
Inspector Smith informed the Board that his health had been very poor lately and that he proposed to seek to recuperate by taking a trip to the mainland and be absent about two months. He tendered his resignation in case the Board should decide to put in a man permanently instead of a substitute during his absence.
The inspector also informed the Board that he had taken samples of the wine, carried for the general trade by the several licensees, and had sent them to the government laboratory to be examined. The analyses received from the chemist prove all the samples to represent fair wine without adulterations. He also informed the Board that he had found that some of the dealers, who had agreed not to solicit in the camps, had found a way to at least partially try to cope with the favored Honolulu dealers in that they had left order lists printed in Japanese at the different camps. The Board did not see that this constituted any breach of the agreement as there was no solicitation on the circulars but simply a printed order list.
Inspector Smith informed the Board that he had been notified that the Kauai Wine and Liquor Co. had violated its license in that it had sold liquor on Sunday. Mr. Fairchild wanted to know whether there was any other evidence than simple hearsay to support the statement. Deputy Sheriff Crowell responded and stated that the business in question on February 23 had sold to a Japanese six bottles whisky, two demijohns sake and one dozen beer. The Board told Mr. Crowell that the complaint was his and asked whether he had any proof. At this point W. C. Peacock informed the Board that he was interested in the Kauai Wine and Liquor Co. and that he held the proxies of all the stockholders and in that capacity challenged Mr. Crowell to put himself under oath and prove any kind of mismanagement in that concern. The Board here took a hand in the discussion and soon came to the conclusion that the matter did not rest with the commissioners but with the sheriff and the county attorney. According to information brought forth in the discussion both these parties had been informed of the occurrence but had taken no action in the matter probably on account of weak evidence. The Commissioners considered the time for action of their part to arrive first when actual breach of the conditions of the license had been proved in court, and therefore declined to consider the matter further.
A discussion arose whether it would be necessary or not to secure the consent of the property holders for the purpose of a renewal. As the law seemed to be rather hazy on the subject it was decided to ask the Attorney General for a ruling on the question and the secretary was instructed to write accordingly.
Four applications were handed in asking for a renewal of so many licenses now in existence, viz: for Kapaia Wine Co., Wai'alea Wine Co., C. W. Spitz and Kauai Wine and Liquor Co. all of which were ordered advertised.—Garden Island.

M'KINLEY SCHOOL

DECISION OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION STANDS, SAY THE M'KINLEY COMMITTEE.
The new High School building will be named after our late President William McKinley, notwithstanding objections which were made by Superintendent of Public Instruction Babbitt at the recent meeting of the Board of Education. In speaking of the matter this morning, in response to a question from a Star reporter Judge Dole said:
"It was decided long ago, while Mr. Babbitt was away that the school should be named after President McKinley and there has been no change made. The gift to the school, from the McKinley Memorial committee, with the conditional feature that the building should be named after its wishes was accepted by the Board of Education, which is the supreme authority, as I understand the matter, before Mr. Babbitt returned from his trip to the Coast. He merely took the opportunity of voicing his personal opinion, which had no weight as the Board of Education had already accepted the gift."
Both Judge Dole and C. M. Cooke, of the McKinley Memorial Committee left an inference in speaking of the subject that Babbitt, had stepped in where angels fear to tread. In fact such remarks were openly made and with a feeling that while glad to get the money for the work which was under his charge, Babbitt might better have taken the matter otherwise than looking a gift horse in the mouth.

BARGE FOR PEARL HARBOR

BIDS OPENED THIS MORNING BY CAPTAIN OTWELL FOR SOME FEDERAL WORK.
Bids for the construction of a barge for towing purposes from Honolulu to Pearl Harbor, and the carting of cement to the Wai'alea battery, were opened this noon at the United States Engineer's office. Four bids were made on both tenders.
The bids for the barge were: Lucas Brothers, $2,222; John Ouderkirk, $2,727; Sorenson & Lyle, $3,300; John A. Hughes, $2,048.
Captain Otwell stated after the bids had all been opened: "As Hughes' bid is the lowest, it will probably receive consideration, although I am unable to say whether or not he will be awarded the contract."
The bids for the carting of cement were: Honolulu Construction and Draying Co., 28 1/2 per bbl. Percy M. Pond, 18 15-16 per bbl. A. A. Wilson, 24 1/2 per bbl. Hustace-Peck & Co., 17 1/2 per bbl.
The contract was awarded to Hustace-Peck & Co., and they will start in at once on the work.

OLD SENSATION WARMED OVER

The "startling discovery made by prosecution in Waimea mail case," spread in black type by a contemporary today—referring to the fact that the salt in the bag was too small for the abstracting of the money package stolen—was reported in minute detail by more than one local paper months ago. Not only that, but the fact that another mail pouch on the Kawai'ale-Waimea route had been similarly mutilated, with a hurried message from the Waimea end that the missing money package had been found on a shelf in the postoffice.
