CAPT. APPLETON AGAIN.

Emphasizes the Value to United States of Mid-Ocean Harbors.

Captain Nathan Appleton has again expressed his views on the subject of securing, for the United States, harbors in the Atlantic and the Pacific, in anticipation of the great commerce which the proposed canal through the isthmus will bring. He writes to the Boston Herald on the subject as follows: "It is to be supposed that the stirring events of the last few weeks will have made plain to our Government and people the importance of having some harbors outside of our own coast line, which will belong absolutely to us, and where our ships will not only be safe, but have facilities for coaling and repairing, without asking the consent or permission of any one.

"Of these in the Atlantic ocean, the best one we could probably secure is St. Thomas, or, if not this, then Samana Bay, in the Dominican Republic. In the great Pacific ocean, north of the equator, there is only one, Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu. The writer of this has been in all these three places, and knows of what he is speaking. Certainly, no time should be lost in securing one harbor in the Atlantic and one in the Pacific as stepping stones on the line of our coast, and as places which will be of immense value to us in connection with the isthmian canal.

"Then next comes the canal itself, and we can take no wiser step and make no greater move than in forming some company which will put itself in touch with the present Panama Canal Company, and arrange to have the work completed and the canal open for commerce in a few years.

"Then there is the question of dry docks, large enough for the greatest vessels of today. We need several of them on our Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coast, and also at Pearl Harbor, and whichever other one we may own near the Atlantic end of the canal.

"NATHAN APPLETON.
Boston, March 11, 1898."

THE WAR IS OVER.

For the Time Being the Big Hat Has Been Overthrown.

According to Harper's Weekly, the war against the big theater hat has ended, at least, for the time, in the overthrow of the hat. In some Western cities, notably in San Francisco, the city council has passed an ordinance empowering the managers of theaters to expel ladies whose headgear impedes the view of spectators. Fortified by this law, ushers politely invite wearers of offending hats to remove them or call at the box office to get their money back. To stern necessity the ladies have succumbed, and orchestra and dress circle, instead of presenting the appearance of a parterre of flowers, glowing with the gay colors of myriads of showy birds, are now mere backs of heads, frowzy with disheveled hair, and glooming the eye with dull neutral tints. For the preparation of the female hair for exhibition at the opera involves a hair dresser and a carriage, and forbids the use of a hat or toque until the show is over, whereas no lady cares to walk bareheaded through the streets on the way to the play.

Throughout history the female head dress has been a worry and a vexation. Five hundred years ago, when Europe was taking breath after the crusades, ladies wore a head dress which was built up in a couple of pointed spires an ell long, and had long, loose pieces of crepe fastened down the back. Such head gear enraged a pious monk named Thomas Conecte, and he preached against it with such fervor that hundreds of women threw down their head dresses before the pulpit and the street boys took delight in pelting with stones those who clung to their high hats. But when Fraer Conecte died the high hats came to life again, and, in the quaint language of Monsieur Paradin, the women who had crawled into their holes like snails now put forth their horns once more.

Curiosity Was Satisfied.

Officer Bordfeldt, one of the most trusted and vigilant men of the Mounted Patrol, noticed from his route last evening the delivery by wagon at the Oahu railway depot of about 100 boxes. Mr. Bordfeldt quietly set about to discover the contents of the containers. Holding his horse with one hand, with the other he shook up a box in lively style. Something gave way, for a lot of bees came from the box and bestowed stings on both the officer and his horse. Bordfeldt's face was a sight and the horse was nervous for hours.

Taking a Rest.

D. P. Peterson, who has had charge of the railway freight business at the depot here ever since the first train was run, is taking a vacation. Mr. Peterson's eyesight has become so bad that he has been forced to cease work altogether and give all his time to efforts at cure for the eyes. Mr. Lydecker has been taken from the offices upstairs and placed in the freight department.

PROMOTION.

Chas. F. Chillingworth is Made Second Deputy.

One of the most popular promotions made by Marshal Brown in a long time was announced yesterday forenoon in the appointment of Charles Frederick Chillingworth, son of S. F. Chillingworth of Maui, to be second Deputy Marshal. Chillingworth is a young man, but he has proven himself worthy of the office to which he has been assigned, by four years of conscientious work in the police department on the islands. He started as clerk in the sheriff's office in Maui and then acted in the capacity of Hawaiian and English interpreter for two terms of the Circuit Court of the Second Circuit. He came to Honolulu in October of 1896, and went into the Deputy Marshal's office as one of the clerks. In February of 1897, he was made Deputy Marshal's clerk.

The second Deputy Marshal is well liked by all his brother officers and by those with whom he comes in contact daily.

Marshal Brown has had the appointment of Chillingworth in mind for some time, but not until yesterday forenoon was it given out as official.

After Deer.

A party composed of Messrs. W. H. Babbitt of Punahou, Charles Judd, G. Fuller and W. Walker, left for Molo-kai on the Mokoli yesterday afternoon. They were all dressed in hunting clothes and carried their trusty rifles slung across their shoulders. It is their intention to go to Kaunakakai and from there into the mountains after deer. They will return on the Mokoli Saturday morning.

Kapea, who was hanged yesterday forenoon, had a bad dream the night before. His vision was that an akua showed him the scaffold in the jail yard and the grave at Makiki cemetery.

DOES YOUR

No better way to stop the leak, than by getting a purse with some lasting quality in the leather.

We believe a poor purse is dear at any price; and for that reason will not allow them to creep into our stock.

Our leathers are all choice Seal, Morocco, Calf, Hog-Skin, Monkey, Lizard, Rattle Snake, Kangaroo, and other choice skins.

The mountings and shape leave nothing to be desired, and so different from anything else in the city, that you are assured of a choice and exclusive pattern beside the lasting quality of the leather itself.

We also have a good selection of silver and silver gilt chain purses, to be carried with a chain round the neck. Very stylish for stylish people.

A Model Plant is not complete without Electric Power, thus dispensing with small engines.

Why not generate your power from one CENTRAL Station? One generator can furnish power to your Pump, Centrifugals, Elevators, Pumps, Railways and Hoists; also, furnish light and power for a radius of from 15 to 30 miles.

Electric Power being used, saves the labor of hauling coal in your field, also water, and does away with high-priced engineers, and only have one engine to look after in your mill.

Where water power is available it costs nothing to generate Electric Power.

THE HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COMPANY is now ready to furnish Electric Plants and Generators of all descriptions at short notice, and also has on hand a large stock of Wire, Chandlers and Electrical Goods.

All orders will be given prompt attention, and estimates furnished for Lighting and Power Plants; also, attention is given to House and Marine Wiring.
